FALL, FOUND GUILTY, ASKS NEW HEARING

Jury Calls $100,000 Deal Between Doheny and Him Bribery.

DEFENDANT SLUMPS IN CHAIR AT VERDICT

Motion for Another Trial Charges 30 Errors in Proceedings.

PRESENT CONVICTION MEANS JAIL, FINE

Two defiant white-haired men, Albert B. Fall and Edward L. Doheny, whose youthful friendship of prospecting days in the West persisted, after one had become a Cabinet officer and the other a millionaire oil operator, heard a $100,000 transaction between them in 1921 branded bribery yesterday by a Federal jury.

Fall was adjudged guilty of accepting that sum as Secretary of the Interior in return for granting the Elk Hills oil lease to a Doheny company. It was the first conviction for felony by a Cabinet officer in history, and likewise the first in any of the criminal cases growing out of the oil scandals of the Harding administration.

Owen Roberts, special Government counsel, announced that efforts would be made to try Doheny for giving a bribe next January.

Solemn Hush Broken.

A portentous stillness settled over the jammed courtroom as the jury filed in. It was soon broken as each of the eight men and four women jurors rose to say Fall had been adjudged a dishonest man, but to recommend that he be extended mercy by the court. Throughout the trial and previously he has been ill.

The 68-year-old invalid from New Mexico, whom the Supreme Court denounced as a "faithless public officer," because of the oil transactions, slumped weakly in his tall chair with head bowed. If the verdict stands, he is liable to a fine up to $300,000 and to imprisonment up to three years. He was comforted immediately by the woman he married in 1883. Vigorously brushing those between them aside, Mrs. Fall threw her arms around him and wept while he embraced her silently.

Tears also rolled down the cheeks of Doheny, now 73. The California oil man clapped his hands to his ears while Justice William Hitz reviewed to the jury the facts of Fall's current illness, which had been kept from them while locked up during the trial. After the judge had left the bench, Doheny shook a clenched fist in that direction and cried:

"It's that damn court."

Jury Leaves in Group.

The jury, which first had voted seven to three for acquittal with two women not voting and took seven ballots in all, left the turbulent room in a group.

Defense counsel, who had contended the charge of Justice Hitz to the jury was tantamount to an invitation to convict Fall, filed a motion for a new trial four hours after the verdict had been rendered. This set forth 30 grounds, including the action of Justice Hitz in picking out portions of the testimony which the defense said he had stressed in his charge to the jury, and the admission of testimony during the trial of Fall's dealings with Harry F. Sinclair at the time of the notorious Teapot Dome oil lease.

Government counsel were notified the motion would be set down for argument before Justice Hitz next Friday or as soon thereafter as feasible.

$5,000 Bond Stands.

Fall's bond of $5,000 on the bribery charge was allowed to stand. After hearing each jury member reply "guilty with a recommendation for mercy" to inquiries by the court, he left the room in a wheel chair and was helped to his hotel room in faltering steps by Mrs. Fall. He refused to make any statement at that time.

While defense counsel were busy last night, one of them—Mark Thompson, long a friend of Fall—was on a sickbed. He collapsed in the courtroom while standing to don an overcoat to leave. His wife rushed to his side, and for ten minutes onlookers formed around to stare at the prostrate body on the floor. He was attended by Fall's doctor, Dr. H. T. Safford, of El Paso, Tex. Friends said his heart was weak.

Standing above Thompson, Frank J. Hogan, chief defense counsel, shouted that the jury's finding was "a rape on the Constitution."

Mrs. C. C. Chase and Mrs. Jouett Elliott, daughters of Fall, broke into

WARNS TRUSTS

WILLIAM D. MITCHELL.

ANTITRUST PLANS AIRED BY MITCHELL

Bar Association Is Informed Illegal Mergers Will Be Dealt With Vigorously.

DRY PROGRAM OUTLINED

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Determination to deal "vigorously with every violation of the antitrust laws" was expressed tonight by Attorney General W. D. Mitchell in his first public utterance upon the Justice Department's attitude toward these laws since taking office.

Speaking before the American Bar Association, Mitchell said: "Our material prosperity has been so overwhelming, our business institutions have been increasing in size and number with such leaps and bounds, that I fear there has been a disposition here and there to go too far and transgress the law."

He added that "the machinery of some trade associations seems to have been made use of for transactions that come dangerously near to price-fixing."

Turning to what he described as the department's other two major problems—prison conditions improvement and enforcement of the prohibition laws—the Attorney General said an extensive program to improve prisons had been formulated and awaited congressional approval, and efforts are being made to strengthen the dry laws while awaiting the report of President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission.

Activities in this connection, he pointed out, were based on improvement of the personnel and efficiency of the United States attorneys to obtain prosecutors "who may be depended upon to administer their offices free from extraneous influence, political or otherwise, speeding up the operations of Federal courts trying liquor cases, and transfer of the prohibition unit from the Treasury Department to the Department of Justcie, which must be approved by Congress.

He also indicated that selection of a successor to Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, who resigned as Assistant Attorney General in charge of prohibition and tax matters, had been made and that an announcement would be forthcoming "in the near future."

Despite much pressure, the Attorney General said he had avoided until now discussion of the policies to be followed by the department in regard to the antiturst laws, pending a study. "The department's program of law enforcement does not make

ENGINEER DIES, MANY INJURED IN RAIL CRASH

Freight Car Jumps Track, Sideswiping Speeding Passenger Train.

25 CARS DERAILED IN RESULTING WRECK

FIRST AID IS GIVEN BY ELKTON DOCTORS

Traffic Over Pennsylvania Lines Delayed for Two Hours by Debris.

Engineer George Rollins, 40, of Twelfth and G streets southeast, was killed, scores of passengers, including three from this city, were severely shaken up, and 25 coaches and freight cars were derailed late yesterday when a Washington-New York express of the Pennsylvania Railroad was sideswiped by a buckled freight car on the southbound tracks at Iron Hill, 3 miles north of Elkton, Md.

Rollins died instantly when a splinter from the shattered freight car pierced his heart.

While abreast of the speeding express, the freight car jumped from the track and crashed into the locomotive of the passenger train. Engineer Rollins, who was leaning out of his window, was pinned to the back of his seat by the sharp piece of timber.

Fireman's Efforts Fail.

Acting instantly in an effort to save the train and its passengers, Rollins' fireman leaped over his body and struggled with the brakes. His efforts were futile. The locomotive and its tender jumped from the track, dragging ten Pullman coaches with them.

Passengers in the dining cars and Pullman coaches were thrown from their seats and severely shaken up. None of them was seriously hurt, however, as the Pullmans did not overturn. Doctors from Elkton gave first aid to those who needed it at the scene of the wreck.

Sideswiped by the derailed locomotive and coaches, 15 freight cars were likewise thrown from the tracks, splintering three of them to bits, and scattering debris over both tracks and along the right-of-way for considerable distance.

12 Passengers Hurt.

Twelve passengers suffered minor bruises and lacerations, but they were able to continue their journeys after first aid treatment at the scene of the wreck.

They included Mrs. J. F. Kuntz, of 904 Florida avenue; C. C. Trigg, of 1707 Columbia road; Mrs. Kurtz, of 716 B street; L. F. Aaron, of Bethlehem, Pa.; S. W. Moore, New York; Miss Frances Tarbox, New York; E. H. Duverier, Stamford, Conn.; Mrs. Alice Jackson, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Samuel Gray Boise, Brooklyn; C. F. Scudder, New Haven, Conn.; Harold Epstein, Brooklyn, and James Slammer, Newark.

All passengers were picked up by a later Washington-New York express and taken to their destination.

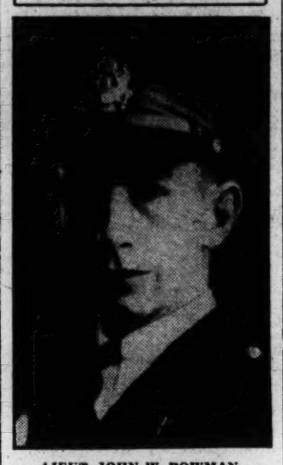
Although wrecking crews from Perryville were rushed to the scene, traffic over the Pennsylvania lines was delayed for two hours.

Coroner Howard W. Green, of Elkton, is investigating the accident.

Assistant of Treasury Named by President

Walter Hope, a New York attorney, has been selected by President Hoover as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, succeeding Henry Herrick Bond.

CRASH VICTIM



LIEUT. JOHN W. BOWMAN.

PILOT, FLYING LOW, PLUNGES TO DEATH

EN ROUTE TO BOLLING

Lieut. John W. Bowman, 28 years old, Army Air Corps pilot, was killed at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon near Grantsville, Md., 20 miles west of Cumberland, in a forced leap close to the ground from the Hawk pursuit plane he was flying alone from his station at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, to Bolling Field, here. It is believed he was flying too low for his parachute to be of any use.

Upon receipt of this information, Lieut. J. A. Willis, of Bolling Field, took off in a Douglas observation plane for the Government field at Cumberland to proceed overland to Grantsville to take charge of the body and investigate the crash, in which Bowman's plane buried itself in the ground, caught fire and was destroyed.

On the basis of information received from Grantsville, the accident was reconstructed in a manner indicating that Bowman met his death after circling the small town at a low altitude several times in an unsuccessful search for a landing spot when a fog began closing in on him and reducing visibility.

Milton Miller, a farmer residing near Grantsville, reported that he saw Bowman's plane swooping so low for a landing that it narrowly missed clipping the steeple of a church. He said the craft then rose to about 200 feet and disappeared, a search revealing the destroyed plane and the almost unrecognizable body of Bowman, his hand still on the parachute ripcord, about 30 feet away.

Trapped by an extremely low "ceiling," Bowman apparently jumped from the plane rather than risk an almost certain death in attempting to land in the heavily-wooded region.

Bowman was graduated last June from the Air Corps Engineering School at Wright Field and had been stationed there since July, 1928, as a member of the airplane branch. He was flying to Washington on an authorized flight. He is survived by his widow, who is now in Dayton, Ohio.

Driver Who Hit Pou's Car Fined

Representative Is Witness Against Man, but Asks Leniency.

LeRoy Brown, colored, was tried before Judge Ralph Given in Traffic Court yesterday on two charges arising from the collision between the truck he was operating and an automobile belonging to Representative Edward W. Pou, of North Carolina, and was sentenced to pay a total fine of $35 or serve 40 days in jail.

Representative Pou was a witness in the case, having been riding in the rear of his machine, which was operated by his chauffeur, Charles W. Daniel. After the judge had pronounced Brown guilty, the representative pleaded that the court be lenient in its sentence.

Brown was charged specifically with reckless driving and having bad brakes. He drew a $25 fine with the alternative of 30 days on the first charge and a $10 fine with the alternative of 10 days on the latter.

FIVE SENATORS BEGIN DISTRICT INQUIRY TODAY

Sackett Subcommittee to Hold First Session in Private.

POLICE, PISTOL-TOTING AND TONGS ON AGENDA

CITIZENS' COMPLAINTS FLOOD INVESTIGATORS

Scrivener, Brandegee Cases, Discourtesy and Bribery Bases of Charges.

Five United States senators will meet behind closed doors at the Capitol this morning to inaugurate an investigation that may have far-reaching effects on the District of Columbia, its government and its officers.

The five men are members of the Sackett subcommittee of the Senate District committee. To them has been assigned the investigation authorized in the resolution of Senator Cole L. Blease (Democrat) of South Carolina, which was adopted by the Senate two weeks ago yesterday.

This resolution charged that there had been reports of "inefficiency and corruption" in the police and other departments of the District government, and directed that these be investigated to the end that the officials involved either be fired or vindicated.

Allen Suspension Up.

The resolution also called for an investigation of three specific matters—gun-toting in Chinatown, an alleged delay in bringing in an indictment in the last Chinese tong murder, and the suspension of Policeman Robert J. Allen while he was investigating the McPherson murder.

At its first meeting, the Sackett subcommittee instructed its clerk, O. H. Brinkman, to call on the proper officials for reports on these matters. It also instructed him to write to Attorney General Mitchell and ask that Department of Justice agents be assigned to help the subcommittee in its investigation.

When the subcommittee meets this morning, it will have before it replies to all four of these communications.

May Act on Shelby and Kelly.

The subcommittee also will have before it a second resolution of Senator Blease, the one he introduced Thursday calling for the suspension of Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, and Inspector William S. Shelby and Lieut. Ed Kelly, unless Capt. Robert E. Doyle and Policeman Allen are restored to duty.

This particular resolution is freighted with more controversy than possibly any other matter that will come before the subcommittee this morning. Blease feels that it is unfair to keep Doyle and Allen off the payroll while the others are on it, and he plans to ask for an immediate favorable report on the resolution.

While the other members of the subcommittee are not saying anything publicly, some of them are known to be opposed to any such action at this time.

Much interest will attach today to the letter of Attorney General Mitchell. If he accedes to the request of the subcommittee and details Department of Justice agents to investigate charges of inefficiency and corruption here, that phase of the subcommittee's work will be taken care of.

Special Investigator Likely.

If Mitchell refuses the loan of the agents, the subcommittee must find

STOCK PANIC HALTED AS HUGE POOL POURS BILLION INTO STREET

Hoover Is Confident Of Nation's Business

President Issues Statement Declaring Fundamental Structure of Commerce and Trade to Be "On a Sound and Prosperous Basis."

(Associated Press.)

In the midst of the turbulent stock market situation President Hoover yesterday issued a statement describing the fundamental business of the Nation as being "on a sound and prosperous basis."

Questioned by newspaper correspondents, the Chief Executive made no direct comment upon the spectacular fall in stock prices of the past two days. He did refer to the sympathetic "temporary drop in grain prices" in connection with the stock prices as an occurrence which "usually happens."

The best evidence of the soundness of the country's "fundamental business," which he described as the production and consumption of commodities, was cited by the President as the recording of no appreciable increases in either commodity prices or stocks of manufactured goods. He also said there had been a tendency for wages to increase and in many industries the output per worker had shown gains.

In connection with grain prices, Hoover pointed out as "the overriding fact in grain" the Department of Agriculture report estimating a 500,000,000 bushel decrease in the world wheat crop for this year below that of 1928. This "will result in a very low carryover at the end of the harvest year," he said.

The Chief Executive referred to "the high interest rates induced by stock speculation" as having affected, to some extent, the construction and building materials industries. He added that "there has been some sea-

Hundreds of Issues Are Pulled Back $2 to $21 After Collapse.

BROKERAGE CONCERNS WEATHER WHIRLWIND

No Failures Are Reported Among Member Firms of Exchange.

U. S. STEEL, A. T. & T., KEEP NARROW RANGE

Prices Sag Around Midday, but Buying Appears at First Sign of Drop.

New York, Oct. 26 (A.P.).—Wall street came groping out of the darkness today as leaders of finance and industry swept away the black cloud of impending disaster that struck terror to the hearts of speculators and investors yesterday.

Powerful support was thrown into the stock market and hundreds of issues closed the day $2 to $21 higher, having substantially reduced the losses suffered in yesterday's stampede of selling, the most violent ever experienced.

When the Stock Clearing Corporation announced that yesterday's myriad transactions had been completed proof was provided that all stock exchange member houses had been able to settle, and that none had been pushed to the wall. Disastrous market collapses in years past have almost inevitably resulted in the failure of one or more brokerage houses.

Soundness Is Proved.

That Wall street was able to stand such a shock as it received yesterday was generally regarded in banking circles as convincing evidence of the fundamental soundness of the financial structure. Furthermore, bankers both in America and abroad expressed the opinion that the credit situation had been vastly improved by the collapse of overextended speculative structure.

Although no official confirmation was available, a report generally accredited in responsible circles, was to the effect that the conferences of bankers at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. yesterday had resulted in the formation of a $1,000,000,000 pool to stabilize the stock market.

Trading on both the stock and curb exchanges was again at a feverish pace during the early hours of the session, but slackened up considerably toward the close. Even at its peak, trading was more orderly, and there were no scenes of wild confusion on the trading floors. Sales on the stock exchange totaled 5,923,220 shares, in contrast to yesterday's total of 12,894,600. The stock exchange ticker printed the final quotation one hour and 32 minutes after the close, compared to more than four hours yesterday.

Steel Report Optimistic.

In addition to reassuring statements as to the financial situation from leading bankers, highly optimistic reports regarding the steel industry were issued by its foremost executive at the semiannual meeting of the Iron and Steel Institute.

Coming as a climax to the mass of reassuring statements appearing, President Hoover was quoted by financial news tickers directly after the close of the market as stating that the fundamental business situation is on a sound basis, and that production and distribution are well maintained.

The stock market was forced to absorb a huge backwash of selling from yesterday's crash and prices sagged moderately around midday, but as soon as leading shares showed signs of going into any marked decline huge buying orders appeared in the market. Also, such leading shares as U. S. Steel common and American

BRIDE NAMES LYNCH FOR POLICE TRIALS

BOARD IS CHALLENGED

Robert E. Lynch, one of his ranking assistants, was named yesterday by William W. Bride, corporation counsel, to prosecute the charges against Capt. Robert E. Doyle, suspended commander of the Eighth Police Precinct, and Private Robert J. Allen, suspended member of Doyle's erstwhile command.

Appointment of Lynch to prosecute the charges was a surprise, inasmuch as it had been stated that the captain and private would be sent before the usual Police Trial Board, under usual conditions. Lynch was assigned to the prosecution by Bride after a conference in his office with Stanley H. DeNeale, assistant corporation counsel, recently assigned as regular prosecutor before the trial board. DeNeale, it was said, had known Doyle a long time and the change was not disagreeable to him.

Lynch immediately plunged into a study of the charges which had been prepared by Harry M. Luckett, chief and property clerk of the Police Department, and handed to Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, who in turn forwarded them to the prosecutor for study and suggestions.

As drafted by Luckett, the formal complaint against Doyle contains one charge, that of conduct prejudicial to the good order and reputation of the Police Department. Details were set forth in three specifications.

The formal complaint against Allen also charged conduct prejudicial to the good order and reputation of the department, and was set forth in detail in four specifications.

The charges and specifications against both men were based on letters they had written to the superintendent of police following Allen's public declaration that he intended to investigate the district attorney's office because it had not acted as he thought it should have on indictments returned against an investment

SENATORS APPROVE 23 TARIFF CHANGES

Eight-Hour Record Set as Schedule Amendements Are Debated.

CHEMICAL DUTIES HIT

(Associated Press.)

The Senate devoted another eight hours in debating the tariff yesterday and established a record by approving 23 amendments to the chemical rate schedule.

The majority of them were secondary reductions, important sections such as coal tar dyes and vegetable and animal oils and fats being passed over for later discussion.

Only two record votes were taken during the day. Both turned down finance committee Republican amendments.

By a vote of 48 to 30 an amendment to increase from 40 to 50 cents a pound the duty on transparent cellulose sheets used in the manufacture of safety glass for wieldshields was defeated and a compromise reached on 45 cents as proposed by the House.

A vote of 44 to 25 rejected a committee proposal to add 15 cents a pound to the 25 per cent ad valorem rate on agar agar, a medicinal product manufactured from dried seaweed. This action restored the existing rate of 25 per cent as proposed by the House.

The higher duty on agar agar was advocated by Senator Shortridge (Republican), California, where one firm is engaged in manufacture of the product in competition with Japanese imports.

Senator Walsh (Democrat), Massachusetts, made a vigorous plea for the increase in duty on cellulose sheets. He argued it was an infant industry in this country and the prospects were for an extension of its utilization in windshields and safety glasses of all descriptions. Germany, he said, already controlled one-third of the domestic market.

Relating how an explosion in New York had overturned street cars and hurled passengers through the windows, cutting them seriously, Senator Copeland (Democrat), of that State, Stanford White's Slayer, Shocked, Announces He Will Appeal.

New York, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—An award of $75,000 was obtained in the Supreme Court today by Miss Marcia Estardus, night club hostess, in her $100,000 suit against Harry K. Thaw.

The verdict was returned after the jury had deliberated 55 minutes on the girl's charges that the slayer of Stanford White and the former husband of Evelyn Nesbit bit her and paddled her with a hairbrush at a New Year's Day party in his apartment in 1927.

Counsel for Thaw immediately moved to have the verdict set aside as "grossly excessive," but Justice Aaron Levy reserved decision to permit the girl's attorney an opportunity to submit opposing briefs.

"I am greatly surprised and shocked at the verdict," Thaw declared. "I

Telephone encountered selling orders as soon as they began to rise, and several market observers interpreted this as indicating that powerful interests were working to check a revival of any bullish activity as well as to prevent further declines, using advances to unload shares bought for support purposes.

It was notable that U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can and General Electric fluctuated in unusually narrow ranges during the major part of the session and closed from $1.87 to $3.25 off, while the great majority of the list closed with substantial gains. These shares are popularly regarded as among the foremost of the market leaders.

Chicago Prices Steady.

Chicago, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Prices on the Chicago Stock Exchange today generally held around yesterday's close, with a few sharp gains and recessions spotting the list. The opening round found liquidation normally following yesterday's selling frenzy well absorbed.

Bendix Aviation and Borg-Warner both rallied, the first more than 4, to 49½. Pines Winterfront gained 3, at 55. Auburn Auto ran up 15, to 250, and then settled back to close at 235. Corporation Securities slumped 8, to 75, under heavy profit taking.

Most issues held to within a point or two of their finish yesterday.

London Stock Scare Wanes.

London, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—The excitement caused among London brokers by news of the break in Wall street yesterday was repeated on a smaller scale today outside the stock exchange.

Toward closing time on the exchange, when street business starts, crowds of excited brokers, speculators and clerks gathered in Throgmorton street, center of trading in Anglo-American securities, until Shorters Court was so densely packed that people could hardly move.

The most frantic of all the crowd were 40 small messenger boys who raced back and forth between the exchange and the cable office in the effort to be a second or so ahead of each other.

More business has been done in the past 24 hours than in a normal week. In one hour yesterday 2,000 cables were sent to the United States from the London brokers. Many hundreds of persons waited outside the exchange long after closing time, but the tense atmosphere of yesterday was lacking.

President Graham, of the board of trade, in a speech at Hendon tonight said it might be that the vast shakeout in Wall street would lead to easier conditions in London and lowering of the bank rate.

WHEAT PANIC OVER, TRADE IS STEADIED

RELAXATION IS NOTED

Chicago, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—The pulse of the wheat market throbbed slower today. Its panic abating as a measure of confidence returned to both stock and grain marts, the trade settled down on a firmer basis and after a weak moment early in the day, prices advanced above yesterday's closing level.

The finish was 1¼ to 1⅞ cents higher, December wheat figures resting at 1.21¾ to $1.22 a bushel; March at $1.29¾ to ⅞ and May at 1.32⅞ to $1.33⅛.

Trading in the wheat pit was still active, but the terrific pace of Thursday with the panicky drop of 12 cents a bushel and its record breaking volume of sales was relaxed today. There was a firm start and a quick reaction that struck six cents from the opening high prices but the attractive values and the improvement in foreign business resulted in a final advance.

The tremendous volume of trading on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday was realized more clearly today with the publication of the grain futures administration statement. It showed a turnover of 156,186,000 bushels of wheat on futures contracts, the largest single day in one grain in the history of the administration. The largest previous day, last July 15, saw 149,587,000 bushels exchanged.

A broadened continental demand was one of the principal sustaining factors in the market today, London reporting better business there and the seaboard indicating sales of 2,000,000 bushels of wheat for export, much of it American hard winters.

Lake Plane Wreck Held Golden Hind

Michigan Observers Believe Diteman Reversed Flight to England.

Menominee, Mich., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—The Menominee Herald-Leader today said the theory had been advanced that an airplane which twelve persons said they saw fall in Lake Michigan Wednesday was that of Urban F. Diteman, jr., who took off from Newfoundland Tuesday with London as his announced destination.

The paper said that because a check has failed to reveal any planes missing in the Middle West it was thought possible that Diteman had decided after his hop-off to return to his home in Billings, Mont. On a direct route that would bring him over this city.

The persons who saw the mystery plane fall were said to have offered partial descriptions resembling the published picture of Diteman's craft. Six workmen marooned by a storm on an island reported that a monoplane resembling Diteman's had passed over there Tuesday, flying low and at high speed. High winds prevented a search from the air for possible wreckage.

Rum Trials May Wait For Year to Be Heard

After November 1, persons charged under the national prohibition act whose alleged offenses do not come under the sweep of the Jones act, probably will have to wait a year for trial if they demand a trial by jury.

This fact became known yesterday when it was announced that the judges of the Police Court had decided that in future all cases involving violation of the prohibition law where jury trials are demanded must behandled in chronological manner. The first case which will be tried under the new rule involves a defendant who has been under charges since December, 1926, it is said.

sonal decrease in one or two other industries, but these movements are of secondary character when considered in the whole situation."

President Hoover's statement, in reply to questions of newspaper men, follows:

"The fundamental business of the country, that is, the production and the distribution of commodities, is on a sound and prosperous basis. The best evidence is that although production and consumption are at high levels, the average prices of commodities as a whole have not increased and there have been no appreciable increases in the stock of manufactured goods.

"Moreover, there has been a tendency of wages to increase and the output per worker in many industries again shows an increase, all of which indicates a healthy condition.

"The construction and building industries have been to some extent affected by the high interest rates induced by stock speculation and there has been some seasonal decrease in one or two other industries, but these movements are of secondary character when considered in the whole situation.

"A temporary drop in grain prices sympathetically with stock exchange prices usually happens, but, as the Department of Agriculture points out, the overriding fact in grain is that this year's world wheat harvest is estimated to be 500,000,000 bushels less than that of last year, which will result in a very low carry-over at the end of the harvest year."

Another index of the Government's belief in the firm position of business was given in the survey of general business and financial conditions for September and October, issued yesterday by the Federal Reserve Board.

While industrial activity increased less in September than is usual at this season of the year, the Reserve Board reported production was above the level of last year and for the third quarter of this year was 10 per cent above the corresponding period in 1928.

For the first half of October the survey showed a reduction in steel plant operations, but increases in bituminous coal and petroleum production. For the agricultural situation the board reported a larger cotton crop, but smaller corn and wheat crops than for last year.

WIFE PUSHES FALL TO AUTO AFTER VERDICT

Henry Miller Service.

Leaving the District Supreme Court after a jury found him guilty of accepting a $100,000 bribe from Edward L. Doheny, Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, is pushed to a waiting automobile in his wheel chair by his wife, surrounded by several of his aids, police and a deputy marshal.

FALL, CONVICTED, WANTS NEW TRIAL

Motion Is Filed After Jury Says $100,000 Deal Was Bribery.

VERDICT CAUSES HUBBUB

tears on hearing the verdict and were separated from their parents in the crowd that was leaving the courthouse. They made their way immediately to join Fall at his hotel, both saying "the fight was only begun to clear his name."

While defense counsel were moving for a new trial, Mr. and Mrs. Doheny started their return trip to Los Angeles.

Sentencing of Fall will be held in abeyance until disposition of his motion for a new trial. This charged Justice Hitz with unlawfully depriving him of his right to an impartial trial by jury, and that he was deprived of his constitutional rights by the judge arguing the Government case in his charge to the jury.

The case was with the jury for 24 hours. From 7 to 3 for acquittal, it went to 7 for conviction and 5 for acquittal. The first ballot yesterday was 11 to 1 for acquittal, and the seventh vote brought agreement.

Jury Is Polled.

The four women and eight men on the jury stood as they announced their verdicts individually.

One by one they were polled. Each replied:

"Guilty, with mercy of the court."

As the jury, which had been out almost 24 hours, walked to its place, there was not another sound in the courtroom.

"Ladies and gentlemen," asked the court, "have you reached a verdict?"

"Yes," was the reply.

"What is your verdict?" asked the court.

"Guilty," replied Foreman Thomas E. Norris.

As the verdict was rendered Fall slumped back in his big leather chair.

Mrs. Fall and her daughters, Mrs. C. C. Chase and Mrs. Jouett Elliott, leaned forward in their seats and wept.

Doheny Shuts Out Sound.

Doheny sat next to Fall with little apparent motion. He clapped his hand over his ear as the court reviewed the case.

Defense counsel served notice immediately of a motion for new trial. They also announced an effort for arrest of judgment would be made.

Frank J. Hogan, chief of the defense, said Fall was "robbed of his right for trial by justice."

"He was robbed of his constitutional rights by the judge's charge," the lawyer said.

The verdict is regarded by Government prosecutors as meaning that Doheny will be placed on trial.

Mrs. Chase cried hysterically as did Mrs. Elliott, but Fall's wife, weeping, pushed her way through the crowd to her husband's side. She sat in the big easy chair beside him, and they threw their arms around each other and sobbed on each other's shoulders.

Fall and Family Quiet.

Among the least demonstrative persons in the hotel suite of Albert B. Fall after the verdict were the family of the former cabinet officer and the convicted man.

Fall refused to discuss the case for publication, but he talked at length with friends and read the many telegrams that came to his room as well as newspaper accounts of the ending of the trial. His daughter-in-law in El Paso, Mrs. Jack Fall, talked with the family over long distance telephone. She assured them that Fall's nine grandchildren in the southwest were all well. One grandchild is in New York, and another, the 7-year-old daughter of Mrs Jouett Fall Elliott, raced about the hotel corridors.

Albert Fall Burch, sheriff of Otero County, N. M., where the Fall ranch is located, and life-long friend of the man for whom he was named, collapsed and was under a doctor's care most of the day. He revived at various times to ask, "How is the judge?" as Fall is known in New Mexico. Fall was not informed of Burch's condition and did not see him.

Robert Geronimo, chief of the Mescalero Apaches and, like Burch, a character witness, had lost all his Indian stoicism. He said he had "had enough" of Washington and left in the afternoon to rejoin his people in the southwest.

Upstairs, meanwhile, Mark Thompson, of Phoenix, Ariz., friend and attorney of the former Interior Secretary, was sleeping under a sedative. Thompson fainted in court with a heart weakness and it was ten minutes before he was revived.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at 10 a. m. and recessed at 5:52 p. m. to 10 a. m. today.

Continued debate on tariff, and adopted several minor amendments.

Adopted a resolution introduced by Senator Wagner (Democrat), New York, directing Federal Power Commission to give New York authorities access to records concerning public utility companies.

Senator King (Democrat), Utah, urged an immediate inquiry into conditions in Wall street, with a view to recommending remedial legislation at the regular session in December.

Lobby committee summoned as a witness C. A. Buck, vice president of the Bethlehem Steel Co.

Received from the President the nomination of Charles C. Hart, of this city, to be Minister to Persia, and the nomination of Eugene Black, of Texas, to be a member of the United States Board of Tax Appeals.

U.S.-British Accord Envisioned in Paris

Complete Agreement on Naval Disarmament Seen Reached.

Paris, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—The impression in well-informed international circles here is that Great Britain and the United States have reached complete agreement on the main lines of a naval disarmament accord, but that the actual total of tonnage for cruisers must be left open until it is seen what Japan, France and Italy are ready to offer in the form of reductions.

It is said that the feasibility of a three-power definitive treaty between Great Britain, the United States and Japan is being envisaged for the London conference in January. This would be extended to a four-power treaty if, as is expected, Italy comes in.

The French position is uncertain. The cabinet crisis caused by the downfall of the Briand ministry on Tuesday is likely to last several days longer and is holding up all French preliminary naval negotiations, either with other countries or within France itself, but there are no indications at present that France will negotiate a definite treaty in London.

Tunney Sees Plot In Suit of Woman

Former Champion's Counsel Charges Connivance With Newspapers.

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Charges that Katherine King Fogarty, of New York City, must have "connived" with newspapers to get publicity in her $500,000 breach of promise suit against James J. (Gene) Tunney, retired heavyweight champion of the world, were made in Superior Court today by Homer S. Cummings, Tunney's counsel. Cummings said:

"Within 20 minutes after her suit was placed in the hands of a sheriff for service on the defendant, newspaper offices and news services throughout the East had the story. This is utterly impossible without connivance of some sort."

The occasion was the presentation to Judge Carl Foster of arguments on a motion made by her counsel, Judge Frank L. Wilder, to have stricken from Tunney's voluminous answer and counter complaint some 20 paragraphs on the ground that they are immaterial. Judge Foster heard the arguments and assigned November 5 as the last day for presenting briefs.

Minister Will Preach On Law Enforcement

Pursuant to his sermon of last Sunday, in which he censured Police Department officials for taking a defensive attitude in the present agitation brought on by the McPherson case, the Rev. Dr. Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of the First Congregational Church, will speak tomorrow morning on "Law Enforcement in Washington."

This talk is one of a series Dr. Pierce will give under the general topic "Religious Aspects of Current Questions." He will follow the talks with his regular sermons. The regular sermon tomorrow will be preached by the Rev. Marion Daniel Shutter, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Minneapolis.

UNIFIED CODE URGED IN AIRPORT CONTROL

DISTRICT NEEDS CITED

Early adoption of uniform State legislation governing airports was urged by speakers yesterday at the closing session of the municipal airport conference held at the Willard Hotel by the American Road Builders Association.

Each of the 300 municipal officials who attended the conference from all parts of the country was advised to take steps to secure prompt passage in his own State of the model airport law drafted by the Department of Commerce, and which already is in effect in several States.

Passage of this same law by all States, leaving to municipalities the power only to police their airports, would have the effect of preventing the possibility of what has been termed "a lot of crazy laws" in individual cities which would accomplish no other result than to confuse aviators landing from other air centers.

Another point emphasized by several speakers was the necessity of keeping aviation "out of the hands of" the Interstate Commerce Commission, the fact being stressed that at the present stage of development of aviation, all investments in aviation are of a pioneer nature and experimental. For this reason, it was declared, it would hamper the progress of aviation to class it as a fully developed, going industry such as railroads.

Emphasis was laid throughout the two-day session upon the urgent need of adequate municipal airport facilities for the District of Columbia, this being the keynote of practically every address.

One point brought out in this connection yesterday by Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant, director of public buildings and parks for the District, was the necessity for airport managers throughout the United States, in considering the best interests of their own flying fields, to keep in mind the relationship of Washington to other communities, in its position as Capital of the Nation.

With that idea in mind, he urged his audience to use all possible influence upon Congress, as the government of the District, to take such action as is necessary to provide the District with proper airport facilities immediately.

Lieut. Col. Grant emphasized the need for municipialities to look far into the future in planning airports.

"The provision of airport facilities—not only the terminals needed for aviation today, but also areas for future terminals and for emergency landing places in the vicinity of the city should constitute a part of the city plan, and the land be acquired now before the best-suited open spaces are destroyed," he declared, explaining that even those communities which now consider themselves as too small to justify establishment of an airport at this time must give full consideration to the matter in planning their future development.

Whether future conferences of similar nature are to be held will not be decided until the annual convention of the American Road Builders Association is held at Atlantic City in January, when the effects of this first session can be known comprehensively and the advisability of future meetings determined more efficiently.

ENGLISH COUNTESS ENDS LIFE WITH GUN

Mrs. Evelyn Greeley Is Found Dead With Note Giving Reason for Act.

SPURNED BY POLICEMAN

Chicago, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Mrs. Evelyn Waddington Greeley, an English woman whose passport, issued by the British government, bore the name "Countess of Waddington," ended her life with a bullet nearly two weeks ago it was revealed today when her body was found in her apartment. She was 32 years old.

Identification was made by her half brother, Richard Burkhart, who said she was the widow of a major of the British army. Her husband was titled, Burkhart said.

The title described by Burkhart could not be found in lists of English peerage.

Mrs. Greeley's body was found by Policeman John M. Maier, to whom she had addressed a suicide note, saying she chose to end her life because she had been thrust out of his life.

Maier, a married man with one child, walks the beat on which Mrs. Greeley's apartment was located.

He said he quarreled with her two weeks ago.

Mrs. Greeley's body was on the living room floor. The apartment was in disorder. Gin and whisky bottles were strewn about. She was clad in negligee.

The gun, with which she had shot herself below the heart, lay by her side.

Newspapers in the apartment and the condition of the body indicated she shot herself October 14. A neighbor, living above, heard a shot on that day.

According to British authorities here, the Waddington family went to France from England to establish a textile factory more than a century ago. Whether or not Mrs. Greeley was a member of this branch of the family could not be determined.

William Henry Waddington became prime minister of France for a brief period, was minister of education, and was a senator from the department of the Aisne. He married an American girl, Miss Mary A. King.

Mrs. Greeley's passport was issued in June. It stated she was born in London. Friends said she was a prominent member of an expedition to Egypt about three years ago.

Woman's Home Finally Wrecked

Occupant of Chelsea House Gives Up Effort to Halt $25,000,000 Project.

New York, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Mrs. Tillie Hart today abandoned a four-month struggle to keep wreckers away from a house in the Chelsea district, where Dr. Clement Moors is said to have written "'Twas the Night Before Christmas."

Failing in her last attempt to get a decree to keep her home from being torn down t omake way for a $25,000,000 apartment project, Mrs. Hart ordered an expressman to cart her furniture away from the sidewalk.

As sh ewent away, weeping, with her two dogs, Hotsie and Totsie, trotting behind her, laborers began to break the windows and smash the walls of the old house.

Last night she slept on a matrtess on the floor because a city marshal, refusnig to accept a check for back rent, carried her furniture to the sidewalk.

For four months she stayed, despite the Supreme Court, the Bureau of Buildings and the backers of the project.

Hundred Filipinos Flee in Coast Riot

Leave 4 Wounded Whites Behind After California Outbreak.

Exeter, Calif., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Officers were making an effort today to round up instigators of a disturbance here last night in which four white men were seriously injured with knives and which resulted in a number of Filipinos being chased from the community. Sheriff R. L. Hill, of Tulare County, said he expected to make fifty arrests.

The men injured are Adolph Borgman, 26, truck driver; Harry Layton, 21, fruit picker; Claude Martin and another white man, unidentified. Borgman and Layton were dangerously wounded, but are believed to have a chance for recovery.

The trouble broke out at a carnival here when a group of Filipino laborers exchanged words with a crowd of white workers. Borgman was slashed allegedly by a Filipino he knocked down for speaking to Borgman's girl companion, and a general fight followed. About 100 Filipinos, chased out of town, took refuge in Visalia and other nearby towns.

Reds Reported Laying Plans for New Attack

Berlin, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Reports received tonight at the Chinese Legation were that the Red army was preparing a new attack on a wider front in Manchuria. The fifth army corps, crack troops of the Soviet Union, was said to have been ordered to the far eastern front to replace the seventh army corps.

Gen. Chang Hsue-liang has been ordered to proceed to the front to take defensive measures against possible attack.

FATE OF PANTAGES IN HANDS OF JURY

State Attacks Theater Man's Defense at Close as Fabric of Innuendo.

PRISON TERM IS ASKED

Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—The case of Alexander Pantages, on trial on a statutory charge preferred by Eunice Pringle, young dancer, was given to the jury of seven women and five men at 4:17 p. m. today.

Superior Court Judge Charles Fricke, in his instructions to the jury, warned them that they must consider the fact that Miss Pringle is a minor, less than 18 years of age, as shown by evidence presented. He told the jury also that the duty devolved upon it to recommend whether punishment, in the event of a verdict of guilty, should be a sentence to the county jail or to the State's prison.

District Attorney Buron Fitts, in his closing argument to the five men and seven women, attacked the defense presented by the theater man's counsel as "nothing but a fabric of innuendo and inference from the start throughout—because they did not have any other defense."

Absence From Home Explained.

The prosecutor cited evidence presented by the defense showing the girl to have remained away from home overnight on several occasions at a studio club in Hollywood.

"But this studio club is a subsidiary of what?" Fitts demanded.

"Of the Y. W. C. A., which operates it as a home for working girls and for girls who have no homes."

Fitts demanded of the jury that it recommend a prison sentence, rather than a term in the county jail.

Defense Attorney W. I. Gilbert, in his final plea for acquittal, told the jury Miss Pringle's story of the alleged attack was "impossible." He scoffed at "this 54-year-old man's power in using force upon this athletic dancing girl."

Two Jurors Ill During Trial.

The jury originally empaneled comprised six men and six women, with a man and a woman alternates. One juror, Harvey N. Connett, became ill and was replaced by Mrs. William Ingles, alternate. Another juror, Mrs. Lotta E. Steiner, complained of illness yesterday and court was recessed early in her behalf. Today she was able to proceed with the case.

Pantages, when the jury went to dinner without having given any indication of reaching a verdict, was placed in custody of a deputy sheriff and allowed to go to his own home for his evening meal.

It was the first time since his arrest that he had been held in custody. The theater man had been at liberty during the trial on $50,000 bond.

Woman Drops Dead At Church Parley

Delegate to Universalist Convention Had Been in Ill Health.

Mrs. Lillian Goodrich Emerson, 58 years old, of Dalton, Pa., fell dead on the ballroom floor of the Mayflower Hotel, yesterday, while attending a session of the general convention of the Universalist Church being held here this week. She had been in ill health for some time, and had been obliged to stop off at York, Pa., for medical treatment on her way here with her husband to attend the convention.

Mrs. Emerson was pronounced dead by Dr. F. A. Hornaday, house physician of the Mayflower, and Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt issued a certificate of death from natural causes. Her body will be taken to Dalton today for burial.

During their stay in this city Mr. and Mrs. Emerson had been stopping at the Grafton Hotel, Connecticut avenue and De Sales street northwest. Mrs. Emerson was well known in Universalist Church councils, and it is understood that she made a special effort to attend the convention despite her poor health.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

THE warning sounded by Mr. Grundy of the dearth of talent in the tariff grabbing game will be heeded by all the lovers of that clean sport. It goes without saying that if wars are to be abolished, if peace is to reign evermore here on earth, that there must be some substitute by which men can match their brawn and wits.

Competition is the very breath of life. Remove it and men will sit right down in their tracks and become fossilized in due time from their inertia. There must be something in the nature of rivalry. If it can not be found in clean, wholesome sports it will be found in war.

* * * *

THIS being true then, of course, Mr. Grundy's plea that tariff lobbying be encouraged, that youngsters be taught the ins and outs of the game in order that they will grow up and pass their learning on to others, is not a matter to be sniffed at. Instead, it calls for the deep thought of those who would not see this ancient and honorable game pass away.

Mr. Grundy would save the situation by corralling all the bright youngsters that he could and bringing them here to Washington to sit through tariff sessions of the Congress. But this is an expensive and unweildly proposition with quite limited results.

Certainly not more than 100 could be brought here each season and it is questionable as to whether the young manhood of the country should be encouraged to leave home.

* * * *

A FAR better plan, it would seem, would be the establishment of a course in tariff lobbying in each of the universities of the country, a tariff grabbing chair, so to speak.

It would be a phase of college life that would immediately appeal to the young collegians because it would be a part, indeed, of the athletic program. It could be so arranged, in fact, that the students would absorb the tariff grabbing knowledge without any conscious effort of their own, absorb it in connection with their other sports.

Take, for example, football. Several hunks of concentrated casein could be swung from an overhead bar and the squad directed to run and grab them firmly with both arms, as they would tackle the player of a rival team.

Similarly, there could be chunks of manganeese, of pig iron, concentrated forms of agricultural products and so on, fashioned to the size of a man, a hefty, sturdy one, of the kind that plays football, not only dangling from an overhead bar, but also placed on one of those recoverable bases that fly back to an upright position as fast as you knock them down.

* * * *

THERE is nothing in this that would be revolutionary to the grand old game. Dummies are now used at all schools for training purposes. Any one, looking on at the practice scrimmages of an afternoon, will see the country's collegiate brawn hurtling through the air at a suspended dummy as though it were some animate, menacing thing.

How much better it would be and how much more effective, for these young men, instead of jumping for the walsts of these dummies to the shouts of their fellows: "Get that man, get that man!"—how much better it would be for them to go hurtling after tariff symbols with the inspirational chorus of their fellows: "Get that chunk, get that chunk."

It would serve to make the tariff-grabbing game one of the country's major sports.

LEAGUE IS WARNED ON TARIFF POLICY

Head of New York Merchants Association Urges No Discrimination.

PAN-EUROPE IDEA HOLDS

Geneva, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Discussing today preliminary steps toward the proposed international tariff truce, the economic committee of the League of Nations received encouragement, together with a friendly note of warning from an American business man.

A statement by Lucius Eastman, president of the Merchants Association of New York, was hailed as of great significance and this feeling was not diminished by Eastman's declaration that he spoke as a private citizen. American business, he said, looks on the problem under discussion as primarily a European one, but does not forget that what makes for European prosperity is of advantage to the United States.

It was remarked that, while he considered the question of a customs holiday a European project, there is nothing in the resolutions of the assembly on which the economic committee is acting which fixes any territorial limitation to the scope of the scheme. At this stage of study of the vast problem of economic reconstruction, it was pointed out that there is naturally much vagueness as to the exact character and scope of the ultimate objective.

Observers agreed tonight that at the back of minds directed toward solution of existing economic ills there is the thought of the proposal of former Premier Briand, of France, for an economic United States of Europe. It is recognized that definition of the ultimate goal must await attainment of some substantial preliminary step, such as realization of a tariff truce.

"The more prosperous Europe becomes, the more prosperous becomes the United States," Eastman told the committee in its private session. He later himself made public his remarks. "Success does not depend on concealed or open discrimination against any nation." This statement was interpreted as a warning that the move for agreement on customs must not be directed against the interests of the United States.

He urged the committee to approach the problem from the angle of general improvement on economic conditions of all countries in Europe without discrimination against any.

CHEMICALS ARE SUBECT

Smoot's Tongue Twists On-On, Try It Yourself

A 22-letter word, meaning a chemical used as an accelerator in the vulcanization of rubber, tied the tongue of Senator Smoot, of Utah, in such a knot that a clerk had to be called upon to pronounce it by syllables.

It came up in consideration of the tariff, and hexamethylenetetramine was dispensed with quickly.

The product was voted a higher tariff and so was perfumed bath salts, but the latter was not approved until "Young Bob" La Follette, of Wisconsin, inquired how it was going to benefit the farmer.

who is a physician, said the question involved in this duty was one of "life and limb" and if he had his way he would compel all vehicles for hire to be equipped with the nonshattering glass.

While debate on the coal tar products sections was postponed, Senator Hawes (Democrat), Missouri, made an urgent plea for retention of the use of American valuation on which duties on these products now are based. Senator Copeland advocated scrapping of this rate base.

Hawes related how the dye and other coal tar chemical industries had been built up since the war under the protection of the American valuation method in existing law and said he did not propose to see the industries of his State "stricken to earth" by a change in rate base at this time.

Discrimination Is Charged.

Copeland said the basing of these duties on American instead of foreign valuation was a discrimination because they were the only products on which the American valuation formula applied. He added that medicines made from coal tar chemicals had increased considerably in price since the war and said it was in the interest of public welfare that lower protection be given.

Ten articles in the schedule now bearing duties were placed on the free list by yesterday's action. They were gentian, sarsaparilla root, belladonna, digitalis, henbane, stramonium, ergot, kieserite, eucalyptus oil and London purple.

The proposed 6 cents a pound duty on iron ammonium oxalate and iron sodium oxalate was rejected leaving this rate at 25 per cent as at present and as retained in the House.

Other Changes Listed.

Other amendments approved would: Raise the 25 per cent duty on hexamethylenetetramine, a product used in vulcanization of rubber, to 11 cents a pound.

Restore the existing rate of 3½ cents a pound and 20 per cent on edible gelatin valued at less than 40 cents a pound, and the present duty of 7 cents a pound and 25 per cent on gelatine, glue and fish glue, not specially provided for.

Raise the duty an amyl acetate from 25 per cent to 7 cents a pound.

Reduce the existing 20 per cent duty on ink and ink powders not specially provided for to 10 cents.

Cut in half the 20 cents a pound rate on iodine.

Reduce the duty on licorice from 25 to 20 per cent.

Restore the present one-half cent duty on epsom salts and increase the duty on perfumed bath salts from 25 to 75 per cent.

Brakeman Is Injured.

Garland Ridgeway, 24 years old, of 1811 Third street northeast, suffered a fracture of the right ankle and a dislocation of the left toe at 10:30 o'clock last night when he toppled to the ground from a Baltimore & Ohio freight car on a moving train on which he was working as a brakeman in the Eckington yards here. He received treatment at Emergency Hospital.

ALABAMAN ELECTED BY BAR ASSOCIATION

Henry Sims, of Birmingham, Is Chosen President at Memphis Meeting.

DRY ISSUE KEPT DOWN

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—With election of Henry Upson Sims, of Birmingham, to its presidency, the American Bar Association adjourned its fifty-second convention today. Tonight its members heard William D. Mitchell, United States Attorney General, speak at the annual banquet on the Nation's judiciary.

Sims succeeds Guerney Newlin as president. His first message to the bar of America was a plea to lawyers to uphold the dignity of their profession.

John H. Vorhees, of Sioux Falls, S. Dak., was reelected treasurer and William P. McCracken, of Chicago, was reelected secretary.

Uniform Air Code Asked.

Reports were received from the judicial committee that it expected favorable action from Congress on the attempt to give the Supreme Court of the United States power to make rules of procedure. A committee reported it hoped to get a bill through the next Congress which would make the presidential inauguration date in January instead of March.

The recommendation of the committee on aeronautical law that a uniform State aeronautical code be drafted was adopted.

Judge Orie L. Phillips, of the United States Court of Appeals, New Mexico; C. E. Marvin, Martinsburg, W. Va., and William B. Greenough, Providence, R. I., were added to the executive committee.

Dry Dispute Passed Up.

The Volunteer Committee of Lawyers, Inc., an organization of lawyers striving for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, announced it would make no effort to get the liquor question to the floor of the convention, but would do missionary work among lawyers and leave it to members of the various bar associations to get the question up. The committee has been active during the convention, maintaining an office and organized for work in the South.

The organization asks repeal of the eighteenth amendment, but is opposed to return of the saloons.

The association's medal awarded by a committee for conspicuous service in jurisprudence, was given Samuel Williston, Harvard law professor, for "monumental service in restating the law of contracts."

any exceptions of the antitrust laws," he continued.

Pointing out that these laws are founded on the proposition that "avenues of industrial opportunity must be kept open as far as possible to the initiative of the individual citizen," he added that the alternative is bureaucratic regulation and "until the political philosophy underlying the present antitrust laws has been abandoned by Congress, it will be the duty of the Attorney General to enforce these laws, and we shall undertake to do this without prejudice and with fairness, but with firmness."

Antitrust Plans Topic.

He called attention to the practice of the department in the last administration to consider proposed mergers or other business transactions presented to it by those interested, and to indicate in a limited way its views of the legality of the proposals. Asserting that the letters in reply to such cases were carefully guarded in their terms, he said the attitude of the department "has often been misrepresented and misconstrued."

In announcing that passing upon the legality of business deals in advance would be discontinued, except in rare instances, he said "we have found as a result of such experience that such proposals often have some practical elements that are not fully developed when the proposals are submitted and that the plans as carried out have not operated just as was contemplated, and the transactions as outlined to the department in advance, seemingly innocuous, have in practice worked in against violation of the antitrust laws."

Officers Are Released By Building Association

Election of officers was held last night by the District Building and Loan Association Council at its annual meeting in the Oriental Building and Loan Association offices, Sixth and F streets northwest.

Officers chosen are: Edward C. Baltz, president; Chopin B. Bauman, vice president; William S. Quinter, secretary; William Heuland, treasurer, and C. Clinton James, J. Lewis Sherwood, James F. Shea, John B. Geier, George M. Emmerick and Carl J. Bergman, members of the executive committee.

Clerk to Longworth Weds Richmond Girl

Robert B. Parkman, clerk to Representative Nicholas Longworth, and Mary K. Rives, both of Washington, were married yesterday in Richmond, Va. This was learned last night by friends of the couple.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Fred R. Chenault, of the Broad Street Methodist Church, Richmond. Miss Rives is formerly of Richmond. The couple left for Norfolk with a view to taking a boat trip to New York. They will return to Washington in a few days. Miss Rives' home is at 5314 Eighth street northwest. Parkman lives at 1003 Taylor street, northeast.

HUSTON LAYS PLANS TO CONTROL SENATE

Drive Is Mapped at Dinner of Leaders for G. O. P. Candidates' Election.

TALK HELD MOMENTOUS

New York, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—The New York American tomorrow will say that the dinner given in honor of Claudius H. Huston, new Republican national chairman, last night at the University Club, was the most noteworthy gathering of Republicans since the inauguration of President Hoover.

It marked the beginning of a battle for unchallenged Republican domination of the United States Senate. As chairman, Huston set machinery in motion to elect a majority of the 32 United States senators to be chosen in the coming year.

Those at the dinner numbered 130, the list including Republican spokesmen from nearly every State and territory; among them were Vice President Charles S. Curtis and four Cabinet members, Secretary of War Good, Secretary of Commerce Lamont, Postmaster General Brown and Secretary of Agriculture Hyde.

A delegation from New England was headed by Senator George H. Moses, of New Hampshire. Middle West Republicans were headed by Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana. New Jersey Republicans were led by J. Franklin Fort, secretary of the national committee; former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen and former State Chairman C. Stokes.

International Negro Organizer to Talk Here

The international organizer of the Universal Negro Improvement Association will make her first appearance here tomorrow in the person of Mrs. M. L. T. Demans, following the sixth annual international convention of Negro peoples of the world recently held in Kingston, Jamaica, British West Indies. She will appear under auspices of the Washington division, No. 183, of the association at the Liberty Hall, 1211 U street northwest, at 3:30 and 8 o'clock, and at 8 o'clock on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

The committee on arrangements consists of U. H. Prowthro, Martin L. Jackson, George Brown, Henrietta Cavanaugh, J. J. Johnson, Bettie Lyles, Katie Jenkins, James Nettles and J. D. F. Smith.

NEXT WEEK'S PLANS LAID IN LOBBY QUIZ

Report on Bingham Case Is to Be Turned Over to City Today.

RESOLUTION IS DRAFTED

(Associated Press.)

The task of writing a report of its finding in the inquiry into the relations between Senator Bingham (Republican), Connecticut, and the Connecticut Manufacturers Association, was laid aside momentarily yesterday by the Senate lobby committee while it formulated plans for next week.

First on its schedule, it decided to recall next Tuesday Joseph R. Grundy, of Pennsylvania, who testified this week. Next will come officers of the American Tariff League and of the Southern Tariff League.

The report on the Bingham case will be laid before the Senate today by Chairman Caraway or Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana. It makes no recommendations, but gives an account of the hearings of the committee.

An accompanying resolution will be presented, however, calling upon the Department of Commerce to report how many "dollar a year" men are on its rolls. Joseph E. Wuichet, of the Connecticut Manufacturers Association, told the committee he was a "dollar a year" man for the Commerce Department.

The resolution also will call attention to the Federal statutes prohibiting those on Government pay rolls from accepting outside pay for Government work and prohibiting those working for private concerns from accepting Government pay.

Submission of the resolution is expected to lead to a revival of senatorial consideration of the Bingham case. Senator Bingham testified that he put a $10,000-a-year officer of the Connecticut association on the Government payroll as his secretary while he was working with the finance committee in writing the tariff bill.

A determination to go into the activities on the manganese tariff schedule also was disclosed yesterday when Senator Walsh asked that C. A. Buck, a vice president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, be called. The Senate finance committee put manganese on the free list and Senator Walsh is determined to examine into the relation of this action to the signing of a contract by the steel companies for large importations of manganese, which is used in the manufacture of steel.

GIRL GETS $75,000 FOR THAW PADDLING

don't know how the jury arrived at that verdict. The only testimony was that of the woman, which was perjury."

Asked if he would appeal, Thaw said:

"What else can we do?"

Isidor M. Shapiro, his attorney, said:

"If the judge doesn't set the verdict aside the case will be appealed. They wanted to stick Thaw, that's all."

About 125 persons in the courtroom gasped audibly and Miss Estardus seemed about to collapse when the verdict was announced. She composed herself, however, and in a few minutes was posing similingly for photographers.

Asked what she intended to do with the money, when and if she got it, Miss Estardus replied:

"I intend to look for a nice man and settle down. I want children and everything. I really mean it, for I was married once. As to those women who testified against me, they didn't say a word about the money they borrowed from me, or the innumerable times when I loaned them evening gowns."

After one of the camera "shots" the girl lost her smile and tears came to her eyes.

"You don't know what I've been through," she declared. "They have shadowed me for three years. If it wasn't for his detectives Thaw would have settled and avoided all this."

The verdict was returned in the second trial of the case. The jury disagreed at the first trial in March, and the second trial opened a week ago. Miss Estardus testified that Thaw enticed her to a room in his apartment and there knocked her down and bit and spanked her. Defense testimony denied that the girl had cried for help at the party, but had garbed herself in men's pajamas and compromised herself with Morgan Pendleton, formerly Thaw's secretary.

The lawsuit was another one of the episodes that have kept Thaw in the limelight since he shot and killed Stanford White, noted American architect, in the midst of a crowd of diners on the roof of old Madison Square Garden in June, 1906. He was found insane and placed in Matteawan Asylum, from which he escaped and fled to Pennsylvania, where he was adjudged sane.

Citizen Associations Hit Smoke Nuisance

Traffic conditions at Twelfth and Monroe streets and Twelfth street and Rhode Island avenue and the smoke menace in the northeast section were discused last night at a joint meeting of the public utilities committees of the Brookland, Dahlgren Terrace and Michigan Park Citizens Associations at the home of H. E. Bucklin, 2821 Twelfth street northwest.

In order to expedite efforts for relief from the uncontrolled traffic, and the black smoke from the B. & O. trains, Bucklin was named as a committee of one to take up these matters with the proper authorities at the District Building.

FAIRFAX SCHOOLS REPORT IS GIVEN

Receipts and Disbursements for Year Are Listed by Superintendent.

BOARD HAS VACANCY

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
Phone Vienna 64.

The annual report of the Fairfax County schools was completed yesterday by County Superintendent of Schools W. T. Woodson. This report shows the exact receipts and disbursements made for the year ending June 30, 1929.

The receipts for the year were as follows: Received from the State $73,109.43; received from the county $82,155.30, and from the district funds $85,225.90. The receipts from other sources were tuition from private persons, $93.50; from public sources, $2,520; tuition from other counties, $4,670.32; money received from trust funds $375; dog tax, $102.48; special levies, $16,607.21; sale of real estate, $9,879.74; sale of equipment, $280; adjustment of fire insurance, $1,600; donations for public library, $250; balance left over from last year, $7,172.70. These items with various other receipts make a total of $45,149.80 received from other sources. From the sinking fund $5,175.12 was received and $2,700 was borrowed temporarily from the banks. The above items make a total of $293,515.56 which was all the money received by the school board that year.

The disbursements made by the school board are as follows: Administrative officers, salary of school officials and their expenses were $4,927.54; for instruction in regular day school or teachers salaries, $136,953; special instruction, $50. Other instructions costs, such as text books, maps and laboratory supplies, was $690.31. Transportation of pupils in private and county owned busses and their upkeep amounted to $15,070.41; for janitor services, fuel and water, lights and janitor supplies, $16,598.38. The board also paid $3,619.02 for insurance and $5,207.74 for commissions to the county treasurer. Repairs to buildings, upkeep to grounds, and other miscellaneous expenses amounted to $7,245.04. New buildings amounts to $1,888.49 and equipment to $3,654.86. Other improvements are $1,721.36, making a total of $7,224.71. The repayment of bonds, loans, sinking fund and interest, $51,359.96.

The balance which was left on hand on June 30, 1929, was $44,569.45, which included all county, city, district funds and money received from the Daniels trust fund.

The above money was expended for the education of 4,130 white pupils and 3,269 colored pupils last year.

B. F. McGuire, of Herndon, who was recently appointed by the Herndon school board as their representative on the county school board, has refused to accept this appointment. This will leave a vacancy on the board for a representative from Herndon.

The Herndon Volunteer Fire Department yesterday morning purchased a lot near the Washington Old Dominion Railway Station, on which they plan to erect a modern home for their new fire-fighting apparatus which was recently purchased. Yesterday afternoon the builders met the representaitves of the fire department to look over the lot and to get the specifications on which they will submit bids for the new fire house. This building is to be 32 feet wide and 45 feet long and two stories high. The second floor will be used for the firemen's hall, in which they will hold their meetings and give their dances and entertainments. George F. Harison, who is submitting the petition to the citizens of the locality asking them for contributions that will be used to pay off the indebtness on the new fire engine, reports that $1,000 had been pledged by the citizens this week.

Judge Howard W. Smith, of the Circuit Court of Fairfax County, headed the plea of the citizens of this county for a county board of public welfare and yesterday appointed the following persons in accordance with the provision of the State code: Mrs. J. Randall Caton, Belle Haven; Miss Mattie Gundry, Falls Church; Mrs. Russell A. Lynn, Herndon; Dr. Ernest L. Robey, Herndon; John W. Brookfield, Springfield; Robert R. Buckley, Fairfax, and Mrs. J. Hunter Mack, McLean.

Frances Stout, 15-year-old pupil of the McLean High School, was knocked unconscious by electricity Thursday afternoon while attending a cooking class. She was cleaning off the electric stove with a damp cloth, when she received the severe shock and was unconscious for over two hours. She was given first-aid treatment by Dr. Feagans, county health doctor, and Mrs. Herbert Seamons, county nurse, after which she was removed to Emergency Hospital, in Washington.

After a long and exciting chase along the Alexandria-Richmond highway, during which several shots were fired, A. G. Condrey, of 3 North Washington street, Alexandria, was arrested and charged with reckless driving, speeding and transportation of liquor. Capt. Haywood J. Durrer and A. W. Mills, of the county police, were at Engleside, about 6 miles south of Alexandria, when their attention was called to the manner in which Condrey was driving. They gave chase, but did not succeed in capturing him until they reached Alexandria, where they punctured his tires by shooting at them. The speed over this route was more than 70 miles per hour, the officers said. When Condrey was captured and his car searched, 11 half-gallons of alleged liquor were found. Condrey was taken before Justice of Peace Thomas P. Chapman, of Fairfax, where he was fined $100 and costs on the charge of reckless driving and speeding. He also was held for the action of the grand jury for the violation of the prohibition law. The fine of the first charge was paid and the bond for the prohibition charge was set at $1,000.

HUSBAND IS BLAMED IN CROSSING DEATHS

Coroner's Jury Holds That He "Contributed to the Cause."

TWO IN CAR ARE KILLED

A coroner's jury at the Police Court in Hyattsville, Md., last night returned a verdict that Mrs. Edith Lemmons, 27 years old, and her 6-year-old son, Milan, both of 321 Sixth street southeast, met their death Monday night at Landover, Md., in an automobile accident in which Douglas Lemmons, 30 years old, the woman's husband and father of the boy, "contributed to the cause."

The jury specifically found that the two "came to their death in an automobile at the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing at Landover, and we also find that Douglas Lemmons, in the operation of said automobile, contributed to the cause of the deaths, and whereas the jury finds that the railroad crossing is unsafe, they recommend a suitable warning, such as a bell, and gates be installed to warn the public of approaching trains."

The two were trapped in their car when it stilled at the crossing and was struck by southbound New York-Washington train No. 135 after Lemmons had pushed his foot on the starter of the parked car, apparently ignorant of the fact that it was in gear. Lemmons, who is attached to Fire Truck Company No. 3; was present last night, but did not testify.

William Grayson, colored watchman at the crossing, testified that at the approach of the train about a mile away he called to Lemmons a few feet away, "Here comes the train now." Grayson said Lemmons hopped in the car, "started it up," and that a few minutes later he turned around to view the machine on the tracks. He testified that Lemmons jumped out, called to him to help push the machine off the crossing, and then tried to pull the boy out through a door. He said that he and Lemmons then leaped to safety as the train whizzed by.

Others testifying included R. H. Sansbury, of Bowie, engineer of the train; J. H. Robinson, the train's fireman, and H. L. Poland, the conductor. They claim that the air brakes were applied to stop the train.

Justice of the Peace H. J. Moffat presided, while Chief H. L. Leonard, of the Prince Georges County rescue squad acted as foreman of the jury

Two Men Jailed In Narcotic Case

Attempt of One to Obtain Drug on Prsecription Brnigs Arrest.

Edward Moore, 22 years old, of Leesburg, Va., and William Carrol, 39 years old, of Purcellville, Va., were arrested about 3:30 yesterday afternoon and held for investigation at the Fourth Precinct station in connection with a narcotic investigation.

Fourth Precinct Policeman R. J. Poquette arrested Moore in a drug store at Seventh and D streets Faulkner, drug clerk, of 3531 Thirteenth street northwest, that a drug prescription presented by Moore was forged with the name of Dr. R. M. Thompson, of Round Hill, Va.

Shortly afterward, Carrol was arrested in the precinct station when he inquired there for Moore. The case is being investigated by the precinctpolice and S. L. Rakusin, of the Federal narcotic squad.

Two in Narrow Escape As 1912 Auto Wrecks

Leonardtown, Md., Oct. 25.—J. Cohen, of Baltimore, and David Nathanson, of Acheron, Ohio, president of the Warren Tailoring Co., of Acheron, narrowly escaped being killed when a 1912 model touring car in which they were riding overturned and was demolished as they tried to pass another car, driven by J. J. Norris, jr., in front of Cecil's Mill, about 2 miles above Leonardtown, this afternoon. Their car skidded off the road into fresh sand.

Cohen sustained cuts from flying glass about the head and body and a badly strained neck. Nathanson was injured. Both men had to be pulled out of the wreckage, and were taken back to Leonardtown.

CURRENT EVENTS IN VIRGINIA AND MARYLAND

ACCIDENT LIABILITY CASE WON BY FIRM

Directed Verdict in Prince Georges Court Quashes Widow's Action.

GARBAGE RULES ISSUED

A directed verdict in favor of the defendant company was given in Prince Georges County Circuit Court yesterday in the appeal filed by Mrs. William Howell from the decision of the Maryland State Industrial Accident Commission regarding the death of her husband.

The court held that the plaintiff had not clearly shown connection between the employment hazards of the husband and the heart trouble which caused his death. The husband had been employed by the Lapsley Interstate Shade Cloth Co., of Laurel, where the Howells resided, and had left that concern's employment before his death.

The plaintiff, through Attorney Ogle Marbury, of Laurel, attempted to show that Howell had become ill through inhaling the fumes of the paint used in the factory and that this had superinduced heart trouble. The shade company was represented by Attorneys M. Hampton Magruder, of Upper Marlboro, and Roland Adams, of Baltimore. A full bench heard the case and the three judges, Mitchell Digges, Meverill Loker and Joseph C. Mitchell, concurred in taking the case from the jury and directing a verdict in favor of the defendant.

Plans for inauguration of garbage collection service in Hyattsville have been completed and the service will begin November 1. Two collections are to be made each week, with the four wards of the town divided into three sanitary districts.

The first district will include all the homes in the first and second wards and south of Spencer street and Owens avenue. Collections will be made in this district each Monday and Thursday. The second district will include all homes north of Spencer street and Owens avenue and south of Arundel avenue, and collections will be made in this district each Tuesday and Friday. All homes north of Arundel avenue will comprise the third district, and collections will be made in this district Wednesdays and Saturdays.

No charge to the individual householder will be made, the town paying the expenses of the collection service through taxation. Householders are required to place garbage in a can of not more than 10-gallon capacity, and must not place liquids, glass or poisonous substances in the garbage. Further information about the service may be obtained by calling Councilman Thomas E. Hume, chairman of the health committee of the town council, whose phone number is Hyattsville 704-W.

Frank Young, colored, of near Surrattsville, yesterday was fined $50 for carrying a concealed weapon, $25 for reckless driving, and $10 for driving without a permit in the Upper Marlboro branch of Prince Georges County Police Court by Judge J. Chew Sheriff. A charge of assault with a dangerous weapon was dismissed.

Young was arrested by Constable A. C. Thompson on complaint of Joseph Edelen and W. E. Thorne, of Surrattsville. Edelen testified that when he went to the Surrattsville School for his child, he saw Young driving his car up and down the road frightening the children, even pursuing them onto the playground. Thorne said that he found Young parked in front of his house and ordered him to move on and that the man produced a pistol and aimed it at him. Defense declared that the pistol was unloaded. Judge Sheriff recommended that Young be given a mental examination.

C. D. Proutt, colored, a cook at St. Elizabeths Hospital, was fined $15 for reckless driving by Judge Sheriff. N. H. Diggs, colored, was fined $25 for carrying a concealed weapon. A charge of permitting his car to be driven recklessly placed against Richard Mills, colored, was dismissed when he testified that he was asleep and did not know of the alleged recklessness.

The three men were arrested by County Policeman Frank Prince on the Marlboro pike, near Forestville. Prince said that the car was speeding.

Anne Arundel Citizen Falls Dead on Road

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 25.—Hezekiah Best, 57, a well-known resident of the First District of Anne Arundel County, dropped dead suddenly yesterday on the road leading from Taylorsville to Rutland, while superintending the cutting of bushes and trees for the State forestry department, of which he was an employe. The clearing up was being done in preparation for running lines to furnish electricity to that section of the county.

Mr. Best is survived by his widow, who is a daughter of former Sheriff Richard Sellman, of Anne Arundel County, and one son, Sellman Best.

Judge Defers Decision In $2,500,000 Action

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 25 A.P.).—Decision on the motion to dismiss the suit of Harold LaVarre against the International Paper Co. and International Paper & Power Co., for $2,500,000 which LaVarre claims is due him in promised loans, was deferred today by Federal Judge J. Lyles Glenn.

Judge Glenn allowed three hours of argument, then announced that he would hand down a decision on or before November 5. The hearing was begun Wednesday and resumed today, growing out of attachment proceedings by LaVarre against the South Carolina Timber Co., which the latter contends is controlled by the International Paper & Power Co.

FOUR BOYS ARE HELD IN JOY-RIDING THEFT

Alexandria Police Pick Up Quartet for Officers in New Jersey.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Four boys, ranging in age from 15 to 18 years, are being held for the police of Jersey City, N. J., they having admitted, according to the police, that they stole an automobile in which they took an extended joy ride.

Shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday morning, the attention of Sergt. Everly and Policeman McDonald was attracted by an automobile parked in the 500 block of North Washington street, and on investigating found four boys asleep in the machine. Their response to questioning was unsatisfactory, and the officers took the four to police headquarters, where, after further questioning, they admitted having stolen the car from the courthouse square in Jersey City. They started south, going as far as North Carolina, they said, and were on their way home when they decided to park and sleep in the machine. The boys gave their names and ages as Edward Wines, 15, 29 Washburn street; John O'Neill, 16, 101 Courthouse place; Fred Bold, 18, Courthouse place, and Joseph Hussey, 17, 45 Hopkins avenue, all of Jersey City. The car was taken Wednesday, according to their story.

The police of Jersey City were communicated with, and the boys and car are being held pending arrival of the New Jersey officers.

Everything possible will be done to abate the smoke nuisance from the plant of the Virginia Public Service Company at the foot of Wolfe street, according to assurances given by M. J. O'Connell, general manager of the company, to Mayor William Albert Smoot and City Manager Wallace Lawrence, at a conference yesterday. Many complaints have been received from residents and property owners in the vicinity of the plant, by the city officials, and O'Connell assured the mayor that he is very anxious to do anything within his power to remedy the conditions complained of. Smoke arresters will be used on the tall stacks of the plant which, it is believed, will correct the conditions now existing.

Children of every denomination have been invited to meet at the First Baptist Church at 6:30 o'clock this evening to join the Junior Chautauqua and parade up and down King street, headed by the Boy Scouts, with their leader, W. L. Leitch, and Charles Clark and Roy Gurley, evangelists. Following the parade the children will again assemble at the church and will demonstrate to the public the training accomplished during the last two weeks as a part of the junior endeavors. A sacred pageant will be given, and all interested in child development, friends and parents, have been invited to attend.

Local Masons who have been attending the meetings of the Virginia Grand Royal Arch Chapter in Richmond during the last week include Claude W. Fletcher, J. E. W. Timberman, J. A. Martin, A. D. Yates, E. R. Thomasson, J. W. Twilly and William Lewis Allen. The chapter members evinced much interest in the work being done at the Masonic Children's Home in Richmond.

More than 100 members of the Shrine Club of Alexandria left yesterday afternoon for Winchester to attend a ceremonial in that city. They carried with them 50 neophytes and were accompanied by the Citizens Band. The band will lead the Shriners of this section in the parade to be staged in connection with the ceremonies.

Swift justice was meted out in the case of Elmore Johnson, Negro, charged with operating a lottery game. Johnson, whose address is given on the police court records as 1008½ Oronoco street, was arrested yesterday morning by Sergts. Sims and Padgett, arraigned in police court, fined $25 and $3 costs and given a suspended jail sentence of six months, all in the short space of 15 minutes.

Raymond Shiflett, 13 years old, son of Mrs. Henrietta Dodd, of 2827 Duke street, is in a serious condition at the Alexandria Hospital as the result of being struck by an automobile driven by James Irving Wiltshire, 22, of Seminary Hill.

According to reports made to the police, the Shiflett boy ran in front of Wiltshire's automobile at Telegraph road and Duke street yesterday evening, and was struck before the machine could be stopped. He was taken to Alexandria Hospital and treated by Dr. M. D. Delaney for severe cuts on the head and shock. Dr. Delaney was unable to say whether the boy's skull was fractured until an X-ray can be taken.

Wiltshire was placed under arrest on a charge of assault, pending the outcome of young Shiflett's injuries, and was later released on $500 bond, furnished by his father, J. B. Wiltshire.

Two stolen automobiles were recovered and five men placed under arrest, charged with their theft, by the Alexandria police yesterday evening, after receiving reports of the thefts of the cars.

Chief Perry, of Fredericksburg, telephoned Alexandria headquarters at 4 o'clock yesterday that two automobiles had been stolen, giving the license tag numbers. At 5 o'clock Sergt. Padgett and E. J. McDermott, the latter a State traffic officer, arrested Nathan Gropper, of 2001 Grand Concourse, New York City, and Harold Durckman, of 2003 Walton avenue, New York, in one of the machines. At 5 o'clock Motorcycle Policeman McClary arrested Richard Calkins and Irvin Jaeger, both of Baltimore, and Edward Lewis, Negro, of Bluefield, W. Va., in the second machine. The five men and two cars were later turned over to Chief Perry, who took them to Fredericksburg.

West Virginia Woman Marks 103 Birthdays

Spencer, W. Va., Oct. 25.—In perfect health, Mrs. Catherine Sherry, born in 1826, celebrated her 103d birthday this week at her home here. All her living relatives assembled for the event.

With her eyesight unimpaired and her mental faculties yet keen, Mrs. Sherry presided as hostess in animated manner to sons and daughters, grandchildren, greatr-grandchildreen and great-great grandchildren.

Bonds to Be Given For Labor Leaders

Seven Convicted in Gastonia Slaying to Be Bailed, Says Counsel.

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Bond to effect the freedom of the seven labor leaders, given long prison sentences for the murder of O. F. Aderholt, Gastonia chief of police, likely will be available here tomorrow, George Maurer, Southern secretary of the International Labor Defense, stated today.

"It's a matter of hours only," said the secretary. "We don't expect it today, but we do by tomorrow."

The seven men, all of whom were convicted in the Mecklenburg superior court last Monday, were in the Mecklenburg County jail tonight.

Bond for the accused men, who have appealed their cases to the Supreme Court, and been allowed bail in the interim, aggregates $27,000.

Under the order of Judge M. V. Barnhill, of Rocky Mount, presiding jurist at the trial, the bond must be cash or one furnished by a reliable corporation.

Manassas School Benefits by Will

Institution for Colored Youths in Virginia Is Given $13,085.

New York, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Nineteen charitable institutions, eight of them in Jackson, Mich., share in the $332,138 estate of Charles H. Ruhl, according to a transfer tax appraisal filed today. Ruhl, a St. Louis hotel man, died March 31, 1928, in Alhambra, Calif.

The institutions at Jackson receive $43,000, three institutions in Los Angeles, Calif., receive a total of $18,468.

Among the beneficiaries also are the following institutions in other cities:

Manassas Industrial School for Colored Youths, Manassas, Va., $13,085; Little Sisters of the Poor, Detroit, Mich., $10,468; National Jewish Hospital for Consumptives, Denver, Colo., $5,000.

Lawyer Put Under Bond In Merchant's Stabbing

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 25.—Homer Richey, leading attorney, was arrested late this afternoon on a charge of stabbing Dan P. Ray, local merchant, and placed under $500 bond for his appearance in Police Court tomorrow morning. The men clashed following an argument. Richey is alleged to have stabbed Ray in the side with a pocket knife, whereupon the merchant struck the attorney in the face with his walking cane. With blood streaming from his face, Richey ran to his office and reappeared quickly with a revolver in his hand, witnesses said. He was disarmed by Chief of Police Maurice Greaver.

Richey is a member of the local camp, Sons of Confederate Veterans, and an ardent supporter of Dr. William Mosley Brown, coalition candidate for governor.

Defense Highway Widening Sought

Three Civic Groups Meet in Annapolis to Plan Campaign.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Oct. 25.—A meeting of representatives of three civic groups of the city to discuss road building plans of the future, with special reference to enlarging the Defense highway between Annapolis and Washington, resulted in the organization of the Defense Highway Association, with James Walton, bank president, as chairman, and Simon S. Martin, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, secretary.

The meeting was attended by committees of the Commerce Chamber, Rotary Club and Civitan Clubs, and it was decided to have five members of each of these groups as representatives of the association.

The primary object is to push a campaign for a modern artery of traffic between the capital cities of the Nation and State, in line with suggestions laid down by C. W. Johnson, president of the National Boulevard Association, who addressed the Chamber of Commerce at a recent meeting. One of the principal points stressed by Johnson was that road building now is undertaken with a look to future needs, and that the really progressive move for a community is to secure a right of way at least 200 feet wide which is sufficient to take care of all kinds of traffic, and then present the proposition to the agency from which funds would be asked for construction work.

Chicken-Theft Witness Killed in Door of Home

Hagerstown, Md., Oct. 25.—Benjamin Sprow, 36, of Fairview, a little mountain settlement near here, was held on a charge of murder today, despite the fact that a coroner's jury this morning failed to name the slayer of Clarence W. Patterson, 29, also of Fairview. Patterson was shot down as he stood in the doorway of his hut. The slayer, armed with a shotgun, had hidden in the underbrush outside his home.

The authorities believe that Patterson, who turned State's evidence in a chicken stealing case some months ago, was shot in revenge. Sprow was arrested a few hours after the shooting and officers found a shotgun and an empty shell in his home.

SOUND CONDITIONS.

President Hoover has taken timely and wholesome action by informing the people that the fundamental business conditions of the country are sound, thereby checking unwarranted interpretations of the slump in the stock market.

There is no valid reason for associating the collapse of certain market prices with suggestions of an unhealthy business condition in the country, according to the unmistakable purport of the President's statement. No man or woman who is working and not speculating has any cause to worry.

Mr. Hoover points out that the production and distribution of commodities is on a sound and prosperous basis and that the average prices of commodities have not increased, despite the fact that production and consumption are at high levels.

With the cost of living stabilized at a time when wages show a tendency to increase, and with the output per worker also increasing, there are reliable indications of what the President describes as "a healthy condition."

The President finds that high interest rates induced by stock speculation have to some extent affected the construction and building industries, and he also finds that a temporary drop in grain prices has coincided sympathetically with stock market declines. But this is regarded as of secondary importance, although it carries a plain warning against the inevitable evils of unrestrained speculation.

With a wholesome condition of business and a continued premium on every man's honest day's work, there is every reason for confidence. The country as a whole need not be disturbed over fluctuations in inflated prices on the stock market.

As might have been expected, the stock market flurry brought a suggestion of a senatorial investigation. Fortunately this is not taken seriously. Stock speculation is meeting a more telling rebuke than politicians could administer.

RESEARCH INTO LAW.

Whatever may be the accomplishments of President Hoover's Commission on Law Enforcement, its investigation will fall far short of satisfying the American Bar Association's desire for intensive research into the fundamentals of law and justice. Justin Miller, chairman of the association's section on criminal law, told the annual convention, meeting at Memphis this week, that "ephemeral politically controlled commissions" can not hope to parallel the work of scientific experimenters. By adopting the report of this section, the convention went on record as favoring for law the scientific approach which is now evident in medicine and engineering.

The purpose of the Law Enforcement Commission is to secure more effective application of existing laws. The objective of many leading jurists, which now has support of the bar association, is to examine the legal structure itself. It is not a question of better enforcement, but as to whether the legal processes and practices are fundamentally right. Are the principles handed down from past centuries in keeping with the spirit of modern civilization? The jurists would scrutinize every element of criminal law, and wherever a rule is found obsolete or untenable they would discard it.

Fortunately such an inquiry is being made by the Institute of Law of Johns Hopkins University. This type of research has been neglected for a long time, because students of law have no reason to indulge in research as do students of medicine. Laws are not scientific products. Too often they are enacted for selfish reasons by persons who are not in a position to know what the effect on society will be. There is grave need for a return to fundamentals. If the Law Institute and the American Bar Association can succeed in turning the light of scientific investigation on the whole theory and practice of law they will be rendering an invaluable service.

Harvard University has launched a kindred enterprise with its Institute of Comparative Law. This institution was founded in the belief that the United States is on the verge of a creative legal period, and that to proceed wisely it is necessary to study the legal materials of the whole world. While public attention at present is centered on the activities of the Law Enforcement Commission, it is well not to overlook these more fundamental inquiries into American jurisprudence.

SUBSIDIZED PROBE OF SUBSIDIES.

The report of "experts" subsidized by the Carnegie Foundation, to the effect that most of the colleges and universities are guilty of subsidizing athletes, commercializing their sports, &c., has raised a furore among some of the college presidents. The pretense is still maintained that college sport should be on a purely "amateur" basis, that it is a crime to recruit and subsidize a young fellow who is handy on the gridiron, and that any college which uses business methods in handling its sport attractions is debasing the cause of education.

Why not strip off the mask of hypocrisy for a change? Why not admit that sport in practically all colleges is "commercialized?" What of it? The public wants keen and square sport, and is willing to pay for it. If a college can find superior athletes who are suitable timber for freshmen, why shouldn't it assist them to get through, if there is no swindle in the giving of degrees? Herbert Hoover washed dishes to work his way through, and thereby might have been set down as a professional, but the common sense of the people sweeps away the hypocritical pretense that an American must not make money while he is going through college.

The investigators of the Carnegie Foundation are themselves subsidized, and in order to hold their jobs they must make sensational reports of dire conditions that require further investigation at steady salaries for the investigators.

The colleges are all right, except for the hypocrisy that is spread over organized and commercialized sport.

AIRPLANE ACCIDENT REPORTS.

Certain senators seem to be obsessed with the idea that the Department of Commerce is deliberately withholding the result of its investigation of the crash of the air liner City of San Francisco, in which eight persons lost their lives. As is customary in such cases, the department conducted a thorough examination, the report of which, however, will be made public only in the general statistical summary of accidents and their causes published at regular intervals. This does not satisfy certain senators, especially Senator McKellar, who has introduced a resolution calling for the publication of the findings.

The Department of Commerce does not divulge details of its findings with respect to the causes of airplane accidents because it does not have the legal authority to do so and because its findings are not privileged under the law. The Interstate Commerce Commission, which is charged with investigating the causes of railway accidents, does have such authority and its findings are privileged. If it is desirable that the result of the investigation of air accidents be made public, and it would seem that it is, the proper procedure to that end is the enactment of legislation giving the department the authority and protecting it from the possibility of lawsuits. The department can not put itself in a position where it would have to go into court in behalf of defendant or plaintiff in every damage suit resulting from an airplane accident.

Senator Bingham has introduced a bill requiring the department to investigate all fatal crashes, giving it authority to summon witnesses and compel them to testify, and relieving it of any legal responsibility in connection with its findings. This bill should be enacted.

EMERGENCY RELIEF.

Representative Ruth Bryan Owen announces plans for a permanent national relief commission, with a reserve fund of about $25,000,000, from which the President might make immediate allotments or loans to victims of disaster. The commission would function in cooperation with the Red Cross or other agencies. "The Red Cross," says Mrs. Owen, "may rebuild for a man the house he loses in a flood, but it may not lend him money for seed with which to replant his fields or to replenish his stock. Congress may legislate to provide for such emergencies, but Congress may not be in session, or other delays may intervene to make the emergency the more desperate for the victim and the more expensive for the relief agencies when they finally arrive on the scene." It is Mrs. Owen's objective to correlate, through the commission, all existing relief activities, to systematize the activities of the Government and to make definite and consistent its policy in meeting emergencies and in time of national distress.

There is much merit to the proposal. The Government moves slowly and there have been instances of prolonged suffering brought about through congressional procrastination. If there were an emergency fund relief could be applied immediately and Congress could take all the time it wanted to debate the question of replenishing the relief fund. But a commission such as is proposed by Representative Owen might result in friction with the Red Cross. Perhaps the simplest and most satisfactory plan would be to make available a disaster relief fund that could be expended at the discretion of the President of the United States as president of the Red Cross.

RETIRED OFFICERS' RATINGS.

The Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, Justice Jennings Bailey presiding, yesterday decided three important mandamus actions which grew out of the administration of the emergency officers' retirement act by the Veterans' Bureau. The representative of the United States Attorney defending the cases for the Veterans' Bureau told the court that the decision would affect many hundreds of emergency officers.

The petitioners, who are disabled emergency officers, had once been rated by the bureau and found to be disabled to the degree of disability entitling them to retirement, but the director of the bureau claimed that under the rulings of the Comptroller General and the Attorney General he was authorized to ignore for retirement purposes ratings previously made and to make new ratings; on the basis of the new ratings he refused to place the applicants on the retired list. The three cases were representative cases in the nature of tests, and were brought by Capt. Stanton K. Livingston, of Maryland; Capt. Robert A. Baird, of Florida, and Capt. Eric Nilan, of California.

In the Livingston case, the rating of 31 per cent disability was made more than two years before the retirement act was passed, and was held by the bureau to be illegal on the ground that the doctors making the examination did not include a certain kind of specialist, and also that the rating schedules were improperly applied. In the Nilan case the rating of 47 per cent made after the act was passed was held by the director to be illegal because the facts when reviewed by him were not sufficient to show service connection of the disability. In the Baird case, the 38 per cent disability rating, also made after the retirement act was passed, was held illegal because the director, upon his review, found that the percentage of disability was higher than the facts justified.

The court held that the first ratings were made in accordance with law by those having authority to make them and were final and conclusive and beyond the power of the Veterans' Bureau to disturb.

REGULATION OF RADIO.

It now develops that Representative White and Senator Dill, coauthors of the present radio law, will introduce bills early in the forthcoming regular session providing for the indefinite extension of the administrative life of the Radio Commission. Included in the measures will be certain amendments to the radio act designed to correct "procedural defects" that came to light following its enactment. Little or no opposition to the new proposal is expected in the House, but there need be no doubt that the measure will be opposed in the Senate. The administrative life of the commission expires December 31, and unless Congress acts in the meantime control over radio will revert to the Department of Commerce, which is not equipped for the job and does not want to assume the responsibility.

It is more or less generally agreed that there is need for an entirely new deal in connection with radio control. While the broadcasting structure today is superior to that of the precommission days, there is great room for improvement. Whether or not the existing law has made possible the creation of a broadcasting monopoly, as is charged, and stands in need of revision in this respect, is a question to be considered. The Couzens bill, providing for a creation of a communications commission vested with authority to regulate radio, telegraph, telephone and cable, has merit and ultimately should become law.

In the meantime, radio broadcasting must be kept in leash, and the Radio Commission is the body best suited to the task. It may be several years before more comprehensive legislation can be enacted, and it is unfair to the commission as well as against the better interest of radio users to expect the commission to function efficiently on a temporary basis. The new Dill-White bill would remove an element of uncertainty from radio control and would make possible satisfactory regulation until permanent legislation can be had. The measure should be enacted.

VALUABLE BUILDINGS

From the New York Times.

Computing the dollars and cents value of the world's great buildings throws light on the change in architectural standards for different ages. The Taj Mahal is supposed to have cost some $10,000,000 to build, yet the estimate may be considered extremely conservative because of the low cost of the labor and the fact that much of the material came from the royal domain when it was built, in the seventeenth century. Two of New York's most recent skyscrapers, on the other hand, which are being erected under a bookkeeping system not less precise than the computations of the architects, will cost $14,000,000 and $25,000,000, respectively.

St. Peter's in Rome had an estimated construction cost of $50,000,000, although this figure also must take into consideration low labor costs, as well as the facts that the building was erected on ecclesiastical property and that many parts of it must be considered as gifts to the church. Its present value is, of course, like that of the Taj Mahal, inestimable. The present value of the Capitol in Washington, D. C., is placed at $53,000,000, making it the most valuable building in the country. And the estimate of $22,000,000 for the White House makes it perhaps the most expensive residence in the country.

"It is difficult to say which is the most costly building in the world today," Stanley K. Green, president of the National Realty Corporation, under whose direction these figures were compiled, says. "However, our study shows some interesting facts and indicates that commercial buildings are now approaching monumental buildings in valuation."

The present value of the Palace of Versailles, he points out, has been estimated as high as $100,000,000. And the Houses of Parliament, completed in 1867 at an estimated cost of £3,000,000, have a value today that no one dares compute.

"Determination of early building costs is almost impossible," Mr. Green says:

"The great pyramid of Cheops offers an interesting comparison. This structure, built in 3700 B. C., was a tomb. Its base is 760 feet square and its height 482 feet (or a volume of roughly 93,000,000 cubic feet). King Cheops is said to have employed a force of 100,000 men on it for twenty years. The Chicago Apparel Mart, with a base area of 192,560 square feet, will have a content of 63,000,000 cubic feet. It will be erected between February 1, 1929, and September 30, 1930, and probably will never employ more than 5,000 men at any one time.

"The costly buildings of the past were largely works of art," Mr. Green points out. "Today our costly structures combine art, utility and economic advantage."

JUST FOLKS

LETTING A CONTRACT.

The older salesman better told
The merits of the goods he sold,
And yet the youngster at the door
In some way held our fancy more.
There was a yearning in his eye
Which prompted me from him to buy.

The older salesman, well I knew,
Had all the business he could do;
Experienced, confident and wise,
There was no luster in his eyes.
He'd neither lose nor gain in pride
Whichever way I should decide.

With him the order I could give
Not long in memory would live.
He wished to sell, beyond a doubt,
And yet the lad, just starting out,
Who could not talk as well as he,
More deeply interested me.

"If from this youngster I should buy
To him 'twill mean a lot," thought I
"Those eyes will light with joy to get
This contract which I have to let.
The older man long since has known
The thrill the younger yearns to own."

Perhaps I should not thus be swayed.
The better argument was made
By him who more experience had.
That contract went to cheer a lad.
Some say this is a foolish plan.
But then, I'm not a business man.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to a Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY DEAR LOUISE:

The West where I was born had very little rainfall. The sod had been undisturbed for thousands of years and there wasn't a tree to break the monotony of the level horizon.

When farmers came with their plows and began to plant fruit and shade trees, the climate changed and rains became more frequent.

It wasn't a miracle. Trees absorb moisture, retain it for a while and then breathe it out again to fill the air and provide another rain. And the air descends above a plowed field.

Lands that have no moisture get no rain; where moisture is plentiful, the air absorbs much and has much to return.

Does that give you an idea? If not, consider the struggling genius who pinches pennies while waiting for the world to lend an ear.

He eats crackers and milk in a barren room, and not one of the well-fed who close their doors against him gives a thought to his needs or invites him out to lunch.

Then fame comes overnight and the world unites to do him honor. He is the guest of honor at 40 banquets and everybody invites him to dinner.

The world delights in feeding those who have food enough of their own.

I have given you these two illustrations to show you the universal application of a truth found in the greatest of books: "To him that hath shall be given."

That truth, properly understood and applied to your own problems, will save you many a heartache and bring you many rewards.

This is a selfish world. People idolize the winner because his success encourages them to keep on trying. They scorn the loser because he reminds them of the worst in themselves.

An instinctive pride urges people to "keep up a front;" and if pride alone isn't sufficient to make you follow their example, common sense will show you the reasonableness of it.

"To him that hath shall be given."

If you seem happy, a world eager to share in happiness will come to make holiday with you.

If you seem to have friends, everybody will be friendly.

If you seem to have all you desire, the world will send you gifts—the very gifts it would refuse if you were in need.

I'm not urging you to be a hypocrite. I despise a bluffer. But you must keep a stiff upper lip, hide your sorrows and hungers, and never, never whine.

Every boy wants a date with the girl who has so many she can't give him one until next week.

Love,
DAD.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

MR. TWITCHELL ON A PHASE OF THE EDISON JUBILEE.

Dear Ed: Well, I suppose everybody has been wondering why Henry Ford was the leader in this big celebration of Thomas Edison's discovery of the electric light. Mr. Ford was practically the whole works, staging the jubilee and directing it and everything. He even built a reproduction of Edison's early workshop at Menlo Park and spent a lot of money putting the Edison party across in a big way.

Now, naturally, folks have been asking why, and I think I am in a position to explain it.

Anybody who knows anything about flivvers knows that no owner has ever been able to keep both front lamps lighted. The left front lamp is almost always out, as you may have noticed if you have done any night driving; in fact, whenever you see one headlight coming through the darkness you have been pretty sure it was a Ford.

Well, Henry Ford, despite all his ability and industry, has been unable to remedy the situation and it had begun to bother him, so he said to himself that if he gave Thomas Edison a big party, maybe Thomas, who invented the electric light, would tell him how to keep two of them on the front of a flivver lighted at once. He didn't want to go to Mr. Edison and ask him to solve this problem without first doing something for the wizard of Menlo Park, so he got up his big celebration.

It was a big success and I understand Thomas was so moved he went to Hank and asked if there wasn't something he could do in return. "Sure, there is," replied Ford. "You invented the electric light, didn't you?" "Yes," said Thomas. "Well, tell me how to keep one going on both sides of an automobile," said Hank and Thomas agreed to do it.

I get this pretty straight and I predict that from now on you will not see so many one-eyed flivvers bowling through the night.

Yours truly,
ELMER TWITCHELL.

FOOTBALL AT NIGHT.

The University of North Dakota is following the example of Drake, at Des Moines, and the University of Cincinnati in illuminating its stadium at Grand Forks for football at night. The attendance at Drake jumped from 2,800 on a pleasant afternoon to 8,200 at night, according to the Louisville Courier Journal. Cincinnati found the attendance increased. This is an expedient that probably will not be tried in highly developed football centers which enjoy capacity crowds in the daytime regardless of weather conditions; but colleges that depend upon local city patronage are considering the convenience of people who can not take a day off nearly every week for games during the three months of the season.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Joseph R. Grundy and the Senate Lobby Committee—Open and Patriotic Service of a Tariff "Lobbyist."

To the Editor of the Post—Sir: The Senate investigating committee thought it had found in "Joe" Grundy the typical tariff lobbyist. The committee cast its net for sinister, corrupt and mercenary parasites who make their living preying on innocent members of Congress. Thus far it has found none of that ilk, though there must be many of them in Washington.

Nothing that was brought out in the committee hearing discredited Mr. Grundy in the least. He proved himself a citizen interested in politics and good government. After the manner in which the Senate has run wild, he can even be excused for the intimation that his services were needed in Washington to keep the Republican party straight. He felt that he could be of assistance in maintaining the principle of protection, which has made the country prosperous. What can be said against a man who spends thousands of dollars out of his own pocket to work for the interests of his party, his State and his country? These include personal interests, of course, but when the good of the majority is sought openly there is no fear of demoralizing Congress or influencing unwise legislation.

Mr. Grundy has made the profession of lobbying honorable. Perhaps the country would be less prosperous today, had it been deprived of his services. He has served none the less loyally because he was on the outside of Congress. There are dozens of men in Congress who have done less for the country than he. Why doesn't the committee get after the rats who are fleecing the public by making believe that they can secretly influence Congress? Why spend time trying to make a crime out of honest, open sponsorship of useful legislation?

H. J. ROTHCAP.

Senator Capper's Attitude on Public Schools Commended—Let Congress Provide Schools.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Senator Capper admits that Congress is at fault in not appropriating sufficient funds to carry out the District's five-year school building program, but he insists that the school authorities should share the blame because their estimates of the probable annual increase in enrollment were not exact and because the city has grown in a way that could not be foreseen five years ago. That may be admitted, but what is Congress going to do about it?

Mr. Capper has exhibited an admirable spirit, taking the attitude that Congress must make amends for its neglect as well as the neglect of those making up the District budget. The public schools, he says, are the last place where economizing for the sake of saving money should be practiced. Allow me to commend his judgment that proper care and education of Washington's children are more important than a balanced budget with a fancy surplus.

It is to be hoped that Senator Capper will follow through his conviction that sufficient money should be appropriated this coming year to provide modern school facilities for every child in the District, with a recommendation to Congress for carrying out such a project. The District's schools have been a disgrace long enough. The situation can be changed overnight if ample financing is provided by Congress. Let us see how sincere is the manifest interest of Congress in the local school system. J. L. MARTINEAU.

A Modern Opposes Censorship of Books—Children Already Sophisticated.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The article in The Post of October 25, from the Boston Herald, "Foolish Censorship," appealed to me, as I have read the book, "A Farewell to Arms." The story is a bit outspoken, but it deals with probable events. It is very foolish to stop publication of the story in Scribner's Magazine and yet not stop the book from making its appearance in public. Why is it necessary to censor any books? If a person does not like a certain type of literature he is not forced to read it.

Children may strive to get books which will add to their sophistication, but very few books are published today that enlighten the children. They realize these conditions without having to read of them in books, yet the children of today are able to take care of themselves as well, if not much better, than the children of twenty years ago. Why? Because they are sophisticated. By children I mean those between the ages of 14 and 20. Thoughts can never be censored, so why censor the books which contain these thoughts?

A MODERN.

Is Air Route Over the Arctic Practicable?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The announcement that a new transoceanic airplane service will be launched over the so-called Arctic route between America and Europe will come as a surprise to most people. It is reported that a mail, express and passenger transport service will be operated with the backing of $22,000,000 in capital. The proposed route is from Chicago north to Winnipeg, Baker Lake, Cape Dyer, Baffin Land (where a branch line from New York will come in), across to Greenland and Iceland, and thence by way of the Faroe Islands to Scotland and London.

It has long been argued that this is the most practicable air route across the Atlantic because the emergency landings are closer together. Numerous supply stations, it is argued, make it possible to carry heavy loads of paying cargo and less gasoline. It must be admitted that these are good arguments, but the weather of the Arctic route is so severe as to discourage most airmen who have actually given it a trial. The Swedish fliers who set out last spring to prove the worth of this route never did complete their journey. Some planes have made the trip, but the larger number of failures make the announcement that a regular transport line will be operated over that route a complete surprise. KARL D. JACOBS.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Many Dinners Given Before Winter Fetes

Envoys' Entertainments Approach Stateliness of Official Events.

By JEAN ELIOT.

GIVING dinners—or dining out—has always been the favorite form of entertaining in Washington. When the official season is under way invitations are issued three or four weeks ahead of the date selected. Just now, of course, much less ceremony is observed and, although there are occasional dinners of a certain stateliness and official importance—such as the sundry embassy and legation parties given for the foreign delegates to the International Institute of Law—even these are more or less impromptu.

The Cuban Ambassador and Senora de Ferrara entertained a very distinguished company of guests last night, who were asked to meet Mr. Harry F. Guggenheim, newly appointed United States Ambassador to Cuba, and Mrs. Guggenheim. But even for this rather ceremonial occasion, the invitations were issued by telephone after Mr. and Mrs. Guggenheim had arrived in Washington a few days ago.

Dr. Don Jose de Yanguas, president of the Spanish National Assembly, and Senora de Yanguas were among the guests, as were Dr. and Senora Simon Planas Suarez, both bieng in town with the delegation to the Institute of International Law. Other guests were Mrs. William A. Culbertson, wife of the United States Ambassador to Chile; Senor Don Mariano Amoedo, Charge d'Affaires of Spain; Mrs. Henry P. Dimock, Mrs. Lawrence Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Pell, Miss Victoria Catalani, Miss Elsie Quinby, Dr. Santiago F. Bedoya, of the Peruvian Embassy; Senor Jose Linares-Rivas, of the Spanish Embassy, and Dr. and Senora Jose T. Baron, Dr. Pedro Capote and Dr. and Senora Gonzalo Guell, of the Cuban Embassy group.

Senora de Sanchez-Latour, widow of a former Minister of Guatemala to the United States, had twenty guests dining with her last evening—the hostess having but recently returned from a visit in New York.

Several parties have been given which were of special interest to the younger contingent of society. One was a dinner at the Army and Navy Club, with Lieut. Willard Holbrook, jr., as host. He has recently come to Washington for station and he entertained for Miss Eleanor Riley, of Albany, Ga., who is visiting his father, Maj. Gen. Willard A. Holbrook.

The other guests were Maj. and Mrs. Charles Buxby, Capt. and Mrs. Julian W. Cunningham, Capt. and Mrs. Mark A. Devine, jr., Lieut. and Mrs. D. W. Sawtelle, Lieut. Hugh B. Waddell, Lieut. Thomas Robinson, Miss Henrietta Riley and Mrs. Robert Riley, of Albany, Ga.

Another was the bachelor dinner of Mr. Ennalls Waggaman, jr. It was given at the home of his parents, Maj. and Mrs. Ennalls Waggaman, and the guests were the men who will attend him at his marriage tonight to Miss Virginia Belt, daughter of Mrs. Alvin Green Belt.

This will be one of the important events of a day which also will be marked by the marriage of Miss Florence Wetherill, daughter of Mrs. F. H. Mistretta, to Mr. Albert Walker.

President Receives Law Institute Delegates.

The President and Mrs. Hoover received the delegates who have been attending the meeting of the International Institute of Law and ladies accompanying the group at the White House yesterday. Tea was served following the formal reception. The drawing rooms were flower bedecked and the orchestra from the Marine Band played throughout the afternoon.

As an international courtesy and by request of the Secretary of State, the quartermaster general of the Army is placing the boat Rucker at the disposal of the International Water Commission, to entertain visiting members of the Mexican section and their wives with a trip to Mount Vernon this afternoon.

The Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur will be members of the party, as will Mr. and Mrs. William Atherton Du Puy.

Members of the Mexican section are Mr. Fortunate Dozal, chairman, and Mrs. Dozal; Mr. and Mrs. Gustavo P. Serrano, Mr. and Mrs. Ignacio Lopez Bancalari and two daughters, Mr. Frederico Ramos, secretary of the delegation; Mr. Armando Santacruz, technical adviser, and Mrs. Santacruz, Mr. J. L. Favela, Mr. A. Becerril Colin, Mr. Charles G. Blake, Mrs. Colin and Mrs. Blake.

The American section is made up of Dr. Elwood Mead, chairman; Gen. Lansing H. Beach, Mr. W. E. Anderson, Mrs. Mead, Mrs. Anderson, Miss M. A. Sehnurr, secretary; Mr. Frank Adams, Mr. Earl F. Keeler, engineers; Miss Keeler and Mrs. Keeler.

The first meeting for the season of the Federation of Women's Clubs will be held at the Hotel Roosevelt this morning at 11 o'clock. The speaker at the morning session will be Mr. Arthur Deerin Call, editor of Peace Advocate, who will have as his subject "Three Discoveries Made in Europe This Summer." At the afternoon session Miss Rita Rozada, Spanish contralto, will be featured in a musical hour. Mrs. Gertrude Lyons will assist in the community singing.

Mrs. Arthur J. Seaton, chairman of music for the federation, will have as her guests at luncheon Mrs. DeWitt Croissant, Mrs. Josephine Griffith, Mrs. Gertrude Lyons and Miss Rita Rozada.

Mrs. Edgar B. Merritt, president of the federation, will have as guests Mrs. Arthur Deerin Call, Mrs. Wallace Streeter, Mrs. W. W. Scott and Mrs. H. M. Hunter.

The Vice President, Mr. Charles Curtis, returned yesterday from New York, where he went to attend a dinner given by Mr. Jeremiah Milbank, at the University Club, in compliment to Mr. Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican National Committee.

The Ambassador of Turkey, Ahmed Mouhter Bey, will entertain at a supper party Tuesday evening at the embassy. It will follow the reception which the ambassador is giving in the afternoon to celebrate the anniversary of the establishment of the Turkish Republic.

The Minister of Hungary and Countess Szechenyi will end their season at Newport today and will go to Westbury, L. I., to visit Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney before returning to Washington.

The Minister of China, Dr. C. C. Wu, has returned to the legation. After attending the sessions of the Assembly of the League of Nations in Geneva, as China's representative, he made a trip through the Balkans. The three daughters of the Chinese Minister who arrived in Washington recently from China with their mother, Mme. Wu, have entered the public schools. The two elder girls are students at Western High School and the youngest attends a grade school.

The first visit of Mr. Eric H. Louw, new Minister of the Union of South Africa to the United States, and Mrs. Louw in the Capital will be brief. Arriving at the Willard last evening, they propose to return to New York on Monday and will be at the Delmonico Hotel, where they stayed for a few days after landing from the S. S. Majestic.

Commander J. C. Aguirre, Brazilian Naval Attache, has returned from New York, where he went to meet his wife and son, Ronald, who arrived on October 19 on the S. S. Carmania from England, where they visited the former's mother. Commander Aguirre has just taken up his residence at 1424 Sixteenth street northwest.

Current Topic Lectures Are Revived Here

Miss Janet Richards Is Pioneer in Conducting Course for Society.

In response to many requests, Miss Janet Richards will resume her annual course of lectures on "Public Questions" this season and will give her first talk on Monday, November 4, in the Masonic Temple Auditorium. The lectures will be given weekly on Monday morning at 10:45 o'clock.

Courses on current topics are enjoying a considerable vogue nowadays. Several well-known women conduct them regularly and each course is interesting in its particular way, but Miss Richards mothered the idea in Washington and her talks have been a feature of the season for nearly twenty years. She has been decorated by the French government for her work on behalf of the allies and she has made interesting contacts both at home and abroad which have aided her materially in forming a broad outlook on politics and world affairs.

This season the results of the recent "good-will" visit of Britain's premier, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, and plans for the third naval parity conference to be held in London in January, with their grave implication, will be followed closely, and important congressional legislation will be considered throughout the course.

Among Miss Richards' regular patrons of long standing are Senora de Ferrara, wife of the Cuban Ambassador; Mrs. William Howard Taft, Senora de Alfaro, Mrs. Claude A. Swanson, Mrs. James E. Watson, Mrs. Thomas F. Bayard, Mrs. Guy D. Goff, Mrs. Charles P. Summerall, Mrs. Alexander Mackay-Smith, Mrs. Wilbur J. Carr, Mrs. John Hays Hammond, Mrs. Charles Boughton Wood, Mrs. Robert Lansing, Mrs. Sydney Cloman, Mrs. Sol Bloom, Mrs. Wade Ellis, Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins, Mrs. Gibson Fahnestock, Mrs. William Barret Ridgely, Mrs. Beale R. Howard, Mrs. John C. Fremont, Mrs. Frederick William Wile, Mrs. Jennings Hackett, Mrs. E. K. Goldsborough, Mrs. Josiah Crane and Mrs. John M. Biddle.

In view of the absorption of women in the stock market of late, there is a special interest in the series of lectures—for women—which is being arranged by the Continental Trust Co., of which Col. Wade H. Cooper is president. The first will be held on the morning of November 4 at the Willard, with "The New York Stock Exchange" as the subject. The lecturer is to be Mr. Jason Westerfield, publicity manager of the stock exchange.

Acceptances are being received daily, and among those who are expected to be present at this first meeting are Mrs. Isaac T. Mann, Mrs. Price Whitaker, Mrs. Charles A. Douglas, Mrs. Nathan B. Scott, sr., Mrs. Nathan B. Scott 2d, Mrs. Peter Hill Dunn, Mrs. Russell L. Gilbert, Mrs. Conrad Syme, Mrs. Chauncey Williams, Mrs. Charles W. Warden, Mrs. Ben C. Hartig, Mrs. Frank A. Carpenter, Mrs. Norman Fischer, Mrs. Charles A. Goldsmith, Mrs. N. B. Dial, Mrs. Harry A. Swaggart, Mrs. Robert M. Gates, Mrs. David Wing and Mrs. Kenna Elkins.

Mrs. E. Riggs Ledig, of New Orleans and Washington, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Violet Ledig, to Mr. Charles Carr Koones, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Kneller Koones, of Washington. The wedding will take place on November 23.

Secretary of War To Be Dinner Guest.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. Good will be the ranking guests at a dinner to be given by the Chief of Staff and Mrs. Charles P. Summerall at the Willard preceding the Army dance there on Novembe 22.

Secretary and Mrs. Good will go today from New York to New Haven to attend the West Point-Yale football game and will be guests of Dr. James Rowland Angell, president of Yale University, and Mrs. Angell until tomorrow, when they will return to Washington. Mrs. Good, who has been in Iowa for several weeks, joined the secretary in New York at the close of his trip through the West with President Hoover.

Mr. William P. Vallance, assistant solicitor of the State Department, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Hay Adams House for Sir Cecil Hurst, one of the judges of the world court, who is visiting in Washington. The other guests were Solicitor General Charles Evans Hughes, jr., Mr. G. H. Hackworth, solicitor of the State Department; Mr. Richard W. Flournoy, Mr. Grosvenor Backus, Mr. Howard LeRoy, Mr. Frederick K. Nielson, Mr. Stanley Udy and Mr. G. H. MacDonald.

Mrs. Lawrence Townsend will leave town today for Philadelphia and will attend on Mondry the Philadelphia Orchestra concert at which Nathan Milstein, violinist, is to be soloist. The young Russian, who is among the artists who are to appear in Mrs. Townsend's series of morning musicales, created a furore when he made his American debut recently in Toronto, Canada. From Philadelphia Mrs. Townsend will go to New York for the opening of the Metropolitan Opera on Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Ward, of Charleston, W. Va., are at the Mayflower, accompanied by Miss Virginia Ramsden, of Luddenden, England, who will sail from New York in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic A. Delano and Mrs. Newlands Johnston are at the Gladstone Hotel in New York.

Chief Justice Will Be Host At Breakfast

Midday Affair Planned for Mrs. Ballinger, Here on Visit.

The Chief Justice and Mrs. William Howard Taft will entertain at a midday breakfast tomorrow in compliment to Mrs. Richard A. Ballinger, of Seattle, widow of a former Secretary of the Interior, who has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. M. Ballinger Berryhill, for a fortnight. She will be entertained at luncheon today by Miss Jessie Dell, Civil Service Commissioner, at Meridian Mansions. This hospitality is one of many given for Mrs. Ballinger, who is in Washington for the first time since her residence here in President Taft's administration.

Last evening Mr. William E. Humphreys, of the Federal Trade Commission, and Mrs. Humphreys gave a dinner at Meridian Mansions. Also yesterday Mrs. Ballinger was the guest in whose honor Miss Sophie Casey gave a luncheon at the Army and Navy Club. Others entertaining through the week for Mrs. Ballinger were Mrs. William Sherman Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Ashmun Brown, Miss Dorinda Rogers, Mrs. Webster Ballinger and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Underwood. Mr. Underwood is special representative of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce. On Thursday Mrs. Berryhill entertained at luncheon at her apartment in Meridian Mansions.

Senator and Mrs. Otis Glenn returned to Washington yesterday from Newport, R. I., where they were the guests of Mrs. Paul Fitzsimons and her son, Mr. William K. Vanderbilt, at dinner Thursday evening. Senator and Mrs. Felix Hebert, of Rhode Island, also were guests at the dinner, and later the two senators spoke at the meeting of the Women's Republican Club, of which Mrs. Fitzsimons is president.

Mrs. Joseph Leiter is making a short visit at her summer home at Beverly Farms, Mass., and will return to Washington in a week or ten days. Meanwhile Miss Nancy Leiter is spending a few days with Mrs. Henry B. Spencer in New York.

The dinner and dance which Mr and Mrs. Leiter will give for their brother-in-law a[t] sister, Mr. and Mrs. Huston Rawls, who are coming

MERGER EFFECTED BY TWO CHURCHES

APPROVAL IS UNANIMOUS

Piqua, Ohio, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Merger of the National Council of Congregational Churches and the general convention of the Christian Church, bringing 1,800,000 members of the two denominations into a single organization, was effected here today when delegates of the Christian Church unanimously approved the action.

The plan of merger was one offered by the Congregationalists at their national meeting in Detroit last May. It was adopted with only minor changes.

The action was regarded by many prominent clergymen gathering here as a first great step toward Christian unity. The combined denominations will be known as the general council of Congregational and Christian Churches, and an invitation will be extended to other Evangelical bodies to join.

The merger permits members of both denominations to retain their respective beliefs and to develop their own forms of expression, but the general council will perform on behalf of both churches the functions formerly exercised by both governing bodies.

The union will be completed as soon as necessary legal steps can be taken. It is the plan during the first four years to have the moderator of the Congregationalists and the president of the Christian convention serve coordinately in directing the affairs.

The Rev. Frank G. Coffin, of Columbus, is president of the general convention and Fred B. Smith, of White Plains, N. Y., moderator of the national council. The Christian Church originally scheduled to elect officers for the new year today but the election was postponed in anticipation of the favorable vote on the merger.

The heads of both denominations were present when the vote was taken. The balloting, followed a report from a commission of the general convention, recommending approval of the consolidation.

The Christian Church, as distinguished from the Disciples of Christ, is a smaller body, with 1,000 congregations and 112,000 members.

Funeral Planned For Mrs. Goodhue

Last Rites for Mother of Mrs. Coolidge Will Be Held Today.

Northampton, Mass., Oct. 25 (A.P.). The pastor who has officiated before when grief has come to the Coolidge family, the Rev. Kenneth B. Welles, of Albany, N. Y., will direct the funeral services tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock for the late Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, mother of the wife of the former President, Calvin Coolidge. Rev. Mr. Welles was the attending clergyman at the funeral of Calvin Coolidge, jr., in July, 1924. The funeral will be held at the Edwards Congregational Church, which Mrs. Goodhue regularly attended before her last illness. The present pastor, the Rev. James N. Armstrong, jr., will assist Rev. Mr. Welles, who was pastor there before going to Albany.

A representative of President Hoover, Col. Townsend Wheelan, of the Springfield Armory, at Springfield, arrived here today on orders of Maj. Gen. Preston Brown, commander of the First Corps Area. He will be succeeded by Gen. Merwether, E. Walker, of Boston, on the latter's arrival.

The body, accompanied by the family and friends, will be taken to Burlington, Vt., on a train leaving at 12:40 p. m. Burial will be in the Goodhue family lot in Burlington Sunday morning.

DISTRICT INQUIRY GETS START TODAY

some other means of getting the information it is after. What it will do in such a case probably is to hire a special investigator.

For its expenses the subcommittee has been given $500, but it would be a simple matter to get more if it were needed.

While today's meeting, which will begin at 10:30 o'clock in the office of the Senate District committee, will be executive, it is expected that subsequent meetings will be open to the public.

Who the witnesses will be at the next meeting probably will be decided today. The prospect is that, unless the three official reports which the subcommittee has before it are satisfactory, the first witnesses will be those who wrote them—Maj. Pratt, United States Attorney Leo A. Rover and Police Court Judge Gus A. Schuldt.

Citizen Complaints Received.

The subcommittee may want to ask Pratt more about the suspension of Allen, take up with Rover the last Chinese tong murder, and question Judge Schuldt about the issuance of revolver permits to Chinese and others.

Since Blease set out to bring about the present investigation, the subcommittee has been swamped by letters from individuals. Their character is as varied as are the types of persons who sent them in.

They contain alleged information concerning the death of Headquarters Detective Arthur Scrivener, the murder of Virginia McPherson or some crime long forgotten until the present recrudescence of such matters. One letter, for example, charges that Senator Brandegee, of Connecticut, was murdered and was not a suicide as the coroner said.

Other letters flay the local Police Department, alleging everything from discourtesy to bribe-taking. And there are some that contain praise. Of these, most were written by friends of Capt. Doyle.

Two Teachers Allowed Cyclone Reparations

Front Royal, Va., Oct. 24.—Establishing what is considered a precedent in legal and insurance circles, the State Industrial Commission, sitting in Richmond last week, upheld the claims of Miss Mary Stark and Mrs. Elizabeth B. Browning, two Rappahannock County school teachers that were injured when the cyclone wrecked their two-room schoolhouse at Woodville last May.

Their claims were that they were injured while in line of duty. Under the ruling the two teachers will receive full compensation for the time they were incapacitated and reimbursement for the outlays for medical attention. Defendants in the case were the Rappahannock County School Board and the Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York.

WHO'ZAT?

("WHOZIT?" is a test of your knowledge of history and current events. The statements below describe a character whom you should be able to identify. Match your knowledge and memory against those of your friends.)

1. He was a native of Ireland.
2. He was the leader of a party known as the "United Irishmen."
3. He was noted as an orator.
4. He was opposed to British rule in Ireland.
5. His activities against the government resulted in his execution in 1803.

CAPITAL CATHOLICS TO OBSERVE FEAST

Christ's Kingship Celebration Will Be Occasion for Thanksgiving Rites.

5,000 TO BE AT SHRINE

The Feast of Christ the King, in which millions of Catholics all over the world will participate tomorrow, will be celebrated in Washington with a colorful service at the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening.

More than 5,000 persons are expected to attend this service, which will be in the form of thanksgiving for the recent settlement of the Roman question and adjustment of the religious difficulties in Mexico. The Feast of the Kingship of Christ was established in 1925 by Pope Pius XI.

Throng Will Pledge Fealty.

The service here will rise to a height of spiritual grandeur when the more than 5,000 Catholics present will hold aloft their hands and give the pledge of fealty to God and country. As the Sacred Host is raised above them in solemn benediction, they will kneel in adoration.

The sermon will be preached by the Very Rev. Edward Gregory Fitzgerald, of the Dominican House of Studies, chaplain of the Catholic University of America. He is expected to bring a message of historical importance. Patriotism and religion will intermingle in the service.

Non-Catholics have been invited to attend. The music for the occasion will be under direction of the Dominican Fathers.

Rector to Give Benediction.

The Right Rev. Msgr. P. C. Gavan, rector of the Shrine of the Sacred Heart and spiritual director of the Washington Holy Name Union, will impart the solemn benediction which will bring the services to a close. He will be assisted by the Rev. Edward H. Roach, as deacon, and the Rev. Michael W. Hyle, subdeacon.

Among the Catholic organization which will attend the demonstration will be the Knights of Columbus, Ancient Order of Hibernians, Catholic Daughters of America, Knights of St. John, the Catholic Knights of America and the Curley Club. Students of Catholic University will occupy assigned places in the crypt of the National Shrine.

Plans for the ceremony have been made by the officers of the Washington section of the Baltimore Archdiocesan Union of Holy Name Societies, under direction of Caesar L. Aiello, vice president, and Francis Anthony McCann, secretary.

LYNCH WILL PROSECUTE CHARGES AGAINST POLICE

broker, whom Allen recently rearrested on complaint of a private citizen.

Maj. Pratt refused to make public the charges as prepared by Luckett, declaring that it would be improper to do so before they were formally served on the accused policemen. Bride also refused to make them public and Lynch said that it would not be proper to do so for the same reason. Lynch declared that study of the letters and the police manual and the charges as framed by Luckett might cause him to suggest changes in the specifications. He expected to complete his study of the case in time to have the charges in final shape and formally served on Doyle and Allen today, he said.

Earlier in the day Chapman W. Fowler, Capt. Doyle's attorney, called on Maj. Pratt and presented him with a letter objecting on behalf of Doyle to the personnel of the regular trial board.

He based his challenge on the ground that two members of t'e board, Capt. William G. Stott, of the Third Precinct, and Capt. O. T. Davis, of the Second Precinct, were younger than Doyle.

"As attorney for Capt. Robert E. Doyle," Fowler's letter said, "I hereby challenge Capts. Stott and Davis to sit as members of the trial board designed to try Capt. Doyle."

This formal challenge was elaborated on by Fowler verbally. He said that Doyle would be willing to waive his right of appeal if the District Commsisioners wished to sit as a trial board. He suggested that business men be named as a trial board.

Maj. Pratt immediately named three other captains as alternates to serve on the trial board in place of the men challenged by Doyle.

Pratt Obdurate on Board.

He declared, however, that he would not recommend appointment of an extraordinary trial board, pointing out that the District Commissioners, in returning his recommendation that they suspend Doyle and Allen, had instructed that the matter be handled as would any ordinary case.

Capt. C. P. M. Lord, of the Thirteenth Precinct, is regularly assigned as an alternate to the trial board.

Maj. Pratt apparently was willing to give both Doye and Allen opportunity for additional challenges, however, and named Capt. Charles T. Peck, of the Eleventh Precinct; Capt. J. E. Wilson, of the Ninth Precinct, and Capt. W. E. Sanford, of the Fifth Precinct, as additional alternates. This was approved by Commissioner Dougherty.

Inspector Stoll Is Member.

Inspector Louis J. Stoll is chairman of the trial board. Inasmuch as he ranks above Doyle, the plea that the challenged captains had not lived as many years as Doyle had would not apply in his case, and so no mention was made of Stoll. All of the four alternates are older than Doyle.

That Doyle does not intend to take any loose chances with his defense despite his professed and apparent confidence in the outcome of his trial was indicated when it was announced that T. Morris Wampler would aid Fowler in the defense.

Fowler Ready for Trial.

After leaving Maj. Pratt's office yesterday Fowler said that he would be prepared to go to trial Wednesday when the trial board meets in regular session. The defense, he said, would be conducted in an orderly and dignified manner, adding that "there will be no mud slinging."

He expressed the same confidence in the exoneration of Doyle as Doyle had himself.

"If the Police Department can get three men who can find any evidence of official misconduct in Capt. Doyle's report defending Allen's criticism of the United States attorney's office, I'll be surprised. We feel pretty safe in our position," Fowler said.

Apparently, however, he saw Doyle's case as one thing and Allen's as another, for he indicated that he would prefer to have a separate trial for the suspended police captain. If the two are tried separately it was said that Doyle, ready to proceed with his defense on Wednesday, probably would be tried first.

Allen's trial would await the conclusion of the captain who championed him.

Allen May Challenge Also.

H. Ralph Burton and Tench T. Marye have been retained as counsel for Allen, who several days ago declared he would not be satisfied to be tried by the regular trial board. Allen may, of course, as did Doyle, challenge any member of the trial board. But reasons must be given for challnege of a board member.

Usually a mere statement from an accused policeman is sufficient to cause the board chairman to agree to an alternate serving. Alternates also may be challenged for reason, but the trial board chairman rules on the objections.

Allen, it was said flatly, will not be given a trial by an especially named extraordinary board.

Builds Plane in Barn.

Wichita, Kans., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Dale Walter, 21-year-old youth, of Severy, Kans., has built an airplane that flies—with blow torch, hammer, saw, drawing knife and pocket knife. The plane, built in the boy's barn, is powered with a 40-horsepower motor and passed test flights successfully.

CIVILIAN ENGINEERS IN CANAL JOB ASKED

COUNCIL FAVORS BILL

Appointment by President Hoover of civilian engineers on the proposed International Board of Engineers, to plan the construction of a waterway for ocean-going vessels from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic Ocean by way of the St. Lawrence River, and the Welland Canal, was requested by the Committee on Public Affairs of the American Engineering Council at the closing session yesterday of the administrative board of the council at the Mayflower Hotel.

The proposed International Board of Engineers will include American and Canadian representatives in equal number. The American members of the board will be a representative of the Army engineering corps and others to be appointed by the President.

After officially indorsing the congressional bill to provide the waterway, the board recommended that a fair representation of civil engineers be included on the board which will plan the project.

The board also approved the bill authorizing the employment of civilian consulting engineers for the Air Corps and the Ordinance Department, but it did not favor the compensation proposed for the engineers employed. The bill would authorize the Secretary of the Interior to employ engineers and pay them $50 a day, the maximum compensation allowed for any person in any year to be $3,500.

The administrative board of the council, which represents 57,600 professional engineers and 24 national, local and State engineering societies, considered during its session more than 25 bills and resolutions pending before Congress which affect the engineering profession.

The board also decided that the engineering profession in the United States should undertake the reconstruction of the Potomac Canal as its part in the George Washington bicentennial celebration and in tribute to the engineering ability of the first President.

The Potomac Canal is the only relic of Washington as an engineer left in this country, according to Maj. Garner S. Williams, who drafted the recommendation favoring the project. The canal was built by Washington to take boats around the Great Falls of the Potomac River.

The council has already made a preliminary study of the remains of the canal and a topographic map of the site has been prepared. It is expected that completion of the work will require about $250,000.

Trader Disappeared In Wall Street Chaos

New York, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Police were asked today to search for Abraham Germansky, said to be a wealthy real estate operator, who disappeared in the turmoil of the financial district yesterday.

Bernard H. Sandler, an attorney acting for Mrs. Germansky, said the real estate man was a heavy investor in securities. The lawyer quoted Mrs. Germansky as telling him her husband was seen late yesterday near the stock exchange with a strip of ticker tape in his hand which he was tearing into bits and scattering the scraps alone the sidewalk as he walked through Wall street.

Realtor Shoots Self; Ruined by Speculation

Chicago, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—C. Fred Stewart, 49, one-time wealthy real estate operator in suburban Evanston, committed suicide today by asphyxiation. His wife attributed his act to despair over losses in the recent crash of the stock market.

Stewart, former president of the Evanston Real Estate Board, had suffered losses in connection with his business and had invested in stocks in an effort to recoup, his wife said. The slump this week virtually wiped him out, associates said.

Central Mission To Fete Founding

Banquet and Large Public Meeting Will Be Held in Two Days.

The forty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Central Union Mission will be celebrated with a banquet and annual meeting at the Raleigh Hotel tonight and a city-wide mass meeting in Calvary Baptist Church at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Rescue Mission superintendents from many cities will attend both affairs, and to-morrow morning will occupy pulpits in local churches. The music at both the banquet and mass meeting will be in charge of Homer Rodeheaver, of Chicago, evangelist singer and trombonist, for 20 years a chorister with Billy Sunday. He will be assisted by his sister, Miss Ruth Rodeheaver Thomas.

The banquet tonight will be presided over by E. H. DeGroot, president of the mission's board of directors. Several pastors of Washington churches will speak. At the mass meeting tomorrow afternoon, the Rev J. R. Sizoo, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, will be the principal speaker.

A. & P. STORES ENJOY ANNIVERSARY SALE

Chain Completes 70th Jubilee Celebration Throughout United States.

RAPID GROWTH IS CITED

Celebrating the seventieth anniversary of the founding of the chain, the great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. stores in Washington, in connection with thousands of other stores in the United States, have just completed a week of anniversary sales.

Interesting figures in connection with the growth of A. & P. stores are given out by S. W. Zink, superintendent of stores in the Capital. The first A. & P. store was located on Vesey street, in New York City, in 1859. Since that year the chain has grown until it now numbers 15,000 stores, serving 34 States and sections of Canada.

A. & P. stores are reported to maintain 30 coffee offices in South America, shipping directly to stores in this country. More than one-tenth of all coffee purchased in the United States is sold by the A. & P. In tea sales the chain has an even better record, it is asserted, selling one-seventh of the tea consumed, most of the tea being purchased at auctions in India and Ceylon.

The company maintains 30 modern bakeries, supplying its customers with nearly 2,000,000 loaves of bread daily; sells 150,000,000 pounds of butter annually; handles a billion eggs each year and operates six canneries in Alaska to pack salmon.

The Atlantic & Pacific chain lays claim to more than 5,000,000 customers daily.

E. S. SHUMAKER, 61, DRY LEADER, DIES

CRITICIZED COURT EDICT

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Death brought to an end this afternoon the lingering illness of E. S. Shumaker, for the last 22 years superintendent of the Indiana Antisaloon League.

For several weeks the leader of the State prohibition forces has been steadily sinking. It was revealed recently by his physician, Dr. Charles H. Sowder, that he was afflicted with a malignant tumor. His death occurred at 4:40 p. m.

Wide attention was attracted to the dry leader's activities by the imposition on him of a penal farm sentence for contempt of the Indiana Supreme Court. He served 53 days on the farm early in 1929, after a long but unsuccessful court battle to escape the sentence. He was accused of having publish articles criticising members of the court for their decisions in liquor cases.

Relatives at Bedside.

Shumaker had suffered much pain early this afternoon and for a time was semiconscious. Shortly before his death he rested easier and was able to recognize members of his family, all of whom were at his bedside with the exception of his son, Wayne, who is attending DePauw University, at Greencastle, Ind.

He had been able to be at his office but a few days since his release from the penal farm. After a few weeks at his home here he went to Battle Creek, Mich., and received treatment there. He came back to Indianapolis several weeks ago. He was 61 years old.

Battling "demon rum" was almost a life-long engagement of Shumaker. At Greenville, Ohio, his birthplace, he was a young boy when he witnessed saloon brawls and poverty in the homes of men addicted to drink. These conditions convinced him early in life, he said, that the liquor traffic should be abolished and he decided that he would enlist in the cause of prohibition.

Ordained as Minister.

Shumaker spent a part of his boyhood in Effingham County, Ill. He came to Indiana in 1889 at the age of 21 years and completed his college education at DePauw University. In 1890 he was ordained a minister in the Methodist Episcopal Church.

In 1903, at the insistense of Bishop Isaac Joyce, of Cincinnati, he left the ministry to begin his services with the Indiana Antisaloon League. In 1907 he was elected State superintendent of the league.

Shumaker believed in universal prohibition. "The world must be all dry or all wet," he often said.

Friends of the dry leader have said that his incarceration at the penal farm and the long court fight which preceded the serving of the sentence sapped his strength in the later years of his life.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

DOUBTLESS a wail will go up from listeners here when it is learned that Washington is not scheduled for the new Westinghouse program, which is expected to be the most pretentious and elaborate radio presentation ever to go on the air. It might be confided that if the wail is loud and long enough we still would stand a chance of getting it as it would seem there is nothing of sufficient importance on WRC to prevent their taking it, if the Westinghouse people should decide in the eleventh hour to include the Capital.

Word comes that $500,000 is to be spent and a novel feature will be that the company's products will not be exploited on the air. A 50-piece orchestra, a choir of 40 voices, and a cast of 20 actors will be combined to produce the hour.

The orchestra, to be conducted by Cesare Sodero, of the National Grand Opera Co., actually will be a 90-piece group, the announcement explains, for the 40 voices in the choir will be considered as instruments and the musical scores for the singers will be written in the same manner as the music is prepared for the regular musicians in the orchestra. Instead of words, the singers will use only the tones of the human voices.

Another departure in the production will be that the customary announcer will be eliminated. Instead listeners will hear the voice of Pedro de Cordoba, an actor, whose voice will link together the various parts of the program. The presentation will be inaugurated at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, November 6.

AN argument advanced by Commissioner Harold A. Lafount, of Utah, who, by the way, is one of the up-and-coming members of the commission, in his idea of presenting test Government programs in an effort to get a cross-section of what the people want, is that the Federal Radio Commission is not hearing from the listening public the way it should, that listeners have stopped writing. Perhaps a reason for this is that they have heard the rumor floating around town that one radio commissioner, for instance, fails to acknowledge or even to read about one-third of the letters and complaints he receives.

Also that 200,000 telegrams, letters and postcards, many of which it is alleged were never even looked at, much less read, were sold by the commission last summer for a few dollars as waste paper. Since then another vast quantity of communications has accumulated. Because of their bulk, The Post learns, it has been necessary for the commission to rent a large room at the old St. James Hotel to house the complaints until there is another waste paper sale.

Among the prize exhibits are two huge boxes of fan letters and telegrams regarding the station WGY, Schenectady, controversy, estimated at 500,000, which must be impounded until the United States Supreme Court decides the case; also a huge box from station WENR, Chicago, impounded because of court action. Three immense packing cases, painted red, white and blue, contain the written outbursts with regard to station KWKH, of Shreveport, La., "Hello, World! Dog-gons you!" Altogether there are estimated to be more than 1,500,000 pieces of discarded fan mail at the St. James Hotel.

THE question then naturally arises if these have proved a white elephant to the Radio Commission, how many trees will the commissioners try to climb if 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 letters or questionnaires are dumped onto them, which broadcasters intimate may be the net result if both chains go to it seeking public opinion?

"And where would it get the commission?" a broadcaster, somewhat warm under the collar, inquired yesterday. "What if 500,000 persons say a program feature is rotten and 500,000 say it is wonderful—who is right? Naturally the broadcasters want to give people what they want but they have long since learned that if they try to please everybody they please nobody.

"Where does Commissioner Lafount get the idea that the programs are so bad that they need his advice to improve them? Here's one of the head men in radio intimating the situation is such that it is up to him to clean it up. I realize, of course, that his intentions are of the best."

"WHAT'S Lafount's idea, anyway?" asked another broadcaster, slightly red in the face. "On this 'ideal' Government program is he going to stage President Hoover with a jazz accompaniment? What does he mean by a Government program? It might be the Marine Band, a Cabinet officer, a talk such as that given weekly by Julius Klein. What is there in that broadcasters are not doing already?

"The thing, of course, is aimed at Chains, and if the chain station programs are so bad, why do so many people want to listen to them, why has one of the chains a waiting list of 200 stations which want to tie up with it?

"Why is it that Senator Borah, of Idaho, has been urged to use his influence to get the chain extended so the Boise station can tie in? And why has Senator Nye, of North Dakota, been asked to help the one at Bismarck? A little matter of $175,000 wire charge stands in the way, otherwise those stations would be hooked up with the rest of them."

AS explained by Commissioner Lafount, although he made no reference to the chains, one of the objects of the test would be to determine what stations the people of the country could listen to most to determine how much duplication there is.

The inside story of Mr. Lafount's suggestion that the Government put on a test program is that one of the things which prompted it was an assertion credited to Judge Ira E. Robinson, chairman of the commission, who hails from West Virginia, that 95 per cent of the people preferred to hear a good old-fashioned Methodist hymn sung rather than most of the classical music they now get over the air.

Wives of Tomorrow

"Little Things."

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE CHARLES J. DRUHAN, of New York City, recently granted 30 divorces in a single day. When asked what in his opinion really caused two people to hate each other where once they had loved, he said:

"The little things. The mean little everyday things that crop up and eat into love, and shame it, and make life seem too unlovely to be endured. Teach young people how to accept little things, laugh them off, shrug them off, at any rate, dismiss them, and you would see a big drop in the divorce rate."

Jeanne B. writes today of a love almost shamed out of existence by a "little" thing. A dull-witted husband, a dull-witted friend, and the finely sensitive Jeanne is left to wonder how a world can be so shadowed and a love so stranded.

Jeanne must without rancor make a stand. She must tell her husband that if she is to continue to live as his wife she must be accorded the courtesy due a wife, and not be treated as if she were a domestic in the home.

With regard to her friend she should overlook what was probably a mere lack of sensibility combined with the desire for a little offered enjoyment. Disloyalty is hard to forgive, but lack of sensibility in this case is to blame.

Dear Miss McDonald:

Today I do not know whether I love or hate my husband? We have had many quarrels, followed by a short time of extreme happiness. But here is what troubles me so much.

We have had a car for seven years. We live twenty miles out and a car is a necessary commodity for us. When we bought it it was with the understanding that we both would drive it. But I was not anxious to do so at first and when I later wanted my husband refused flatly on various grounds: The car was his. I was too nervous, too stupid, &c., &c.

Many, many times did he humiliate me by telling me to walk when I asked to be taken somewhere or even to the bus station. Last July, after such an answer I resolved never to ask again and to walk, which I have been doing ever since.

Now we have very dear friends who know of our present status, know that I walk because I am refused permission to ride. Yesterday they asked me to lunch and during my visit the children told me that my husband took them, father, mother and three children, for several rides, including an outing on Labor Day. This so upset me that I asked to be taken to the bus immediately. Upon taking leave from each other my "friend" asked me to come to see her again. Not being able to contain myself any longer I replied that as long as our car was at her disposition she might use it some day to come to see me! Now it hurts dreadfully. I know that she accepted our car for her and her family's pleasure knowing that I had not the use of it. Was she right? I did hurt her. I do love her and her children to whom I have been very kind. My husband is very stubborn. Am I wrong in my attitude?

Jane Eads INTERPRETS the MODE

Clever Fingers makes some unusual and gorgeous decorative bookcovers, boxes, and cosmetic bottles for Christmas gifts. (Dah-ray Designs.)

WOULD you not have a treasured book be a thing of outward as well as inward beauty? Art covers are fun to make . . . and interesting, even extremely decorative for the house.

And then boxes—what, after all, are those odd art boxes that one sees in this and that art shop, and this and that antique shop but the product of some one's clever fingers and patience, some one's imagination and skill?

What a lot of fun we have every Christmas making these book-covers and boxes, and with what exclamations of surprise and appreciation they are always received by the people to whom we send them! We never seem to be able to keep any for ourselves—that's what happens to our favorite lovely books!

Therefore we suggest that a book with a very beautiful hand-made art cover would make a perfectly stunning Christmas gift, one that you need have no qualms whatsoever over giving.

For which reason we have prepared for you a new illustrated leaflet, which tells you exactly how to make as well to make beautiful decorative art covers for lovely books, and how boxes, some art candles and vases and bottles for Miladi's dresses—and shoetrees.

It takes no unusual skill, but it will take our directions, which tell you exactly what to buy as well as how to apply them. So you'd better send your stamped self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the leaflet and see whether or not it interests you sufficiently to make some of these things for Christmas gifts.

* * * *

The pile of unopened Clever Finger Contest letters is rapidly diminishing. It should! What with Mamzelle, the Luv-e-lee Model, La Chic Secretaire and the combined efforts of our various and sundry admirers (V and S. admirers are good for something, after all aren't they?) Watch for the announcement of the winners early next week.

* * * *

Have you ever seen a perpetual calender? Don't, I implore you, ever become intrigued by one!

El Secretaire Gallant just sent us a perpetual calender and we have discovered what it means. Voila, one wants to find out what the date is—it takes ten thousand years to do it with this calender, consequently it isn't that date any more—ad infinitum (perpetual).

It just became too much fun to tell you too soon! So we're going to give you one more guess as to what ridiculous fashion craze we are out to do battle against, and then tell you what it is next Wednesday.

The clews are: It's ugly. It can have permanently injurious effects, not physically injurious, but uglifying. It's contrary to all ideas held on the subject for centuries upon centuries. It's something that almost all women, and men, too, have been doing. And last but not at all least, we don't like it!

* * * *

With NELSON B. BELL

IN ADDITION to the interest attaching to the features selected for "Big Picture Month," at the Earle Theater, it seems that Sunday afternoon concerts will be offered to lend augmented appeal to the four weeks of high-pressure promotion.

The first of these concerts will be presented tomorrow from 2:30 to 3 p. m., preceding the regular bill featuring Clara Bow and James Hall in "The Saturday Night Kid," and will be notable for the participation of the complete personnel of the Nordica Banjo Club, under the conductorship of Walter T. Holt, its founder. The club's contributions will be a melodious medley of familiar Southern airs and a march number in brisk tempo.

Another concert feature will be the orchestra, under the baton of Daniel Breeskin. This portion of the program will be featured by ensemble renditions of new and standard compositions and individual contributions by the solo artists of the organization.

No extra charge is assessed for the half-hour preliminary entertainment, which is provided solely in compliment to the many it is believed will be attracted to the theater early by the excellence of the "Big Picture" bills. Doors will be open to the public tomorrow at 2.

For the benefit of those who may be too busy to turn to the theater ad page for the information, "The Street Girl," starring Betty Compson, the feature picture at the RKO-Keith Theater, which throws open its doors for the first time under the new banner this afternoon, will be projected at 1:35, 3:35, 5:40, 7:40 and 9:45 p. m.

When you radio fans listen to B. A. Rolfe and his Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, one of the largest musical organizations taking the air, it might be remembered that his superlative trumpeting and the all 'round excellence of his band are designed principally to recoup the tremendous losses incurred when Mr. Rolfe abandoned music for the nonce and undertook the production of feature pictures. And he made some good ones at that.

There is probably not a more intellectual or better informed actress in Hollywood than Marie Dressler, veteran of both the stage and screen. But so habitually has Miss Dressler devoted her ample talents to grotesque comedy parts that her ability in more serious endeavors has been almost completely lost sight of by the powers that be in picture making. It has remained, however, for Clarence Brown to remember the more sedate of "Tillie's" endowments and cast her for an important dramatic role in the new picturization of "Anna Christie," Greta Garbo's first talking vehicle.

Basil Rathbone is among the lucky ones. By virtue of his excellent performance in support of Norma Shearer in "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," the option on his further services has been taken up by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and he will continue as a featured player in the production of that company.

John M. Stahl, having removed himself from the post of production manager for the firm of Tiffany-Stahl, and, according to report, severed his every connection with the company which in part bears his name, speculation regarding his successor has come to center principally in Edwin Carewe. Mr. Carewe, who will no longer be assoticated with the Dolores Del Rio productions, is said to be in a receptive mood in so far as the assignment is concerned.

The party season seems to be on again. Next Tuesday, the Advertising Club of Washington, of which Mr. Ernest L. Johnston, of this authoritative family journal, is president, and Mr. Charles Columbus, managing director, will have the motion picture editors of the local press as guests to hear Mr. John Irving Fisher, master of ceremonies at the Fox, deliver his scholarly lecture on "Advertising and Adenoids in Washington."

On the next night, Wednesday, Mr. Lichey, of the Rialto, is engineering a midnight showing of "Big News," a picture in which Pathe is said to have depicted big-time newspaper making in a large way, at which the photoplay desks of the city are to be hosts to I've forgotten how many fellow workers on each of their respective sheets. I do seem to remember that it counted up to several hundred in all.

Kate Smith, the tuneful playgirl who wave-lengthed a group of songs through WMAL last night, and whose stage career virtually had its inception in the motion picture theaters of the Capital, is only now becoming professionally active again after a tonsil operation from which she recently convalesced at Virginia Beach. I can even show you the postcard.

The taller and talkier of the comedy team of McDonald and Dayton, who closed at the Fox last night, enliven on the last day or two of the local engagement by rendering the "theme song of the Fifth Precinct" which, he insisted, was "Let's Do the Breakaway."

And an enthusiastic caller who should have known better just remarked that she was tickled with "The Four Feathers!"

So I suppose she took "Flight!"

Baby Mine

POP GETS ANGRY WHEN MAW REMODELS HIS FUNNY STORIES AS HE GOES ALONG.

CONTRACT BRIDGE.

ONE bid that has not been considered in this series of articles explaining take-outs by the partner of a No Trumper is the calling of three of a minor over partner's two No Trumps. The minor three-bid shows a holding of unusual length and weakness. With six or seven cards of a minor and no strength, a game may be remotely possible at the minor as the weak hand with the unusually long suit is facing a hand that has the strength to bid two No Trumps; but game is hardly possible at the No Trump unless the No Trumper has such high cards in the minor named by his partner that he can drop all the adverse honors in the suit, and after that will be left with a small card of the minor which will enable him to put his dummy in to run the suit. The No Trumper will know whether he can run the suit, and consequently a minor three-bid which shows a weak suit of at least six cards and a hand which does not total a count of 6 is most informatory. The following holdings would justify a bid of three of a minor over partner's two No Trumps:

No. 1	No. 2
♠X-X	None
♥X	X-X-X
♦J-10-X-X-X-X	X-X-X
♣J-10-X-X	0-J-X-X-X-X-X

B86

Generally speaking, the bid is a warning to the No Trumper, telling him that game is hopeless at No Trump, but that the contract of three probably could be made at the minor with the help of the high cards the original bid has announced.

This take-out should not be made unless the original bidder can be depended upon to understand its significance and will not be tempted to bid three No Trumps because of gaining a false impression that strength in the minor has been shown. It must be understood clearly that, with strength in the minor, three No Trumps would be bid unless the bidder's hand would justify bidding five of the minor. Such a bid would announce game assured and suggest a slam bid from the No Trumper if he has much more than his minimum count of 17.

$500,000 Laboratory Dedicated at Amherst

Amherst, Mass., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—The $500,000 Moore Chemical Laboratory, a gift to Amherst College from the widow and two sons, Paul and Edward, of the late William H Moore, 71, of Chicago, was dedicated here today. An endowment of $250,000 was also given by the Moores.

The presentation was made by Mrs Moore and speeches of acceptance were made by George A. Plimpton and Prof Edward W. Doughty.

King Michael Is Eight.

Bucharest, Roumania, Oct. 25 (A.P.) The eighth birthday of King Michael was celebrated with great pomp today. The te deum sung early this morning was attended by the royal family and the regency council. The city was gaily decorated and a gala performance was given at the National Theater tonight.

RUM RAIDS FOLLOW AGENT'S PURCHASES

Two Men and Woman Are Held and Quantity of Liquor Seized.

MARKED BILL IS FOUND

Using a young special ager to make "buys" in alleged speakeasies, the District liquor squad yesterday raided two establishments where they claim the contraband was purchased, and arrested two men and a woman, confiscating a quantity of the liquor, much of which was contained in gill bottles.

The first raid was made on Four-and-one-half street, near D street southwest, where Joseph Bernard LaCoppian, 54 years old, was arrested on two charges of sale, on a charge of possession and of maintaining a nuisance. LaCoppian was booked at the Fourth Precinct station and later released on $3,000 bond.

According to Detective George McCarron, the raiders found a marked bill that had been used by their agent in making a purchase of liquor in the cash register of the place, and also unearthed a trap underneath the back bar of the establishment where four half-gallon jars and 97 gill bottles of liquor were stored.

The squad, which in addition to McCarron is composed of Sergt. O. J. Letterman, Richard Cox and J. O. Hostyn, then went to a place on Seventh street, near N street northwest, where their agent is said to have made purchases, and arrested David Weitzman, 43 years old, and his wife, Ida Weitzman, 40. There they seized approximately three pints of alleged liquor done up in small packages, and preferred charges of sale, possession and maintaining a nuisance against Weitzman and his wife.

its course and ran aground on Michipicoten Island during a gale Tuesday night. The bow was lifted high on the rocks and the stern was so low in the water that the crew was forced to abandon her. They managed to reach the rocky shore, taking with them some bedding to protect them from the freezing weather. They were unable to take off any large quantities of food, and fears that they now face starvation have been expressed.

Two vessels were reported standing by, awaiting the opportunity to take the men off.

A radio message received at 8:15 o'clock tonight by Robert H. Kline, local agent for the Great Lakes Transit Corporation, from the tug Whalen in Quebec Harbor, reported that a member of the crew of the Chicago had arrived at Quebec Harbor after a perilous journey over the 9 miles of treacherous wooded and mountainous country, through which there is no trail. He expressed the hope that other members of the crew would be able to follow him.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Searchlights gleamed over the dark waters of Lake Michigan tonight, seeking the hulk of the car ferry Milwaukee and the bodies of the crew that went down when the ship foundered last Tuesday night.

Tonight the bodies of five of approximately 48 men who made up the crew of the ship had been found by coast guardsmen. Three of them were identified as the bodies of Alvin Sadon, Bay City, Mich., purser; E. Nelson, Milwaukee, watchman, and Frank Walter, Milwaukee, watchman.

A Coast Guard crew sped out of the harbor here late today to investigate the reported discovery of the submerged hulk of the car ferry. Capt. Neil MacIsaac, master of the car ferry Pere Marquette No. 19, reported he had sighted a submerged hulk with spars protruding above the water at a point 13 miles northeast of the breakwater light here.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Southwest storm warnings were raised at 9 tonight on Lake Erie between Dunkirk and Buffalo, N. Y., by the United States Weather Bureau here and small craft warnings will be displayed at daybreak tomorrow for all of Lake Erie and Lake Ontario. Winds will probably reach moderate gale intensity on these lakes Saturday it was said.

FORMER BOXER USES SAW TO ESCAPE JAIL

SOAP DEADENS NOISE

Los Angeles, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Johnnie Buff, former world flyweight and bantamweight boxing champion, under arrest on charges here and in New York, sawed his way out of the city jail today.

The escape was made about noon and other prisoners quartered on the main floor of the jail were doing odd tasks. Buff was working atop a huge icebox near a barred window.

He cut through one bar, deadening the noise of his saw with a piece of soap with which he lubricated it. His small stature enabled him to wiggle through the little opening.

Once outside, he leaped to the top of an automobile parked in an adjoining parking station and fled before officials learned of his break.

Buff was arrested October 12 on a charge of passing forged checks. Police records subsequently revealed New York authorities had offered $3,000 reward for his arrest, and he was held for extradition to the East.

Considerable mystery attached to the escape, for Buff was in a part of the jail reserved for trusties. He had been held in the bull pen, a large cell where temporary prisoners are kept, and in some way had made his way out of it, through a dining room, and into a section of the kitchen where the ice box is located.

Trusties are permitted to sit on top of the refrigerator, where they may see out, and Buff apparently had learned this fact. Guards did not recognize him as an intruder in the trusties' section and it was estimated he must have been there at least two hours to have cut the heavy steel bar.

Buff, whose real name is John Lesky, is 41 years old. In 1921 he won the flyweight championship from Frankie Mason and later won the bantamweight title from P. Herman, holding each crown about a year.

Delegates Argue Young Bank Scope

Germans Seek Definition of Functions Written Into Statute.

Baden-Baden, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Chief delegates to the conference for establishment of a bank for international settlements today sat in almost continuous conference on the combat, apparently being conducted by the Germans against the English and French, over a definition of the scope of the bank. The Germans hold that the bank not only imposes on Germany obligations, but also holds out certain hopes, among which is especially that of stimulating trade.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, the chief German delegate, made clear his point that Germany has a right to demand widening of the scope of the bank to include trade stimulation. What he fears most is that unless all functions sanctioned by the Young plan are written into the statutes, the international bank may later rule them out because they were not included at its organization.

President of Bank Gives Up; Confesses

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—John H. Thornburn, president of the Urbana Banking Co., whose bank was closed by the State auditor last Monday because of frozen assets, surrendered to authorities today and confessed misappropriating $100,000 from the bank.

He had been missing since last week.

Soviet Ships Bodies Of American Soldiers

Leningrad, U. S. S. R., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—The Soviet steamer "Lieutenant Schmidt" sailed today for Havre with 28 of the 86 bodies of American soldiers who perished during the Archangel campaign in 1918 and 1919.

The remainder of the bodies, which were recently recovered by an American commission, will be shipped later.

Slayer Shot Down By Police Posse

Dead Man Is Identified by Boy as One Who Killed Policeman.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Sam Wiggins, 50-year-old building contractor, who fell dead under a volley of policemen's bullets, was positively identified late today as the man who this morning shot and killed Motorcycle Patrolman W. E. Minor.

James R. Jones, 16-year-old newsboy, was the only witness to the shooting of Minor, which occurred when the officer approached Wiggins to arrest him in conection with the theft of some chickens.

Jones identified the body as that of the man "who argued" with the officer before the shooting. After the shooting Wiggins drove away in his car. He was killed near Clearwater by a police member of a posse hunting him.

Attorney in New York Killed in Leap or Fall

New York, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Bernard Queller, 29 years old, an attorney, was killed today when he fell or jumped from his office on the eleventh floor of the Corn Exchange Bank Building in West Forty-second street.

Queller's partner, William Weiss, said he did not believe it was a case of suicide. He believed Queller lost his balance and fell out the window, which has a low ledge, while drawing the shade.

Former Prime Minister Accused of Rebellion

Valencia, Spain, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Former Premier Sanchez Guerra, charged with attempting to incite a military rebellion in Valencia, went on trial today before a court-martial here. There were 22 other defendants accused of implication, including the former premier's son, Rafael.

The former premier is being held prisoner on a gunboat and will be escorted to the trial each day.

Former Premier Reported as Enjoying Day of Rest and Health.

Paris, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Former Premier Clemenceau enjoyed a very good day of rest and health today, and his condition was so much improved tonight that politicians called upon the old Tiger instead of doctors.

"I consider the crisis over," Dr. Jacquemaire, Clemenceau's grandson, told the Associated Press. "I don't expect either Dr. Dejennes or Dr. Laubry this evening, and I myself am leaving for a good night's rest."

This was the first night Dr. Jacquemaire has stayed away from the Tiger's home since Sunday, when the old man suffered his heart attack.

Government Quits at Prague.

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—The government resigned this afternoon in accordance with the custom on the eve of elections.

How to Be a Lion at a Cotillion

. . . for Success's Sake Simply Wear "Simplex Flexies"

Of course, your boy friends will simply hate you—and form little groups in dark corners plotting dire destruction. But other hearts will be pit-patting almost to a roar and efficient dowagers will be running about grabbing nieces, daughters and granddaughters from certain destruction. However, if you wish to be real snobbish about the whole affair, nonchalantly ignore the black looks of your own sex and in a loud voice proclaim the truth and nothing but the truth of your impressive performance. The best foot wins and you've already the advantage of an early start.

"Simplex Flexie" Shoes for boys and girls are made in high and low styles with plain or moccasin toes on broad roomy lasts. Leathers are soft and pliable. Colors: Black patent and calf, brown, congo, smoked and white elk. Quite low priced: $2.75 to $4.25.

Prompt Action of Leading Financial Powers Restores Sane Stock Trading.

SALES ARE 5,923,220

New York, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Stable prices and orderly trading returned to a severely punished stock market today. Further large scale liquidations had to be absorbed, but powerful interests took the situation firmly in hand, and hurled huge buying orders into the market when prices began to waver.

Trading reached gigantic proportions for a time, but in the late hours of the session, the tide of liquidation rapidly began to ebb, and activity slackened up to a more normal pace. Total sales were 5,923,220 shares, less than half yesterday's staggering turnover of 12,894,600. The ticker ran for an hour and 32 minutes after the close.

Billion Pool Does Work.

Reassuring statements regarding fundamental soundness of financial and industrial conditions by leading bankers and executives had a soothing effect upon speculative sentiment. Reports emanating from responsible quarters that leading bankers had organized a $1,000,000,000 pool to stabilize the market discouraged further "bear" raids.

Prices rose rather generally from 1 to nearly 20 points in an upturn at the opening, which appeared to be accelerated by short covering. Thereafter, however, the backwash of weakened marginal accounts, profit taking by traders who bought at yesterday's low level for a turn, and by investors, who, thoroughly shaken, welcomed the higher levels to unload, sent prices substantially lower.

Shares Gain Slowly.

Leading shares failed to go more than a few points below yesterday's closing levels, however, for support was quick to appear wherever a substantial downturn threatened. While some traders had looked for a more substantial rally today, market observers generally were not surprised. Much of the short covering was completed in yesterday's rapid rally from bottom levels, and the organized support back of the market was interested only in stabilization.

Commission houses generally expressed the opinion that stocks had reached bottom and many sent out buying advices. No sharp advance in prices was noted, however, and many looked for a quieting down and dull trading for some time. It was pointed out that stock bought to support the market will soon find its way back into the market, which will tend to cancel any rally at this time. Traders continued rather nervous, and many were glad to get rid of their stocks at today's better levels.

Brief Slump Checked.

The buying movement covered virtually the entire list and gains of 3 to 20 points from the previous close were recorded. A. M. Byers rose 19, Standard Gas & Electric, 13; Canadian Pacific 12⅝; Eastman Kodak, 12¼, and Air Reduction 11. Advances of 5 to 9 points appeared in Goodyear Rubber, Bush Terminal, American Tobacco B, American-Foreign Power, Western Union, Brooklyn Union Gas, American Waterworks & Electric, National Biscuit, Johns-Manville, Republic Iron & Steel, Bendix, Calumet & Arizona, Interantional Harvester, Houston Oil, Allis Chalmers, and a few others.

On the crest of the rise, however, there was a resumption of selling by the bearish element. General Electric, after selling up 3 points to 311, dropped to 300. Westinghouse Electric, up 4, dropped to 176½, and A. M. Byers, up 19 to 130, fell to 110. Shares driven down 3 to 6 points included Western Union, American Telephone, North American, Fox, Ludlum, Sun Oil, American Can and Auburn Auto.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—To a considerable extent, the wheat market today regained independence from stock market domination, and responded more freely to outstanding grain trade developments. Broad European demand for North American wheat, with export buying today estimated at as much as 2,000,000 bushels went far to hoist wheat values at the last, notwithstanding earlier in the session the market had collapsed 6 cents a bushel. Helping to strengthen wheat values were reports current that the Argentine crop is heading shortward, and that the harvest in Argentina will have a late start.

Closing quotations on wheat here were unsettled, but 1¼ cents to 1⅞ cents a bushel higher than yesterday. Corn closed at ¼ cent to ⅞ cent advance, oats ¼ cent to 1 cent up, and provisions varying from 20 cents decline to 10 cents gain.

Although freeing itself a good deal from the effects of Wall street fluctuations, the wheat trade nevertheless exerted a sharp eye today on security values. During the earlier dealings in particular, wheat speculators rushed to buy or to sell wheat almost regardless of anything except that stock exchange shares were bulging or were breaking as the case might be. It was chiefly on account of one sudden tumble in stocks that wheat today underwent a quick, extreme drop of 6 cents a bushel.

Throughout the day, wheat transactions were on a big scale, but nevertheless fell below yesterday's activity which piled up a total volume of 156,186,000 bushels, in future deliveries alone, the largest aggregate on record. Helping to promote today's upturns in wheat values here was relative general firmness of the wheat market at Liverpool, although final quotations in Liverpool were off 2½ to 3⅞ pence net decline. According also to talk current, practically all wheat which had been offered to Europe was snapped up. Meanwhile, some notice was likewise taken today of the circumstance that the Federal Farm Board was in session here, and that possibilities existed of some helpful official action on the part of that body.

Brisk shipping demand here for corn aided price upturns that corn and oats scored one to two cent market gains.

LIBERTIES STIFFEN PART OF BOND LIST

Tone of Market Shows Marked Improvement After Sharp Sag.

STILL SOME SOFT SPOTS

New York, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Under the leadership of Liberties, which enjoyed a large investment demand, bond prices hardened today. The tone of the market showed a marked improvement over that of yesterday, when high grade obligations were sold in some volume at the height of the panicky collapse of stock values.

There were still some soft spots, but the high grade rails and the industrials, as well as the United States Government securities, were noticeably stronger. Volume fell about $5,000,000 behind that of yesterday's session, which was the highest in some time.

Investors were content to proceed cautiously, and the buying from these sources was selective. Liberty 3½s, first 4¼s and fourth 4¼s traded actively, although gains ruled small. Treasury 4s rose ⅛ and the 3⅜s advanced ¼, but turnovers were sharply lower than those of the Government bonds.

Convertibles had a much better day and the active issues closed with small net gains. American Telephone 4½s finished a point higher although the stock showed a decline. International Telephone 4½s, American International 5½s and Texas Corporation 5s advanced fractionally. Missouri Pacific 5½s and Atchison 5½s strengthened to the extent of 2½ and 2 points respectively.

Rail Gains Spotty.

The improvement in the standard rails was somewhat spotty, taking the group as a whole, with both gains and losses averaging fractions. Advances of a point or more developed in Canadian National 4½s, Central Pacific first 4s, Atlanta & Danville first 4s (up 6½), Denver & Rio Grande Western 5s, Soo Line 5½s, New York Central 4s, Pennsylvania 5s and Union Pacific 4½s.

There was mild easiness in the Delaware & Hudson and New Haven listings and some of the New York Central and Pennsylvania issues closed lower.

Industrials of good grade found little trouble in striking high ground. The advance embraced Armour Real Estate 4½s and Armour 5½s, Goodyear Tire & Rubber 5s, Inland Steel 4½s, Republic Iron & Steel 5s, Otis Steel 6s and Chile Copper 5s.

Utilities were easier, although some of the issues under pressure yesterday recovered their losses. American Telephone 5½s, Detroit Edison 5s, of 1949; New York Telephone 6s, North American Edison 5½s, United Electric Light & Power first 5s, and Utah Power & Light 5s sagged, but Columbia Gas 5s advanced under good support and International Telephone debenture 4½s rose 2 points.

Oil Bonds Also Mixed.

Oil bonds were mixed. Skelly debenture 5½s went to the new low of 89 on a 1½ point recession.

The foreign group was soft. South American issues, especially those of Brazil and Argentina, lost ground. British United Kingdom 5½s held steady at a fraction below their year's high.

Closing Generally Firm.

Business news of the day continued generally satisfactory. After the close of the market President Hoover stated that he considered fundamental business of the country on a sound basis, pointing out that production and distribution are well maintained. Heads of leading steel companies at the meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute indicated that the steel business is at a satisfactory level for this time of year, and that earnings are running at high levels. The weekly business reviews pointed to some recession in trade, owing to unfavorable weather, but indicated that nothing in the immediate aspects of the commercial situation had furnished cause for the severe reaction in stocks.

The credit situation was regarded as vastly improved by the drastic liquidation of marginal accounts. Both here and abroad, the market collapse was regarded as of most salutary effect upon credit. Call money was a little firmer, holding at 6 per cent all day, bankers' acceptances and time loans were easier.

Closing prices generally were firm. While several important issues were moderately lower, gains of 2 to 6 points predominated throughout the list, with a few gains running from 10 to 21 points.

U. S. Steel, American Can, American Telephone, Chesapeake & Ohio, Fox Film, and North American were among shares showing losses of 2 to 4 points. Southern Pacific sagged on a less favorable September earnings report, and International Harvester dropped about 6 points. A handful of volatile shares showed wide losses, running to 18 points in J. I. Case.

Exchanges Sagging.

U. S. Industrial Alcohol shot up 21 points, and Air Reduction, Allis Chalmers, American Bank Note, American Tobacco, Atchison, Colorado Fuel, Corn Products, Eastman Kodak, Goodyear, Grigsby Grunow, and Pan American were among scores of issues closing about 4 to 10 points higher. Radio, New York Central, Standard Brands and Standard of New Jersey rose 2 to 3 points.

Commodity markets were also firmer. Wheat sold up about 2 cents in response to better export demand, and in sympathy with the better tone in stocks. Corn rallied after an early decline, and cotton closed steady.

Foreign exchanges were inclined to sag, and this was interpreted as indicating that the large scale liquidation of stocks for foreign account had ceased. Sterling cables fell back about ¼ of a cent to $4.87⅞ and the Canadian dollar fell to a new low for the year below 99 cents.

BUSINESS FOR WEEK SHOWS SLIGHT DROP

WHOLESALE PRICE CUT

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Commercial transactions during the week ended October 19, as indicated by volume of checks to banks for payment, were smaller than in the preceding week, but larger than in the corresponding period of 1928, the weekly business summary of the Department of Commerce states.

Production of bituminous coal during the latest reported week showed gains over both the previous week and the same period a year ago, but steel plant activity was smaller than in either prior period, while crude petroleum production showed a substantial curtailment from the preceding week. It was still above the level of last year, however.

Receipts of cotton into sight were larger than a year ago, and cattle receipts at primary markets also registered a gain over the corresponding period of 1928. Hog receipts at primary markets were greater than in the same period a year ago. Movement of commodities by rail through primary channels, as indicated by freight car loadings covering the latest reported week, showed a slight decline from the same period of last year.

General index of wholesale prices showed further fractional recession from the week prior and was lower also than in the corresponding period of 1928. Iron and steel prices were lower than in the previous week, but higher than a year ago, and cotton prices showed declines from both periods.

Norment Heads Ship Firm.

Following the meeting of the board of directors of the Norfolk & Washington Steamboat Co., it was announced yesterday that Clarence F. Norment, jr., was elected president to succeed the late Charles J. Bell. G. W. Forsberg was named vice president, to succeed Clarence F. Norment, jr.; Edwin C. Brandenburg, second vice president, succeeding Mr. Forsberg, and George P. Sacks, a director to fill the unexpired term made vacant by the death of Mr. Bell.

No successors to Messrs. D. J. Callahan, W. E. Pearson and B. F. Saul, who have resigned from the directorate, have been effected, their resignations not being effective until November 30. Odell S. Smith is secretary-treasurer of the company and in addition to the above-mentioned, Woodbury Blair and George L. Starkey are directors.

At its regular monthly meeting held yesterday the board of directors of the Terminal Refrigerating & Warehousing Corporation, unanimously elected Clarence F. Norment, sr., chairman of the board, to succeed the late Charles J. Bell.

The board paid high tribute to the memory of Mr. Bell and his constructive work in the development of the company, which was expressed in a resolution to be engrossed and sent to his family.

Fulton Has Quick Success.

Election of James A. Fulton as president of the Home Life Insurance Co. reveals another rapid rise in business. Mr. Fulton, under 40 years of age, became connected with the Home Life Insurance Co. March 1, 1927, and since that date has received three promotions. First, he was elected a director of Home Life, then agency vice president and then president of the company.

This is unusually quick promotion for a young man with an old institution, as the Home Life Insurance Co., of New York, is 70 years old with about $70,000,000 as assets.

The local firm of H. R. Bryarly & Bro., has the general managership of the Home Life Insurance Co. for the District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia, and they have been connected with the company as general managers for more than fifteen years.

Yesterday saw the close of the greatest three days of business on the Washington Stock Exchange since April. It was the fourth consecutive day bond sales volume ran into five figures and a continued improvement in the stock turnover was manifested in a market still slightly receding.

Bond transactions totaled $25,600, a $1,200 advance from the previous session and the stock aggregate of 665 shares represented an increase of seven shares. The bond market leader was Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone of Virginia 5s, with a $10,000 transfer. Largest stock transfers were in smaller-priced issues. Three bank stocks were out. Riggs receding a point and fractionally in a 21-share exchange at 600 and 800's.

Farmers Go to New York.

In order to show Maryland farmers who live near its lines how farm products are marketed, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, in conjunction with the University of Maryland and the Railway Express Agency, has arranged for a group of 50 farmers to leave Camden Station, Baltimore, tomorrow afternoon at 3:51 o'clock, for a two-day visit of New York City's market terminals.

Farmers and extension workers will be shown how all classes of farm products are handled, received, graded and sold to the various consuming channels. Besides visiting market terminals of the metropolis, the party will be taken on a boat trip around Manhattan, will inspect the ocean liner Berengaria and the plant of one of the large newspapers, among other interesting places. Representing the Baltimore & Ohio and accompanying the party, will be O. K. Quivey, general agricultural agent.

Class 1 railroads on October 1 had 132,611 freight cars in need of repair, or 8 per cent of the number on line, according to reports just filed by the carriers with the car service division of the American Railway Association. This was a decrease of 3,760 cars below the number reported on September 15, at which time there were 136,371, or 6.1 per cent.

Freight cars in need of heavy repairs on October 1 totaled 95,882, or 4.3 per cent, a decrease of 2,667 compared with September 15, while freight cars in need of light repairs totaled 36,729, or 1.7 per cent, a decrease of 1,093 compared with September 15.

An average of 645,000 persons in the United States migrate annually from rural communities to cities, and more than 90 per cent of these do not have securities or credit sufficient to enable them to get a loan at a bank in time of financial crisis, according to Leslie C. Harbison, president of Household Finance Corporation.

This company, working in cooperation with the Russell Sage Foundation, has out on loan approximately $30,000,000 in sums of $300 or less to 226,000 persons without bankable collateral. The business, Mr. Harbison says, is based very largely on "the honesty of men."

O. A. Thorup, of the Remington-Rand Business Service, has returned from a business trip to New York and Philadelphia.

Cadets Invade Yale Bowl Again

Unbeaten Dartmouth and Harvard Teams Also to Clash.

Notre Dame-Carnegie Meet; Stanford vs. S. California.

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—The roar from the athletic offices over the now famous Carnegie report will be drowned out tomorrow by the tumult from the stadiums over touchdowns.

Whether they are subsidized or unsubsidized, major college teams will stage the October gridiron climax before the greatest crowds so far this season, attracted by prospects of an unusual number of hard and keenly fought games.

From the classic at Stanford Stadium to the spectacle at Yale Bowl, football will stage one of its biggest combined shows, with national championship aspirations at stake in at least a half dozen of the main contests.

The greatest crowd of the day, close to 90,000, is expected to watch Stanford and Southern California, two undefeated arrays, battle for what may prove Pacific Coast supremacy for 1929.

In the East, approximately 275,000 fans will turn out for five of the leading attractions, with 75,000 in the Yale Bowl for Army's charge against the Elis and 70,000 expected to witness the clash of Notre Dame's Ramblers with the Carnegie Tartans at Pittsburgh Stadium.

225,000 at Games in Middle West.

The five leading battles of the Middle West figure to draw over 225,000, with the Michigan-Illinois affair at Urbana likely to top the list at around 55,000.

The South, for five of its principal contests, should show 100,000, with Tulane and Georgia Tech playing to at least 30,000 in their tussle at New Orleans.

This runs the aggregate figures up to around 700,000 for some sixteen games alone. It takes no statistical wizard to run the grand total up over a million eyewitnesses of this "pageantry of American college life," not to mention the Nation-wide radio audience.

It is more difficult to figure the winners, especially for so vital a battle as that between Southern California and Stanford, two of the strongest teams in the country. The fast-traveling Trojans, off to a great start this season, were early favorites, but expert faith in Pop Warner's ability to keep something up his sleeve for so crucial a game and Stanford's unquestioned power development have made the outcome a toss-up. The winner, if any, will be well on the road that leads to a national championship, even though each has a number of high hurdles to clear later on.

Army Figures to Beat Yale.

Unless there is a let-down in the Cadet charge, with Red Cagle feeling the effects of the bruising battle a week ago with Harvard, Army figures to beat Yale by a decisive margin. West Point has the offensive power to do it, the critics agree, but Yale has Albie Booth and hopes of springing an upset.

Notre Dame, although beaten a year ago by a clean-cut margin by Carnegie, is picked to turn the tables on the rugged Tartans. Even though he needed the aid of a wheel chair, Knute Rockne is on hand to direct personally the Hoosier attack that has trampled Indiana, Navy and Wisconsin so far. Notre Dame has concealed no part of its intense desire for revenge. Carnegie has lost Howard Harpster, but has most of the veterans of last year's victorious team

LIGHT HEAVY CONTENDERS NAMED

N. Y. Body Lists Four in Elimination for Loughran's Title.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—There won't be much fuss and feathers about the naming of a new light heavyweight champion to take the place of Tommy Loughran, so far as the New York State Athletic Commission is concerned.

The fistic fathers today decided to make short work of the complications that always arise among the combatants when a champion voluntarily steps down from his throne. They invited matchmakers to pair Maxie Rosenbloom, Yale Okun, Lou Scozza and George Courtney in one way or another and promised to recognize the ultimate winner as the new 175 pound king.

After considerable discussion the names of such hearties as Leo Lomski, the Aberdeen Assassin; Jimmy Braddock, from the Jersey plains, and the fast growing Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, were left out of the reckoning. The first pair, it was decided, had eliminated themselves and Walker must still be considered a 160 pounder until he loses his crown or graduates into the heavies class.

None of Quartet Ever Faced Loughran.

None of the first string quartet ever faced Loughran in title combat before Philadelphia Tommy cast his lot with the heavyweights. Of the four, Scozza, a Buffalo, N. Y., youngster has two decisions and one defeat on the record in engagements with Rosenbloom and one victory over Okun. Courtney, an Oklahoman, is a recent graduate of the middleweight ranks. Lomski, Braddock and Walker all were defeated by Loughran in championship tests.

Rosenbloom and Okun, both veteran New Yorkers, have come to the front recently, the bounding Maxie, a most unorthodox fighter who cuffs his foes into subjection, gave Joe Sekyra, the Dayton blonde, a thorough trouncing in Madison Square Garden Monday night. On the same card Okun whipped Matt Adgie, Philadelphia iceman, after defeating Braddock a few weeks earlier on the Pacific Coast.

Body Has no Interest In Pairings.

The commission has no interest in the manner of pairing the four nominees nor was any particular matchmaker entrusted with the job of producing the new titleholder. Jess McMahon, promoter at the New York Coliseum, happened to be in the hall, however, and gained a lap on the field by engaging the surprised Rosenbloom in deep discussion.

NIGHT TENNIS ENDS.

Night tennis playing on flood-lighted courts in the Monument Grounds will end October 31. Although the experiment has proven a success, public officials stated that it would have to be tried for a full season before determining whether additional courts should be lighted for night playing.

Lebanon Test For New G. U. Back Field

Victory Seen for Hilltop Despite Fair Record of Invaders.

Bozek, Hudak, Leary, Bordeau Starting Backs Today.

GEORGETOWN reaches the halfway point and the end of easy opposition in its 1929 football season this afternoon when it engages the Lebanon Valley College Eleven from Annville, Pa., at Griffith Stadium, commencing at 2:30 o'clock. If both teams play true to form, the Hilltop should chalk up its fourth victory in five starts.

Lebanon's record to date justifies the prediction that Georgetown will enjoy no runaway, although Lebanon can not be seen the winner by any stretch of the imagination. The Annville outfit defeated Franklin and Marshall, the team which held Pennsylvania University to a 14-7 score, and pushed Penn State to the limit before bowing by 15-0. Also, Lebanon scored twice on Villanova.

Georgetown Presents Best Back Field.

Coach Lou Little is hoping the invading club will prove strong, for he wishes the new Georgetown back field to be fully tested before the first of the big November contests arrives next Saturday with New York University as the foe.

The latest ball-carrying quartet formed by Little is composed of Ed Leary, quarter back; Johnny Bozek and "Sleepy" Hudak, half backs, and Buddy Bordeau, full back. Potentially, it is the most powerful set of backs among Little's material.

For Johnny Bozek and Bordeau, today's game is the first in which they have been named as starting players. Little believes they will add considerably to the team's interfering power. Bordeau is the strongest and heaviest ball toter on the squad while Johnny Bozek is the shiftiest. The advent of Johnny as a starter has caused the demotion of his younger brother, Emil, to the reserves, but the latter probably will see some action.

Dubofsky to Replace Listor at Tackle.

The Georgetown line also will present one change. Maurice Dubofsky, 205-pound sophomore, will take Paul Liston's place at left guard. Liston is nursing a sore shoulder as a result of last Saturday's game and is being given an opportunity to recover in time to perform against N. Y. U. a week hence.

According to reports, Lebanon will show a formidable forward passing attack. Georgetown has drilled overtime this week setting up a defense for this style. The Pennsylvanians' best player is Albright, quarter back, it is reported.

Injunction Is Aimed At Aurora Racing

Chicago, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Seeking to stop horse racing in Illinois, a petition for an injunction against the Exposition Park Jockey Club, of Aurora, Ill., was prepared tonight for filing in the Circuit Court at Geneva, Ill., tomorrow on behalf of August J. Redding, Aurorar merchant.

Constitutionality of the bill which permits horse racing and betting in the State is challenged in the petition which attorneys said would be filed tomorrow before Judge Newhall, of Kane County.

The petition alleges that the bill legalizing racing is in violation of the fourth amendment to the Federal Constitution, that the racing statute violates the section of State law which says the assembl shall have no power to authorize lotteries, or gift enterprises or rickets, and that violations of the criminal code have been committed.

The petitioner alleges he has suffered injury to his business because of money being gambled at the track and charges that because of "touts, gamblers and other hangers on, * * * the decent element of Aurora hesitates to go out at night for fear of being deprived of their lives and puroperty."

Georgia Says Survey Gained Cooperation

Athens, Ga., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Chancellor Charles M. Snelling, in a statement issued today, said the University of Georgia gave a Carnegie Foundation investigator access to its athletic records and that stories saying that the university did not cooperate "indicate an error or that the representative misunderstood the university's attitude."

The statement said:

"I have not read the Carnegie report, but the Associated Press account indicates an error in naming the University of Georgia as not cooperating or the representative misunderstood our attitude. The representative was here the better part of a day, was given free access to the records of the athletic director, the business manager of the athletics association and the treasurer of the university, who handles all funds of the athletic association. He spent an entire evening with the captain of the football and baseball teams.

"I approve all accounts of the athletic association before they are paid. So far as I know, there is no reason why we should want to hide anything."

PENNANTS IN GAME.

With every player in its line-up a former high school or college performer, the Petworth Pennants will clash with the National Press Cardinals tomorrow in one of the best games of the day in the 135-pound class. The Pennants will meet tonight at 7 o'clock on the Iowa Playground.

CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL ACE SCORING OPENING TOUCHDOWN

Stanford and S. California Clash for Coast Supremacy

87,000 to Watch Battle of Undefeated Grid Rivals.

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAN
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—On the Green-turfed floor of Stanford Stadium tomorrow will be fought the first of the great football battles that will decide the 1929 championship of the Pacific Coast Conference.

Stanford's Cardinals and Southern California's Trojans, undefeated grid giants, will lock grips. Not since the stadium was built has it been crowded to capacity in midseason, but tomorrow every one of its 87,404 seats will be filled and an army of around 1,500 employes also will be on hand.

Each team has smashed its way easily to three conference victories. Each boasts tremendous power, both on the ground and in the air, and has enough reserves to throw several complete teams on the field. Based on performances to date, they are evenly matched.

Two Outstanding Coaches Match Strategy.

The strategy of two of the outstanding coaches of the country—Glenn Warner, of Stanford, and Howard Jones, Southern California—will be on trial.

On the line, the Trojans will have a weight advantage—196 pounds average to 186 for the Cardinals. Stanford's starting backfield averages 187 pounds to 186 pounds for Southern California.

Although the more optimistic visualize a championship for tomorrow's winner, each team has yet to face University of California's Bears, likewise undefeated. The Bears and Trojans meet in Los Angeles on November 2 and the Stanford clash takes place on November 23.

Bears to Battle Olympic.

While Stanford and Southern California are fighting it out, California's Bears will take on the strong Olympic Club Team at Berkeley. Stanford defeated the club eleven, 6-0, so the result tomorrow may give a line on California's comparative strength.

Two conference games in the North will bring together Washington and Oregon at Seattle, and Oregon State and Idaho at Corvallis. Washington State meets Whitman, Montana plays Montana State, and University of California at Los Angeles lines up against Pomona.

Rockne to Boss Irish From Wheel Chair

Pittsburgh, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Knute Rockne, coach of the Notre Dame Football Team, arrived here today in a wheel chair to guide the Irishmen in the game with Carnegie Tech tomorrow.

The last time the Notre Dame Team played the Scotchmen here, Rockne stayed away in the belief his men would not need his services to beat Carnegie. The Scots won the game and spoiled Notre Dame's claim on the 1926 mythical football championship.

Rockne, this time was determined to come to Pittsburgh despite his recent illness and found it possible by means of the wheel chair.

Pape, Iowa Grid Ace, Temporarily Eligible

Iowa City, Oct. 25 (A.P.).—University of Iowa football stock, which has fluctuated with the eligibility trend all season, turned bullish today, at least in so far as the annual game with Wisconsin is concerned. It reacted to the announcement that Oran Pape, speedy half back, would be eligible to participate in the contest with the Badgers at Madison tomorrow.

Pape has been alternately in and out of the eligibility fire almost since Iowa started football practice six weeks ago. Cleared of charges of professionalism two weeks ago, he again was placed on the doubtful list when he was charged with playing with the Dubuque Bears, a professional team, in 1926. His latest exoneration is only a temporary one, as the subcommittee of the university athletic counsel, in declaring him eligible for the Wisconsin game, announced today that it planned a further investigation into his status next week.

4 District Elevens Battle On Foreign Fields Today

Maryland Is Under Dog Against V. M. I. at Richmond; C. U. Given Even Chance Against Rutgers; G. W. vs. C. C. N. Y.

FOUR Capital college football teams are on foreign battlefields seeking victory today but only one of them seems to hold an even chance. Catholic University, despite the loss of its scintillating full back and captain, Jack Malevich, who is injured, figures to defeat Rutgers at New Brunswick, N. J.

Maryland, with a revamped array and minus its best back, Charley Dodson, is distinctly the under dog in its clash with Virginia Military Institute at Richmond. George Washington, also suffering loss of valuable players and possessing little power at best, meets a stronger team in City College of New York at New York City. American University goes against a much heavier and more experienced club in Loyola at Homewood Field, Baltimore.

Even without Malevich, who has been absent from the line-up since the Mount St. Mary's game on October 5, Catholic University is formidable. Only last Saturday, Coach Jack McAuliffe's eleven held Villanova to two touchdowns and looked impressive in defeat. Given a fair share of the breaks, the Brookland team might have tied the Wild Cats.

Rutgers has lost only one game, having been beaten 20 to 3 by Holy Cross, but the New Brunswick team was extended to score a 14-7 win over St. John's of Annapolis and the latter appeared much inferior to Catholic in an early season scrimmage at Brookland.

Maryland will earn lots of credit if it stops the Flying Cadets at Richmond. The Lexington players unquestionably are among the South's best. They blanked Virginia last week, 14 to 0, and the Charlottesville Team gained a one-touchdown triumph over South Carolina, which ran away with Maryland, 26 to 6.

As a result of Dodson's loss, Coach Byrd has formed a new back field composed of Chalmers, quarter back; Miller and Evans, half backs, and Radice, full back. Miller will do the punting in the absence of Roberts, another Old Line veteran, who is nursing injuries. The duel between Miller and McCray, the Cadets' booting phenomenon, should prove one of the high lights of the game. It may prove the decisive factor.

George Washington's foe, City College of New York, has yet to win a game. So far as the psychology of it is

Special to The Washington Post.

QUANTICO, Va., Oct. 25.—You could almost see the pages of time turned backward today as a big hulk of a man, a football tucked in his arms, ran and smashed and pushed and fought his way down the football field here. It recalled Frank Goettge, the irrepressible giant who carried the banner of the U. S. Marines to many a victory seven or eight years ago. And, lo and behold, it was Frank Goettge.

Goettge, somewhat slowed since his real playing days, was good enough today to give his Quantico Marines Post Team a 14-to-6 triumph over the Langley Field Aviators. For three quarters Langley was leading, 6 to 0, but when Goettge, the Marines' coach, inserted himself in the fray, Aviators' hopes went up in the air.

In his old-time style, Goettge battered the opposing line to pieces in a long march goalward which ended with him diving across the line for the tying touchdown. The extra point was made on a pass. Then once more the great fullback plowed down the field until near the Langley goal, from where Butler scored the second and decisive touchdown.

Title Aspirations in Big Ten Hinge on Four Battles Today

Chicago, Ohio, Purdue, Illinois Face Conference Tests.

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Michigan, smarting under two successive defeats, threaten to toss a bomb into Illinois' championship aspirations tomorrow when these two teams, always the bitterest of rivals, meet in Champaign in the outstanding game of the Big Ten schedule.

The title aspirations of three other teams—Chicago, Purdue and Ohio State, each with a clean record—will be either wrecked or enhanced in the other major attractions of tomorrow's schedule. Chicago, victorious in five games, will engage the undefeated Purdue eleven at Stagg Field; Chicago, with each team trying to "outfear" the other, while Ohio State, triumphant over Michigan and Iowa, will have an opportunity to chalk up its third conference victory by defeating Indiana at Columbus.

In the other conference game Iowa, with the cloud of ineligibility removed from its stars, will battle Wisconsin at Madison in a contest which will have no bearing on the Big Ten championship situation.

The powerful Minnesota eleven, now looming up as the team most likely to capture championship honors of the conference, will take time out to meet the cocky little eleven from Ripon at Minneapolis. Northwestern also will face a nonconference foe, meeting Wabash and the Notre Dame reserves in a double-header at Evanston.

Coach Zuppke Fears Michigan.

Tomorrow really will be the day of the "big fear" in the conference, with Coach Zuppke, of the Illini, fearing that if Michigan ever does win a conference game, it will be from his team. Amos Alonzo Stagg, coach of the Chicago Maroons, personally fears Purdue and Jimmy Phelan, the mentor of the Boilermakers, fears right back at Chicago.

The Wolverines, potentially a powerful team, may give Illinois a more desperate battle than is generally expected, despite two reverses. Michigan finds itself in a spot to spring the same upset that it did a year ago. When the two teams met last season, Illinois had not lost a game and appeared to be coasting to the Big Ten championship, while the Wolverines had not won an encounter and looked hopeless. But Michigan, keyed up to a fighting pitch, fought Illinois to a standstill, winning

TUESDAY'S GAME.

By WILLIAM F. DISMER, JR.

A TECH HIGH SCHOOL Team that was literally rushed off its feet in the first half capitalized a lucky break in the fourth quarter to tie the score and then found the power to produce the decisive touchdown in a passing attack in the waning minutes which sent Central from the field beaten, 12 to 6, in a contest that converted 9,000 normal students and adults into so many wild-eyed football fanatics at Central Stadium yesterday.

Thus did Tech score its second successive victory over its arch rival in scholarstic sports and gain a virtual strangle hold on the interscholastic championship in view of its defeat of Eastern in a previous encounter.

It was a heart-breaker for the Blue and White team to lose, for, leading at half time, 6 to 0, the band of Rauber-coached men had maintained its advantage until the beginning of the fourth quarter when an alert Tech player seized the opportunity to bring his team to even terms with the Central Eleven.

Spencer Grabs Pass to Tie Score for Tech.

With the ball on its own 24-yard line, the Central team was in the midst of a rushing attack down the field when the break occurred. Unable to hold a fast pass from the center, Sabatini, Blue and White half back, was agonized to see the pigskin rise three feet in the air and before he could seize it again, Spencer, of Tech, had grabbed it and eluding every Central player, ran the 20 yards for the tying score.

The unfortunate fumble was not classified within the new ruling in effect this year which prohibited the advancement of a fumble by the opposing side, as the ball was caught before touching the ground.

The fact that Benner failed to kick the goal, did not dim the enthusiasm of the Tech fans who had seen their team come from behind to turn a seeming impending defeat into salvation. But their glee reached even greater heights in the next five minutes when Tech "opened up" for the first time in the game with as brilliant an aerial attack as has been seen on a local gridiron this year which carried the ball over the Central goal for the winning score of the day.

With Aubrey Spencer doing the passing and Capt. Willis Benner the receiving, this pair personally was responsible for giving Tech the margin and probably the championship of the series. With the ball on Central's 33-yard line as the result of a short kick by Capt. Brandt, which went only 20 yards, Spencer called into play the winning passes which he had used but twice previously in the game.

Three Short Aerials in Row Cost Central Game.

Using quick, short passes, just over the line of scrimmage, Spencer threw the oval just three times, which was sufficient to put the ball over the Central goal. The final toss was sent from the 12-yard line, and Capt. Willis Benner, standing on the 6-yard line, was knocked down by McGinty, Central center, but recovered his feet quickly and, slipping between two groups of Blue and White figures on each side, reeled off the remaining yardage to the score.

It was this passing attack, bewildering Central, that turned the tide

INCEPTION REPEATS IN GAME EFFORT AT LAUREL

Gelding Wins In Stretch Drive

Starts Sluggishly But Outfinishes Dunmore and Fair Ball.

Agua Caliente Comes From Behind for Win in Fourth.

Special to The Washington Post.

LAUREL RACE TRACK, Md., Oct. 25.—O. Chaney, who acquired the 3-year-old gelding, Inception from S. W. Labrot a few days back, appears to have solved the secret of how to make Inception give up his best efforts. Since Chaney took Inception over the latter has carried his colors in two races and on both occasions he has been returned a winner. Inception's victory this afternoon came in the running of the programmed feature race, the Oaklland Handicap, a dash of one mile and a sixteenth. There were six starters and Iollan and Fair Ball, the top weights, had the call over the others, the former going to the post favorite and the latter a well-played second choice.

When it came to the running Iollan was never a factor. Breaking next to last, but quick to find his foot, Inception outran his opposition to the first turn and entering the back stretch he had sprinted into a lead of three lengths. He led by this margin until rounding the far turn where Wellet moved up and entering the home stretch was on almost even terms with the pacemaker.

Inception Stalls Off All Challenges.

Inception stalled off his challenge, but another factor loomed challenge, but another factor loomed up at the end in Dunmore, who came from behind with a bold effort. Cannon roused Inception up a bit and the latter responding with another effort stood Dunmore off and at the end beat him out a length. Fair Ball was a tiring third, beaten half a length for the place.

Another desperate finish came with the running of the fourth race, when Agua Caliente came from behind in the stretch run to wear Sun Broom down and in a sinew-straining finish he was up in the final stride to win by a head. In the early running Prompter, Toki and Too High alternated in setting the pace. They raced in close company, first one in front, then the other. Agua Caliente, who broke slowly, was trailing along with the rear division. Entering the home-stretch Leishman began driving Agua Caliente and the latter responded in game fashion.

In the final furlong, Sun Broom had passed Toki and taken the lead but in the final drive he faltered. Prompter found a big opening on the inside at the top of the stretch and Curran attempted to drive him through but the horse was not there when called on. Just as the barrier was sprung, Lady Marie in breaking overreached herself and grabbed her tendon. The mare stumbled and unseated her rider.

Hacky H. Outgames Mucker To Win Opener.

After many disappointments Hacky H. finally won a race for his popular owner, J. P. McGovern, when he beat a band of maidens in the running of the first race, a dash of six furlongs for two-year-old nonwinner colts and geldings. Tricky Colonel was withdrawn and the other eleven sent out in the entries went to the post. Like all events of this kind there were several supposed "good things" among the lot. Johnny Maiben came over from New York to ride Yarn and according to the flattering report circulated about the colt one would think that the race had already been run. Crossbones and Armageddon were others that were well fancied.

When it came to the race, Hacky H. and Mucker dominated the running all the way. The pair raced like a team from the break and they staged a great stretch duel and at the end Hacky H. proved the gamer of the two and won by a head. Yarn, after a slow beginning, raced in close quarters to the top of the home stretch and when he found a clear passage he closed with a rush that landed him in third place a head in front of Moine, who beat Crossbones a nose. The latter again ran green. He has an awkward way of going, but when he settles down likely will be a fair fort of a colt.

Raspberry Draws Away In Steeplechase.

The conditions of the steeplechase, which called for maidens, brought a field of seven to the post, two of which, Darco and Raspberry, were coupled as the John Bosley, jr., entry. Darco dominated the running most of the trip, passing Rollicking Princess going to the fifth fence, and leading to the twelfth fence, where his stable companion Raspberry caught and passed him. The latter had plenty in hand at the end and increased his advantage at the last sixteenth.

At the finish, Raspberry beat Rollicking Princess by two lengths and a half. Darco was a tiring third, beaten a length and a half for the place. Errant Hawk lost his rider at the tenth fence and Falkland Park pulled up lame.

Lightfoot Don Wins in Improved Effort.

Lightfoot Don came back with an improved performance over his previous effort, when he beat Mary Eloise in the third race. Workman put up one of his million-dollar rides and this in a measure, was responsible for Lightfoot Don winning. Off in a forward position and a keen factor in the early stages, Lightfoot Don went to the front at the furlong pole. A sixteenth from the finishing mark it looked like a sure thing that Mary Eloise would be the winner. The latter was moving up stoutly at the time, but Workman began driving like a demon and Lightfoot Don, hanging on with splendid courage, lasted long enough to win by a neck.

Phil R was third, beaten three lengths for the place, and another nose away finished Zahn. The Rancocas horse raced in rather close quarters in the run down the back stretch. As they swung for home Eady found an opening next the rail which he was quick to take advantage of and for a time it looked as if Zahn would go to the front. The latter had made his bid, however, and when put to the test he failed to answer.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HACKY H., $21.50, $7.80, $4.00; MUCKER, $13.70, $6.30; YARN, $2.90.

HACKY H., breaking better than usual, went into a brief lead at once, stalled off keen opposition from MUCKER the entire trip and outstayed the latter in the final drive. MUCKER offered keen contention while saving ground and held on stoutly. YARN, away slowly, worked his way up fast when in his best stride and was racing the strongest at the end. MOINE dropped back after the break. He finished full of run when settled in his stride. CROSSBONES had speed to reach contention, was under stiff restraint early, but flattened out at end. SUN FALCON had a rough trip. ARMAGEDDON and NELSON were away poorly.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—RASPBERRY, $6.40, $3.50, $3.80; ROLLICKING PRINCESS, $5.80, $5.40; DARCO, $3.80.

RASPBERRY, never far from the leaders, responded to hard urging when put to a drive, took command at the twelfth fence and, stoutly urged at the end, drew out on the flat after the final fence. ROLLICKING PRINCESS, taken back for the first mile, moved up when called on and showed a good effort. She was bothered when the winner swerved after taking the thirteenth fence. DARCO was a keen factor throughout. TRAMAR showed a good test under poor handling. ROCKDALE was never dangerous. FALKLAND PARK went very wide all the way and pulled up lame. ERRANT HAWK lost rider at the tenth jump.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LIGHTFOOT DON, $32.40, $9.90, $6.90; MARY ELOISE, $4.40, $3.60; PHIL R., $12.

LIGHTFOOT DON, placed forwardly, came with good speed to dispose of PHIL R. and, under strong pressure, outlasted MARY ELOISE. Latter moved up strong entering the home stretch, drew on almost equal terms with the winner, but hung right at end. PHIL R. showed a good test all the way and came again at the end. ZAHN slipped through on the inside of the leaders entering the home stretch, but was not good enough. FLASHING made up ground the last half mile. BRANCH tired.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls for all but Lady Marie. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:19. Off at 3:20. Winner, W. Two-dollar mutuels paid—AGUA CALIENTE, $40.40, $20.90, $13.00; SUN BROOM, $7.20, $7.20; TOO HIGH, $7.10.

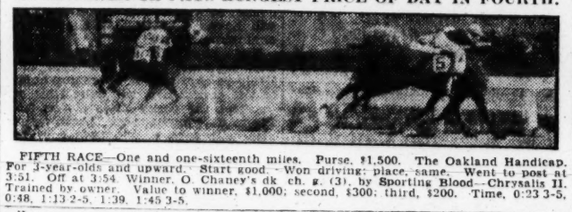
AGUA CALIENTE, badly outpaced for the first half mile, circled his field with high speed, were TOO HIGH down inside the final furlong and, under stiff pressure, just lasted to stall off SUN BROOM. Latter, outrun at the end, came through on the inside and was wearing the winner down rapidly. TOO HIGH raced PROMPTER and TOKI into submission, gained a slight lead, but faltered fast.

AGUA CALIENTE PAYS LONGEST PRICE OF DAY IN FOURTH.



FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,500. The Oakland Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:51. Off at 3:54. Winner, O. Two-dollar mutuels paid—INCEPTION, $14.90, $7.30, $3.80; DUNNMORE, $7.50, $3.80; FAIR BALL, $3.20.

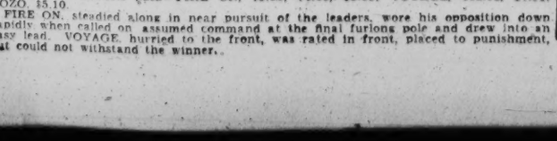
INCEPTION displayed keen speed and outran his field at once, opened up a winning lead and, rated along, had enough in reserve to shake off WELLET and came away nearing the finish. DUNMORE, well in hand early, came with a rush the last half mile. FAIR BALL, under pressure throughout, outstayed WELLET in the final issue. Latter made a bold attempt the last part of the trip, but faltered in the final furlong.

INCEPTION STEPS DOWN IN FRONT IN FEATURE.



SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:25. Off at 4:30. Winner, H. G. Bedwell's b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—FAIR GOLD, $10.40, $3.60, $3.90; WRENCH, $13.60, $7.50; SUPAWNA, $4.80.

FAIR GOLD, avoiding interference going to the first turn, was rated close to the leaders, came courageously when under a drive and in a game finish, was able to withstand WRENCH. Latter, a keen factor all the way, continued with rare energy until the end. SUPAWNA sprinted into a good lead, saved ground, but tired fast when collared. HIGH PLAYER, taken up going to the first turn, made up a lot of ground when given his head. BAG PIPER, caught in a jam at the break, also suffered interference when TOM KANTY bumped into him going to the first turn. He showed a good test. EYELASH was weakly handled.

SUN BEAU PICKED TO WIN WASHINGTON HANDICAP

GREAT FIELD SEEKS RICH PURSE

Sun Beau Seeks Handicap Title Today in $25,000 Race.

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—The distance running turf championship of Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Sun Beau swayed in the balance tonight as 12 of America's best route performers eagerly awaited the bugle blast, calling them forth to battle in the $25,000 added Washington Handicap here tomorrow.

With the promise of a fast track over the mile and a quarter picturesque Laurel course, Sun Beau will have to extend himself if he is to keep his title safe from the challenging field of ranking 3-year-olds, as well as the outstanding adults of the thoroughbred world. Because of his recent triumphs, including the Hawthorne Gold Cup, the Kilmer 4-year-old has been alloted the top weight of 125 pounds.

Three pounds under the champion comes the Le Mar Stock Farm's Misstep, the pride of the West and ranking contender for Sun Beau's laurels. If the race is run true to form, it will be strictly a two-horse battle between Misstep and Sun Beau.

Gaffsman, in Light, May Upset Dope.

But in the remainder of the field, however, there are horses capable of giving either of the favorites a run for the rich purse. Display, 6-year-old veteran of the turf, will pack 120 pounds as will Distraction, "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons' entry from the Belair Stud. Gaffsman, ace of the Canadian-owned Seagram Stable, gets in with the light weight of 112 pounds and, as a result, stands a chance of upsetting the best laid plans of the handicappers.

The remainder of the field with the weights includes: Princess Tina, 106; Naishapur, 108; Searcher, 95; Hot Toddy, 112; Grey Coat, 104; William T., 106, and Glen Wild, 107.

Statistical Nut Says Races Can Be Beaten

The statistical nut breezed into the office last night and after it was all over here is what he left:

There have been nineteen days of racing at Laurel, or 133 races. In those 133 races, 1,197 horses have competed. A flat $2 play on every horse in every race would have meant an outlay of $2,394.00. By playing every horse in every race you would naturally have had every winner, and the total amount returned for the usual investment on those 133 races would have amounted to $2,440.70, a net gain of $46.70.

All of which proves, any statement to the contrary notwithstanding, that the Laurel meeting can be beat.

TECH VICTOR 12-6, OVER CENTRAL

in Tech's favor. Throughout the first half, the game was all Central, with Larry Pinckney living up to all expectations and honestly proving his worth as the threat that he was reputed to be. The former Gonzaga flash time and again crashed his way through the Tech line, and the wonder of it all was that he was not given more chances to gain ground for the Centralites. Much credit, however, should go to George Brandt, Central captain, who on every occasion provided excellent interference for his big back by clearing out many would-be tacklers.

Pinckney Shoots Off Tackle For First Touchdown.

For a time it looked as if the first half might end in a scoreless tie, as the toes of Dick Nelson, of Tech, and George Brandt, of Central, succeeded in keeping the oval away from their respective goal lines with numerous punts. Goss proved the most consistent ground-gainer for the Maroon and Gray, while Pinckney was carrying on his early devastating work to the Tech line.

But late in the second quarter, Central found itself on its opponents' 27-yard line as the result of Colella's return of Nelson's 55-yard kick. It was here that Pinckney started and kept up his offensive tactics which were solely responsible for the only score of the losers. Tearing off five, six and seven yards at a time, the big Blue and White No. 12 carried the ball to the 9-yard mark, from which point the Central ace slipped off right tackle and, with Brandt paving the way, ran through the whole Tech line for the touchdown. Pinckney tried to rush across for the extra point, but the Tech line held.

FIRST QUARTER.

After Tech's opening kick-off, Pinckney made his presence felt with a 5-yard gain off tackle, but Central chose to punt early and then Goss got away for the first long run of the game, a 15-yard dash through tackle to midfield. Reichman and Nelson failed to gain and Tech kicked to Central's 20-yard line.

Pinckney made 20 yards on two plays, but a penalty forced Central to kick. Goss made first down in two rushes, but Spencer was thrown for a 10-yard loss by Cassassa on an attempted pass, and Nelson kicked for Tech. Colella fumbled the punt and Benner recovered for Tech on Central's 35-yard line.

The Central line braced against rushes by Reichman and Nelson and Tech punted for a touchback.

SECOND QUARTER.

Sabatini and Pinckney reeled off a first down for Central, but Brandt later was forced to kick. Nelson stopped 15 yards off tackle on the next play, but Cassassa then threw him for a 5-yard loss. After Goss had made 6 yards at left end and a penalty had cost Tech 15 yards, Spencer threw Tech's first successful pass to Benner for a 20-yard gain to Central's 35-yard line.

Here, Tech was unable to gain and Nelson was tackled by Mirman before getting off his attempted kick, the ball going to Central on downs. On a 12-yard gain by Pinckney and an exchange of punts, Central gained the ball on Tech's 27-yard line and Pinckney singlehanded engineered his drive for a touchdown.

He made 18 yards on three successive thrusts at the line and then in a final dash, behind perfect interference by Capt. Brandt, Pinckney stepped off the remaining 9 yards around right end for the first touchdown. His attempted rush to score the extra point was short.

THIRD QUARTER.

Tech again chose to kick off and Collela once more received for the Blue and White. After an exchange of punts which found Central in possession of the pigskin in midfield, Winston awakened the Tech stands by intercepting Collela's pass on Central's 40-yard line. Spencer then started an attack through the air by passing to Goss for 20 yards, putting the ball on the 16-yard line. Central took time out to recover its breath.

Pinckney broke through to throw Nelson for a 4-yard loss, but Spencer again passed and Benner took the ball 12 yards to within a foot of a first down on the Blue and White 10-yard line. Goss failed on a line plunge and Lamond stopped the Tech onslaught by snagging Spencer's pass on his own 9-yard line. On a fake kick, Pinckney ran 9 yards through the center of Tech's line, as the quarter ended.

FOURTH QUARTER.

Pinckney was hurt on a play that netted 5 yards, but gamely resumed. On the next play the pass from center bounded out of Sabatini's hands high into the air and Spencer caught the oval before it struck the ground, with a clear path to a touchdown, which tied the score. Capt. Brandt broke through and blocked Benner's kick for the extra point.

After the next kick-off, a fumble by Pinckney gave Tech the ball on Central's 30-yard line, and Nelson made 9 yards at right end. He fumbled on the next play and Mirman recovered for Central. Brandt kicked to Reichman, who fumbled, but recovered. Failing to gain, Nelson kicked outside on Central's 4-yard line and after failing to gain, Central punted. Brandt's only poor kick of the day resulted, and Tech was in possession on Central's 33-yard line.

Tech's aerial pyrotechnics then followed. After two failures, Reichman gained 9 yards on a pass from Spencer, and Nelson caught another for a first down on the 15-yard line. Another pass was knocked down by Brandt, but on the next play Spencer threw the winning pass to Capt. Benner, who took the ball 6 yards from the goal was knocked down by McGinty but recovered his feet and dashed between two would-be tacklers for the winning touchdown. Benner's kick was wide of the posts. There was time for only two plays after the kick-off before the final whistle.

MRS. HODGES ANNEXES MIDATLANTIC GOLF CROWN

Links Thriller Decided on 19th Hole

Mrs. Nicolson Evens Match After Being 6 Down, 7 to Play.

Chip Shot Holed Out of Trap Wins Title on Extra Hole.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

THE most spectacular uphill battle ever staged in a final round in this section marked the conclusion yesterday of the women's annual golf championship of the Middle Atlantic Golf Association and came to a dramatic climax when Mrs. J. M. Hodges, Army, Navy and Marine Corps Club, defeated Mrs. Hugh T. Nicolson, of the Washington Golf and Country Club and the District woman champion, on the nineteenth hole of the Columbia course. When it is stated that Mrs. Nicolson was 6 down and only 7 to play, but squared the match on the eighteenth, some idea may be gained of a struggle that will go down in local golfing history.

Mrs. Nicolson was 4 down at the turn. Both players were on even terms at the fifth tee, but Mrs. Nicolson lost the fifth, seventh, eighth and ninth holes, not through missed drives, topped brassies or misjudged approaches, but because she took three putts on each of the greens. She lost the tenth and the eleventh when Mrs. Hodges holed out single putts for par 4s on each hole. With Mrs. Nicolson now 6 down, without having won a single hole, her outlook for victory seemed worse than hopeless.

Remarkable Rally Staged By Mrs. Nicolson.

Then came Mrs. Nicolson's remarkable come-back. She won the twelfth with a single putt for a 5, after Mrs. Hodges had played her third shot into a trap and was some distance from the pin in 4; won the thirteenth when Mrs. Hodges badly sliced her drive and was not on the green with her second, and the fourteenth when Mrs. Hodges, after another sliced drive into the rough and an adventure in a trap, holed out in 7. The last four holes were played by Mrs. Nicolson in exactly par figures. She holed out in 4 on the fifteenth and had a par 3 on the sixteenth, when Mrs. Hodges' tee shot was in a trap and her second shot was across the green.

With Mrs. Hodges now only 1 up, the players went to the seventeenth tee at the top of the hill and both had fine drives against a northwest gale to the flat. Mrs. Nicolson's second shot failed to reach the green, stopping on the hillside, while Mrs Hodges' second landed her ball about 10 feet from the pin. Mrs. Nicolson's approach was 12 feet short, but with a nervy putt that never deviated from the line, she holed out for a 4. Mrs Hodges took two putts and halved the hole.

Mrs. Hodges Wins 19th Hole On Miracle Shot.

On the eighteenth Mrs. Hodges hooked her drive and after her second shot had at least 175 yards between her ball and the green. She played a magnificent iron shot to the green. Mrs. Nicolson also played 3 to the green, leaving herself a putt that was fully 18 or 20 feet. She holed it, winning from Mrs. Hodges, who took two putts for a 5.

Then came the nineteenth hole. Both had good drives. Mrs. Hodges played her second to the left of the green and Mrs. Nicolson went into the trap guarding the green. Mrs. Hodges, with topped approach, sent her ball skidding across the putting surface into the sand beyond. Mrs. Nicolson played out of her trap to within 10 feet of the pin. Mrs. Hodges, with a miracle shot, chipped into the cup from the sand for a 4.

Mrs. Nicolson putted and when her ball stopped 2 inches from the pin she shook hands with the victor. Mrs. Hodges, by the way, played two previous nineteen-hole matches, one against Mrs. E. B. Morrow, Baltimore Country Club, and the other against Miss Effie Bowes, Elkridge, to reach the final round.

YALE STARS ARRAYED AGAINST ARMY'S

Yale will attempt to match Cagle and Murell with Albie Booth, diminutive sophomore sensation, when the two teams meet this afternoon at the New Haven Bowl. Freddy Loeser is one of the big Yale forwards who faces the task of stopping the brilliant Army backs.

D. C. Pigeon Fanciers Attend N. Y. Meeting

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Oct. 25.—With more than 2,000 racing pigeon fanciers in attendance, the International Federation of Homing Pigeon and the American Racing Pigeon Union met here tonight at the Pennsylvania Hotel in their forty-ninth and twentieth annual meeting, respectively. Delegates were present from every State in the Union, while Canada was also represented.

Great regret was expressed at the Government's intention to practically abandon the naval lofts which would make it imperative for fanciers to volunteer birds and service again in the event of another war with the War Department hampered by lack of organization. The pigeons' service in the past war with a 97 per cent average for delivery, clearly demonstrated the usefulness of the feathered messengers, it was claimed at the meeting.

Altogether, there were 24 fanciers attending the convention from Washington, and among the six speakers on the program, W. F. Dismer and D. C. Buscall and H. C. Burke hailed from the Nation's Capital.

G. W. Frosh Trounce Maryland Junior Varsity

George Washington University Freshmen scored their second win in three starts this season when they downed the Maryland University's junior varsity eleven in a 32-19 conflict yesterday at College Park. Starting off with a rush by scoring two touchdowns in the opening quarter, the G. W. team was never headed and the last two scores of the Marylanders were made only after the Colonials had put the game safely in the bag.

The Buff and Blue frosh, who promise to develop into excellent varsity material next year, were headed by Billy Wells, quarter back and Half Back Carlin, who between them, scored four 6-pointers. Within the first five minutes of play, Wells had plunged over for the first score, while Carlin followed a moment later with another.

MILLION TO SEE GRID GAMES TODAY

on hand, eager to check the Ramblers' rush.

The clash of two other unbeaten teams, Harvard and Dartmouth, before 58,000 at Cambridge, is another difficult game to "dope." The big green team, with Al Marsters leading its drive, is a slight favorite. Counter factors are the Crimsons' strength in its own stronghold, its ability to rise to emergencies and the jinx it has frequently held over the Hanoverians.

Fordham's high-powered Maroon machine faces a test against Davis and Elkins, renowned as a giant-killing array, but is figured to win and keep a clean slate. The Navy is favored over Princeton. New York University over Butler, Syracuse over Brown and Holy Cross over Marquette in other Eastern engagements.

Chance for Upsets In Big Ten.

The Big Ten program offers plenty of chance for additional upsets. Purdue and Chicago, two unbeaten contenders, are well matched, with the Boilermakers holding an edge in offensive strength. Ohio State is favored to down Indiana and hold its pace-setting position. The championship team of Illinois, already tied faces twice-beaten Michigan, while Iowa invades Wisconsin's stronghold.

The Big Six race may be decided by the outcome of the fray between Missouri's Tigers and the championship Nebraska eleven at Columbia, another game where the rivals are closely matched.

Tulane's title hopes in the South are based upon stopping Georgia Tech's Tornado, but it will take all of the skill of Bill Banker and his mates to turn the trick, even with Tech suffering some casualties. Georgia's Bulldogs, if they maintain their fast gait, figure to beat Florida in another close game. Tennessee's Volunteers expect to keep their slate clean at the expense of Washington & Lee.

Utah's strong array, holding the Rocky Mountain title, is an overwhelming favorite to beat Colorado Aggies at Fort Collins. In the Southwestern Conference, the championship Texas eleven is favored to beat Rice and take the lead, while Arkansas and Texas Aggies struggle to get out of the "second division."

NAVY PRIMED TO BATTLE TIGERS

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 25.—A sharp drill in signals and special formations designed especially for the enemy, kicking and handling punts, featured the final workout of the Navy football players for the battle with the Princeton Tigers in Palmer Stadium tomorrow afternoon. Dummy scrimmaging and more individual instruction as to tactics to be employed in stopping the foe's attack, also were stressed.

Back Field to Boast Experience.

In gra msaid he leans to this backfield combination because it is composed of more seasoned players. All were in last year's game against the Tigers and have played the greater part of this year, though Castree is just rounding into old-time form. Two other back-field strings, equally as strong, are ready for service at immediate call, and there is no doubt but that Rusty Williams, new-found quarter who performed so brilliantly against Duke; Dale Bauer, Toth, Thscirgi and others will get into the battle at one stage or another.

Starting H. W. Bauer in place of his younger brother, Dale, gives more weight to the quartette. There is not a ma nin the forward fal less than 175 pounds. Chapple, at guard, carries the greatest. He carries 200 pounds on his 6-foot frame. Moret, Byng and Hughes are 175-pounders, and the others range between 180 and 190.

Navy will not be without a big cheering section to meet the challenge of the Princeton student body, as the entire regiment of approximately 2,000 will make the trip, and many officers assigned to the local naval station, members of their families and hundreds of local fans will be on hand. The vanguard left today, either by train or in motor parties.

Secretary of Navy to Head Dignitaries.

The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Charles Francis Adams will head the list of naval dignitaries at the at the game. They will join Admiral Robison and hsi party at Philadelphia. Many Navy folks from New York and Philadelphia will be on hand to cheer the Middies and the occasion will be a big social gathering of the naval set.

Many of the local naval contingent have accepted the invitation of the Princeton athletic board of control to attend luncheon at the Princeton Inn. Following the game the entire body of midshipmen will be supper guests of the Princeton student body.

Washington-Lee High Swamps Mason, 51-0

The Washington and Lee High School Eleven, coached by Carter Diffey, former University of Virginia star, scored its second victory in the Third District race yesterday, swamping a lighter George Mason team, 51-0. Mortimer, Washington and Lee quarter back, made a bid for State honors by scoring five touchdowns. The Little Generals had an advantage of 15 pounds to the man. Their foes put up a plucky battle.

Assistant M. A. Pros Led by Gene Larkin

The championship of the assistant professionals of the Middle Atlantic Professional Golfer's Association, played yesterday on the course of the Congressional Country Club, 36 holes, medal play, was won by Gene Larkin, assistant professional of the Chevy Chase Club, who led Sidney C. Moore, of the Congressional Club, three strokes. Larkin's card was 82—77—159, while Moore had 80—82—162. Archie Clark, also of the Congressional Club, finished third with 83—83—166.

At the conclusion of the morning round, Moore led the field by two strokes, Larkin being next with 82. In the afternoon, however, Moore met with disaster on the fifth hole, where after a series of missed shots played in the teeth of a gale, he expended seven strokes. This enabled Larkin to forge into the lead, playing the first nine in 39, and when he came home in 38 as against Moore's 41, he won the title. The cards of the two leaders:

Woodward 13-0 Victor In Warrenton Battle

Special to The Washington Post.

Warrenton, Va., Oct. 25.—Woodward Prep School of Washington, D. C., won an exciting game of football here today, defeating the Warrenton High School of this city, 13-to-0.

Willingham and Myers formed the winning attack with both going over for a touchdown. The first named ran 20 yards around end to the first score of the game in the opening period and Myers added the extra point with a placement kick. Ford, Woodward tackle, played a bang-up game for the winners.

Smallwood to Fight In Chicago Wednesday

Joe Smallwood, in the opinion of fight experts one of the best welterweights turned out here in years, will get a chance to move into the "big money" class next Wednesday when he meets a welterweight to be selected by Jack Dempsey's matchmaker in Chicago. Smallwood departs for the Windy City tomorrow and will finish his training in Mullins' gymnasium.

If Smallwood wins he will be given a main event in St. Louis two weeks later, and after that he will be brought back to Chicago for a bout on an all-star card. Smallwood's most recent fight was at Hagerstown last Tuesday, when he defeated Al Conway, of Philadelphia. Conway went the limit on two occasions with Vince Dundee, who recently fought Jackie Fields for the title.

CATHOLIC U. CUBS BEAT GONZAGA

Freshmen Win, 24-6, by Strong Attack in Second Half.

CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY'S freshmen eleven yesterday rang up its third straight victory in the Brookland Stadium, defeating Gonzaga High by 24 to 6 for the first loss the Purple has suffered this season. The result marked the tenth time in succession that a Catholic freshmen team has won since the start of the 1928 season. Coach Eddie Lafond's club of last fall having captured seven in a row without a defeat.

Held to a stand-off in the first half, the Brookland Cubs came back strong in the final two quarters and ran away with the decision. Walsh Conroy, Shearer and O'Connor, in the winners' back field, were the outstanding players.

Blocked Kick Leads To Touchdown.

Gonzaga's lone touchdown resulted from the blocking of a freshmen punt in the first quarter, shortly after the yearlings had scored. Line plunges and a pass were mixed in manufacturing the Gonzaga touchdown. Near the close of the game Gonzaga took the ball to the freshmen's 1-yard line but failed to register with a forward pass into the end zone.

Feature at Aurora Easy for Eager Play

Aurora, Ill., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Goff's 3-year-old My Play colt, Eager Play, met six other selling platers in the fourth event here this afternoon, and he blazed the trail from start to finish, to win in easy fashion by four lengths. I. J. Cole's 7-year-old Friend raced in closest pursuit all the way, but could never menace the winner, and E. E. Major's 3-year-old Bobby Basil raced evenly throughout in third position. It was Eager Play's first victory since returning from Canada, where he compalgned last summer. His time for the mile and 70 yards over a heavy track was 1:52 flat, and his mutual figures read $24.32 for $2.

R. Deperini, an apprentice rider, was again in the spotlight today with two winning mounts and two which finished in second place. His winners were the one in the second and Haymaker in the fifth. He also rode Peralta and Molly Dear, which finished in second position.

Glass High Battles Maury at Norfolk

Lynchburg, Va., Oct. 25.—Glass High football team will go into its conference game at Norfolk Saturday with Maury High without the services of Ralph Perkins, fast back field man, who sustained a broken bone in one of his feet in the Salem High game last Friday. An X-ray negative disclosed the trouble.

Cralle, hard punting star, will return to Saturday's game, having been out for three weeks on account of an injury to one of his knees. Leys is expected to take Perkins' place in the back field in the Norfolk game.

James to Manage Takoma Tiger Nine

J. B. Simpson was elected president of the Takoma Tigers Baseball Team and Paul James manager, at a meeting held last night at the home of Garrett Waters, who was installed as business manager.

Bith Simpson and James were very active with the club this season, the former as treasurer and the latter as one of the most dependable players on the roster. Their selection, with Waters as business manager, closed one of the most successful seasons in the Tigers' history.

4 CAPITAL COLLEGES ON FOREIGN FIELDS

concerned, the Gothamites will have nothing on the Colonials, who, too, have gone victoryless thus far.

American University is all set to wage its mightiest fight of the campaign against Loyola. Coach Walter Young's aggregation may surprise the Evergreen outfit if its overhead tactics take effect. Owing to Loyola's decided advantage in weight, it is doubtful if American will attempt to do much with the Baltimoreans' line.

3 to 0 in one of the most astonishing upsets of the Big Ten season.

Illinois, although held to a tie by Iowa, is favored to triumph over the Wolverines, but the crafty Zuppke, viewing the psychological situation as identical to that of a year ago, is fearful that his team may be overconfident. The game will be played before a home-coming crowd of 60,000.

Purdue Favored to Win Over Chicago.

The one game that will cause a disturbance among the four teams that have a perfect record will be the Chicago-Purdue affair. Although the Maroons appear to be steadily improving and have a victory over Indiana as their major triumph, Purdue will enter the game heavily favored to win. Purdue will send a fast and tricky eleven against Old Man Stagg's warriors, with a well-developed scoring punch.

The rampaging Ohio State warriors with the scalps of Iowa and Michigan to their credit, have Indiana to deal with, but since the Hoosiers have been beaten by Notre Dame, Chicago and Colgate, they do not appear to be tough opposition.

Iowa has a score to settle with Wisconsin, and as the Badgers have displayed no signs of coming to life in Big Ten competition, tomorrow may be the Hawkeyes' chance. The Badgers spoiled Iowa's championship hopes last year by defeating the Hawkeyes in the mud and rain at Iowa City.

3 Leading Southern Elevens Risk Title Chances Today

By EDDIE BREITZ
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Championship hopes of three leading contenders in the South are at stake in the six intraconference struggles scheduled tomorrow. In addition, there will be four intersectional games and a score of minor engagements. The game with Georgia Tech at New Orleans will make or break Tulane, so far as the conference is concerned. Georgia, also undefeated, must trim an aroused Florida Team to stay in the running. Washington and Lee can wreck Tennessee's chances by turning in an upset at Roanoke. The Gobblers of Virginia Poly venture into the conference for the first time against North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Alabama plays Sewanee at Birmingham and Virginia Military and Maryland meet at Richmond in games that have no bearing on the title chase.

Two Teams in Outside Contests.

Two conference elevens roam afield Duke meets Villa Nova at Philadelphia, while North Carolina State goes West to meet Michigan State at East Lansing.

Oglethrope's Petrels entertain Dayton College at Atlanta and Loyola, of New Orleans, will be at Detroit to play Detroit University.

The other teams have breathers scheduled and they are more than welcome after the fierce tussles of last week, which filled the hospitals with casualties.

One exception, however, is Mississippi, which may have to cut out the best it has in shop to stop Southern Methodist at Dallas.

Vanderbilt, Virginia In Easy Games.

Vanderbilt warms up with Maryville. Virginia anticipates little trouble with St. John's, of Annapolis, and Kentucky expects to coast through its clash with Centre. Auburn seems to have a decided edge over Howard.

Feature attractions in the S. I. A. A. send Chattanooga against Mercer, the Citadel against Presbyterian and Southwestern against Millsaps. Miami, with a clean slate, takes on Rollins. The rest of the schedule in this group calls for Transylvania to play Georgetown, of Kentucky, Furman to meet Wofford, Spring Hill Mississippi College, and Birmingham-Southern to tackle Union, of Tennessee.

Capital City Champions Get Trophies at Dance

A buffet supper and dance in honor of the Try-Me Aces and Vic Sport Shop Nines, respective senior and junior champions of the Capital City Baseball League for 1929, will be held next Thursday night at Odd Fellows Temple, 419 Seventh street northwest.

Presentation of the championship trophies, donated by The Washington Post, will be one of the features of the program. A large attendance is expected.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

Special to The Washington Post.

Alexandria, Va., Oct. 25.—Episcopal High School Football Team will have as their opponents on Hoxton Field tomorrow afternoon the Swaveley Prep School, of Manassas. The game will start at 3:30 p. m., and a large number of fans from Alexandria are expected to attend.

Next Saturday, Episcopal will meet Gilman County School of Baltimore in one of their principal games of the season. Next to Woodberry Forest, Gilman School is one of Episcopal's greatset rivals, and the game always attracts a large crowd.

The St. Mary's Celtics held an important practice tonight at Baggett's Stadium, in preparation for their game Sunday with the Fort Leonard Wood Tank Corps Team. Coach Rube Hayman put his charges through a stiff drill, and they are all in great shape for the contest.

Parnell Bound Easy Winner at Empire

Empire City Race Track, N. Y., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Parnell Bound, which began his racing career at the fair grounds, New Orleans, last winter, kept up his brilliant record by adding the Beechnut Handicap, a sprint of about 6 furlongs, here today. The colt carried 121 pounds and conceded weight to all the field. He made all the pace and won easily. It was the best race the colt has ever run as he was meeting some really good colts in the race.

N. Wall, who rode Parnell Bound, rushed him to the front at the start and rating him along made Questionaire stop, then drew out to win by a length and a half. Questionnaire beat Jolly Pal four lengths for the place.

Devon Finishes Fast To Score at Latonia

Latonia Race Track, Ky., Oct. 25 (A. P.).—Four high class thoroughbreds met this afternoon in the Havlin Hotel Handicap and when the race was finished J. J. Greeley's Devon, 6-year-old son of Light Brigade, was throwing mud in the face of J. W Parrish's Rolled Stocking. It looked like Rolled Stocking had the race on ice when he broke on top and quickly went into a lead of three lengths, which advantage he held right into the stretch, but Devon, who was held under restraint the first half-mile, had steadily improved his position and, when the stretch turn was reached, he began wearing down the leader, slowly raced him into defeat and won by two lengths, with speed to spare. Peter Dixon and Broadside, the only other starters, were always far in the rear. Peter Dixon finishing fifteen lengths back of Rolled Stocking, to take the show.

Devon's time for the mile and an eighth was 1:59 1-5 and his backers collected at the rate for $16.40 for $2.

R. Finnerty and P. Neal each completed doubles today. Finnerty, with Wood River and Camp Boss, and Neal bringing in Devon and Billie Leonard.

VALLEY FOES TO OPPOSE GALLAUDET

Shenandoah Facing Hughes' Best Team in Recent Years.

THE first local appearance of the Gallaudet College Eleven, the strongest turned out at the Kendall Green institution in several years, is scheduled this afternoon when Coach Teddy Hughes sends his blue-clad warriors against Shenandoah Valley College on Hotchkiss Field, starting at 2:30 o'clock.

Past performances of the rival teams indicate an easy victory for Gallaudet. Shenandoah was smothered under a 51-0 score by American University, while the Blues bowed to St. John's and Maryland only after hard battles.

Gallaudet must play heads up football today if it is to win by a wide margin. Since holding Maryland to a 13-6 count last Saturday, the Blues have shown a tendency to let down. Coach Hughes has fought the over-confidence bugaboo all week and is not satisfied with the present spirit of his men.

Hughes Looks Ahead to Hardest Games.

In order that he may get a line on his reserves, Hughes will make many substitutions this afternoon. He is looking ahead to a couple of stiff games, those with University of Baltimore and Temple University. The starting Gallaudet line-up will be as follows:

Hyattesville Team Takes Soccer Title

Hyattsville High School's soccer ball team won the championship of Prince Georges County yesterday when it defeated the Marlboro team 4 to 2, on the Rosedale Playground.

W. & L. Frosh Swamp Fishburne Cadets

Waynesboro, Va., Oct. 25.—Washington and Lee's Freshman Football Team ran wild to defeat Fishburne Military School, 40 to 0, here this afternoon. Fishburne staged a strong offensive drive which carried the ball from its own 9-yard line to the visitors 1-yard line just as time for the first half ended. Rice, Dutrow and Lindsay performed well for the locals.

OCTOBER 26, 1904.

Local grocers who are talking of importing the nickel loaf of bread from Baltimore bakeries have been told by the inspector of weights and measures that every loaf they import and sell must weigh one pound, otherwise they are subject to a fine in court.

"What Is in a Name?"

"Answers given at Patent Office of people with inventions."

Mr. Wheat invented a plow spring, Mr. Stone a rock drill, Mr. Pearce a magazine for firearms, Mr. Hoard a money box, Mr. Cook an automatic boiler, Mr. Hour a clock, Mr. Speed a railway speed recorder.

Western Football Team defeated Business, 34 to 0, in the interhigh football series at the American League Park. Business did not make one first down during the entire game and were forced to kick each time they had the ball.

Columbia Golf Club Team defeated the Chevy Chase Team for the Star Trophy Cup. The members of the winning team were L. L. Harban, W. S. Harban, A. S. Mattingly, J. C. Davidson, L. A Weaver, E. P. Brooke, J. W. McKinley and James Baird. The losers were O. McCannon, F. O. Horstman, S. Dalzell, W. M. Gray, W. Tuckerman, W. P. Compton and M. Thompson.

The District Commissioners, Macfarland and West, returned to Washington after a week's visit to the World's Fair at St. Louis.

What Today Means to You

"SCORPIO."

IF October 26 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., and from 7 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:30 a. m. to 10:30 a. m., and from 2 p. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Astrological influences favor new enterprises which may be launched on this date. New interests will be awakened and untried mental fields will be explored. A temporary shadow is cast over personal affairs.

A child born on this October 26 will be prone to tire of an undertaking before it is completed. It will lack application, diligence and perseverance. It will have a good mind, and will possess many talents.

Your head and not your heart is the dictator to whom you listen. There are few times that you allow your sympathies or sentiment to rule. You quiet the throbbings of your heart unless cold reason is in accord. You are cool-headed, calculating and clever. The spiritual side of your make-up is almost effaced by your strongly developed mental and physical senses. Until some great love or grief has played on your heart string, you will remain an efficient machine. Some stupendous, passionate force is needed to reach your heart's core and awaken your divine and human spark.

You have a tremendous influence upon those about you—your will is over-powering, and you are the ruler wherever you are, and with whomever you are thrown. You are not, however, in any way a bully or tyrant. You are naturally accepted as a leader, and it is seldom that you have to fight for your position. You believe in justice, you respect others' rights, and you never trod on those who are beneath you. You fight fairly, but with almost brutal determination, and you collect full payment for an injury. You courageously admit your own wrongs, and honorably try to "make good."

For the sake of happiness, there should be one dictator in your home, and it must be you.

Successful people born October 26:

Adelaide Phillips—Actress and prima donna.

Daniel C. Heath—Publisher.

E. M. Statler—Hotel owner.

Alfred G. Bookwalter—Regional executive Y. M. C. A.

George Gordon Battle—Lawyer.

ELLA CINDERS— Cash in Hand — By Bill Conselman and Charlie Plumb

Ella's father, Samuel Cinders, is in Hollywood after being missing a year. During that time he had an amusing adventure. At the risk of his life he traced Wah Kee, a tong man, to Shanghai and got back $50,000 that had been stolen from him. At the crucial moment, Sing Lo, a Chinese military commander, came to his rescue.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

3,000 ENJOY PARADE, MARDI GRAS FETE

Arlington County Residents Line Wilson Boulevard for Celebration.

GOV. BYRD GUEST TODAY

BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The mardi gras celebration in observance of the opening of the Wilson boulevard through the business section of Clarendon got under way last night at 7 o'clock when, with hundreds of lights ablaze, a parade, headed by four "Miss Arlington" contest winners, filed along a route lined by more than 3,000 persons.

Following the parade the program included several vaudeville acts by Virginia Carroll, Caroline Carroll, Marion Lee, Joseph Basso and Charles Walsh from Washington theaters. The music during the entertainment was furnished by "Happy" Walker's Orchestra from Washington.

With many booths lined along the boulevard, flanked by thousands that crowded the roadway in an effort to get refreshments, much amusement prevailed until 9 o'clock, when the boulevard was cleared and dancing enjoyed until after midnight.

The affair was sponsored by the Business Men and Merchants Association of Clarendon in cooperation with the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce and the general committee in charge declared it the greatest success of any event ever held in the town.

Plans were completed at a meeting of the executive committee of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce for a conference this afternoon at the Washington Golf and Country Club with Gov. Harry F. Byrd, Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, executive officer of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, and a group of the county's prominent citizens.

The conference is being held, it is understood, to better acquaint Gov. Byrd with the need of closer cooperation between State and county officials for the greater development of this portion of Virginia as a part of the metropolitan area. Following the conference, a tour of the county will be made to show the governor the great possibilities for development in cooperation with the plans of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

In the evening at 6:30 o'clock, at the high school, the quarterly dinner meeting will be held with Gov. Byrd, Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d and H. G. Shirley as the honored guests.

Following the dinner there will be a public meeting held in the school auditorium at which Gov. Byrd will deliver his address on "The Progress and the Future of Virginia."

Upon motion of State Senator Frank L. Ball, counsel for Harry N. Douthitt, charged with attempting to bribe Circuit Court Judge Howard W. Smith, Judge Frederick W. Coleman continued the case yesterday until Saturday, November 9, at 9:30 o'clock.

The request for the continuance was made on the ground that Attorney William E. Leahy, of Washington, associate counsel in the case, was unable to be present in court.

Judge Coleman, of Fredericksburg, was appointed special judge to hear the case by Gov. Harry F. Byrd.

Hugh Reid, member of the House of Delegates, returning from Richmond, announced last night that while there he conferred with many members of the General Assembly from districts which would be affected by the proposal now being considered for a redistribution of the gasoline tax, and he has the assurance of their support to fight any change now.

Reid stated that one of the first things that must be done is to organize those counties that will be affected, as will Arlington County, with the view of making a strong fight to defeat any change at this time.

Discussing general issues, Reid declared that he will fight any bill introduced in the General Assembly that would tend to relieve any city from paying to a county, when annexing any part of the county, for all improvements made within the area affected.

"Had there been such a law on the statute books Arlington County would have lost the $500,000 which the City of Alexandria has to pay her for all the improvements within the area gained in the recent annexation proceedings," Reid said.

"Another measure I shall favor, if reelected as delegate from Arlington County, will be an increase in the State aid for public schools throughout the State," said Reid.

The monthly meeting of the Arlington County Teachers Association will be held today in the auditorium of the Washington Lee High School at 9:30 o'clock. President C. M. Richmond will preside.

The Cherrydale Council, No. 11, Daughters of America, will present an American flag to the Saegmuller School. The presentation on the part of the organization will be made by Mrs. Mary E. Hudson and will be accepted for the school by County School Superintendent Fletcher Kemp.

State Senator Frank L. Ball is announced as the principal speaker.

The bowling team of the Arlington Volunteer Fire Department will play its scheduled game in the Arlington-Fairfax Firemen's League tonight at the Rosslyn alleys.

Announcement was made yesterday that the Alexandria Arlington-Fairfax Real Estate Board plans to entertain the members of Washington Real Estate Board at dinner at the Washington Golf and Country Club Thursday evening, November 7.

Preceding the dinner, the group will make a tour of northern Virginia, the purpose of which is to point out the great possibilities for future development in the hills of northern Virginia.

Lieut. Col. R. H. Leavitt, United States Army, conducted the fall inspection of the cadet corps at the Washington Lee High School yesterday.

The report following the inspection shows that the cadets made an excellent showing and continue to show great improvement over last year.

It was announced that plans are now under way for the formation of a cadet band. The instruments, it is learned, have been ordered.

The Arlington Rotary Club held its luncheon meeting yesterday at the Washington Golf and Country Club with Dr. R. N. Sutton presiding.

Dr. L. Clarke, chancellor of the American University, and member of the Washington Rotary Club, addressed the club on "Fellowship," declaring that Rotary International was a great force in developing peace and good fellowship.

The Woman's Brown-for-Governor Club, will give a luncheon at the Boulevard Bakery at Clarendon today at 1 o'clock, to which all women who are interested in the election of Dr. William Moseley Brown for governor are invited.

The organization is a continuation of the Woman's Hoover-Curtis Club organized last fall for work in the presidential election.

The club has completed its plans to attend the Republican mass meeting to be held in the Cherrydale Firemen's Hall at which Col. Henry Anderson will be the principal speaker.

At a largely attended meeting held last night in the aditorium of the John Marshall School, Glebe road and Livingston street, Livingston Heights, the Arlington County Zoning Commission held the first of a series of meetings at which the zoning ordinance for the county will be considered.

The hearing last night covered that area of East Falls Church this side of the corporate limits and the Carne election district.

With little or no opposition the sections covered were zoned largely as residential with the exceptions of that section at the intersection of the Lee highway with Glebe road and a short section in the vicinity of Lee Heights along the Lee highway.

The commission adopted a resolution to the effect that before any public hearings all organizations within the area to be considered will be notified by the secretary of the commission.

An invitation will be extended to the executive committee of all associations interested in the public hearing to be held at the courthouse Thursday night October 31 to meet with the commission Wednesday night, October 30 at the courthouse.

INQUIRY IS ENDED BY GASTONIA JURY

NO NEW EVIDENCE HEARD

Gastonia, N. C., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Final adjournment of the Gaston County grand jury today brought to an end, for the present at least, all investigations of mob violence in the State's premier cotton-mill county.

The jury in returning its final report, did not mention any of the various matters connected with mob violence brought before it. It yesterday reported to Judge Hoyle Sink that it had not received enough evidence to warrant returning indictments against nine men arrested in connection with the death of Mrs. Ella May Wiggins and seven held on charges of assault on three kidnaped labor organizers.

Judge Sink admonished the jury that it was its duty to continue the investigation in the Wiggins case in every way possible. No other evidence was presented in connection with the case, in so far as could be learned today.

The only criminal case growing out of the violence that resulted from efforts of the National Textile Workers Union to organize mills in this section are charges of carrying concealed weapons against Liston M. Oak, publicity director for the International Labor Defense, and of reckless driving against C. M. Greer, who drove Oak and a group of women to Gastonia for a meeting the day Mrs. Wiggins was shot to death by a mob. Neither of these cases has been called at this term of court. There are pending in Charlotte a number of lawsuits against the sheriff and former chief of police of Charlotte, charging false arrest. These suits were brought by seven men who were arrested and charged with revolting against the State government, but who were released for lack of evidence.

Virginians to Consider Public School System

Richmond, Va., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—The public school situation in Virginia will be given a comprehensive discussion during the annual convention of the Virginia Education Association here November 26-30.

Among the speeches will be "The Need of an Equalization Fund in Virginia," by Dr. M. L. Combs, president of State Teachers College, Fredericksburg; "The State Superintendent Should Be Appointed by the State Board of Education," by Dr. J. N. Hillman, president of Emory and Henry College; "State-wide Nine Months School Session," by a speaker not yet selected; "A State-wide System of Supervision of the Rural Schools," by Dr. John L. Manahan, dean of the department of education, University of Virginia; and "Free High School Training for All the Children of the State," by Ashton Dovell, member of House of Delegates from Williamsburg.

Mrs. Ira Copley Dies in Baltimore

Wife of Newspaper Man Succumbs to Effect of Operation.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Mrs. Edith Strohn Copley, wife of Col. Ira C. Copley, newspaper publisher of Illinois and California, died late last night at St. Agnes' Hospital here from an infection following a sinus operation. The body will be taken to Aurora, Ill., for burial Wednesday.

Mrs. Copley and her husband came to Baltimore to attend dedication exercises of the William Holland Wilmer Ophthalmological Institute at Johns Hopkins University last week. They were active in securing the endowment of the institute.

Following the exercises, Mrs. Copley sought treatment for neuralgia and the sinus operation was performed October 17. Her sister, Mrs. Eleanor McCauley, of Los Angeles, and her husband were with her when she died.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon.

TRADE GAIN NOTED IN RICHMOND AREA

Federal Reserve Report for September Indicates Good Business.

COLLECTIONS IMPROVE

Richmond, Va., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Trade in shoes, hardware, dry goods and drugs in the Fifth Federal Reserve District showed gains of from 1 to 12.5 per cent in September as compared with a year ago, the Federal Reserve bank monthly report released here shows.

Wholesale trade generally showed a gain in September, 1929, in comparison with figures for September, 1928, as well as registering normal gains over August trade. Wholesale groceries, however, declined from the 1928 level.

The largest gain over August this year was shown in dry goods, the per cent increase being 19.6. Five wholesale shoe firms reported September sales 12.5 above last year; fourteen hardware firms showed a 6.3 per cent gain; ten dry goods concerns had a gain of 4.2 per cent and twelve drug dealers reported a 1 per cent rise. According to the reports of 26 wholesale grocery firms, their sales were 4.1 per cent below last year.

Drugs alone showed gains in total sales for the period, January 1 to September 30, 1929, compared with figures for the same period of 1928. The drug line gain was but eight-tenths per cent.

Collections were reported as being better in wholesale lines in September in comparison with last year. The percentage of collections to outstanding receivables for September, 1929 varied from 59 per cent in groceries to 20.6 per cent in shoes.

Clean Fruit-Stand Drive Under Way

Virginia Law Requires Wares Be Sold From Covered Cases.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—A crusade against fruit stand operators who persist in selling certain of their wares from uncovered receptacles has been instituted by the dairy and food division, State Department of Agriculture, F. C. Breazeal, director, announces. Twenty-six arrests already have been made in Richmond, the director stated. The law, applying to cleanliness in handling and keeping certain fruits, provides that fines of from $25 to $300 may be imposed on violators.

Grapes, raisins, currants, figs, prunes, dates, berries, cherries and plums come under the provisions, which are: "Food in the process of manufacture, preparation, packing storing, sale or distribution, must be securely protected from flies, dust, dirt, and as far as may be necessary, from all other foreign or injurious contamination."

Attention of the division has been called, said Breazeal, to the fact that fruit dealers in many sections of the State are disposing of fruit from receptacles which are either not covered or which are covered with wire netting, considered by division inspectors to be insufficient in view of the provisions of the law.

Woman Killed in Elevator Shaft.

Danville, Va., Oct. 25 (Special).—Millie Lanier, 60-year-old negress, was killed instantly here yesterday when she stepped into an elevator shaft at the Noel tobacco factory, thinking the elevator platform was at that level. Her skull was fractured.

SHRINERS INITIATE 50 AT WINCHESTER

Gov. Byrd Is Leader of Class in Colorful Ceremonies Attended by 3,000.

DRILLS SUCCEED PARADE

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Oct. 25.—On their first pilgrimage to Winchester in twenty-odd years, nobles of the Mystic Shrine invaded this historic Civil War city today for a ceremonial at which a class of 50 was conducted across the mythical hot desert sands to Mecca. The class was headed by Gov. Harry F. Byrd, upon whom Scottish Rite degrees were conferred last week in the partly completed George Washington Memorial Temple at Alexandria. Nearly every section of Virginia was represented in the class. Two sessions were held by Acca Temple of Richmond, at the Colonial Theater, one in the late afternoon and the second early tonight, following a banquet for Shriners.

Approximately 3,000 men with red fez swarmed into the town from Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia. Cities represented included Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Wheeling, Cumberland and Hagerstown.

The Alexandria, Va., Shrine Club came in uniform, headed by the Alexandria Citizens' Band. Business buildings and electric lamp posts were decorated with national colors, bunting flags and shrine banners and pennants.

Following a parade, fancy drills and maneuvers were executed on city hall plaza by Acca Temple's legion of honor, under direction of Capt. E. W. Jordan, and Acca Temple patrol, under Capt. William C. Herbert.

The Acca Temple Band, Burton Mountcastle directing, played. The band, with Grace Cosby Huggins, of Richmond, as contralto soloist, gave a concert tonight before an audience of 2,000 in the Handley High School auditorium. The concluding feature was a dance for Shriners and their guests at the George Washington Hotel, given by the Winchester Shrine Club. The local club also gave away several barrels of sweet cider. Barrels were opened on street corners and apple juice was served to all comers.

Danville to Hear Campaigners.

Danville, Va., Oct. 25 (Special).—What is expected to be the last campaign address in Danville will be delivered next Monday night at the Capitol Theater when "Labor's Interest in the Present Campaign" will be discussed by R. T. Bowden, president of the Virginia Federation of Labor, and W. C. Creekmore, of Norfolk.

TOWNS ARE READY FOR ROAD OPENING

AUTO TOUR IS PLANNED

Preparations are complete and the Montgomery County communities between Laytonsville and Damascus are in readiness for the celebration today of the opening and dedication of the new 10-mile strip of State road which connects these communities.

The program will begin at 2:30 o'clock with the assemblage of a caravan of automobiles at Laytonsville for a tour of the new road. A short stop will be made at Etchison for a musical program by the four bands which will accompany the motorcade. The four bands are the Modern Woodmen of America Band of Laytonsville, King's Select Band, the Browningsville Band and King's Cornet Band.

The formal ceremonies will be held in the Damascus High School. Robert G. Hilton, chairman of the Democratic State central committee for Montgomery County and member of the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission, will act as chairman. The speakers will include Maj. E. Brooke Lee, speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates and County Democratic leader; Dr. George L. Edmonds, chairman of the Montgomery County delegation in the House of Delegates, and Police Judge Charles W. Woodward.

Denying that there had been any fraudulent intent in the transaction, Maj. E. Brooke Lee yesterday advised the Circuit Court at Rockville through his attorney, T. Howard Duckett, that he is prepared to return stock in the Maryland Publishing Co., which he bought at a private sale in the Silver Spring National Bank. John W. Coffman of Takoma Park, Md., was the plaintiff.

Judge Robert B. Peter, in a recent decision, held that the sale was voidable because there had been no public notice of the sale. The stock had been given as collateral security for a $600 loan and the sale was held in the hallway of the bank without due notice, according to the petition filed by Coffman.

Lee declared in his answer that he had purchased the stock in good faith and that he had been advised by legal counsel that the sale was within the rights of the bank and was conducted in good faith and with due regard to the rights of the plaintiff, but that in view of the court's ruling he is willing to return the stock on payment of the amount which he paid for the stock, $608 and such interest as the court will allow within the time limit set by the court.

The bank also denied that there had been anything fraudulent in the transaction and contended that the sale was fairly conducted with due regard to the rights of the plaintiff. The bank was represented by Cissel & Woodward, of Rockville.

The home of A. F. McKeever, on the Kensington-Wheaton road, was destroyed by fire yesterday. Its origin is unknown. The occupants of the house were warned by neighbors who saw the flames leaping from the roof. With their aid and that of firemen a large quantity of the furniture was removed from the building before the roof and walls colapsed.

McKeever said that the loss is largely covered by insurance, but that he could not accurately estimate the damage. The Kensington and Silver Spring Fire Departments were called but they found the fire had been whipped into a raging inferno by the stiff breeze and were unable to save any of the house.

The firemen were forced to fight hard to save adjoining property from destruction as the breeze blew sparks in all directions. Nearly 3,000 feet of hose were laid in order to get water by the Kensington company.

All Montgomery County teachers who attended the sessions of the Maryland State Teachers' Association yesterday and tomorrow at Baltimore have been granted leave of absence by the county board of education. Their classes were ordered dismissed for the two days.

Christian Endeavor Group to Convene

Danville, Va., Oct. 25.—The seventh annual convention of the Southern District Christian Endeavor Union will convene tomorrow at the South Boston Presbyterian Church for sessions lasting through the following day.

Among those on the program will be W. Roy Briggs, of Atlanta, Southern secretary; W. H. Barker, Newport News, treasurer; J. W. Paxton, Danville, retired missionary to China.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LUELLA was looking over her wardrobe. There was a tear in her eye as she surveyed the skirts of knee-length, the gowns and frocks of yesteryear that go out of style, automatically, by the dictates of Parisian couturiers, those cutters and designers who herald the long skirt, fitted hips and high waistline.

"I think it's terrible," mourned Luella, "Look at these pretty dresses—and all doomed. Unless, of course, the women of America stand together and refuse to be guided by Paris styles——"

Not for me to break in on a subject like this; nevertheless, I couldn't resist the temptation: "Why don't you do as we menfolk do," I challenged, "and tell the designers and setters of style to go to——"

"Go to?" asked Luella. "Go to? How can we? After all, styles are styles!"

"You mean to tell me, you who look so sweet, and so young, and so beautiful in your little knee-length skirts, flapping to the breezes, are going to forsake all this freedom of the knees merely because some French fathead says——"

* * * * *

LUELLA held up a hand in warning. "Now don't start swearing," she said. "If there's any strong language to be used around here, I'm the one entitled to use it. Look at this wardrobe—lost, beyond recall."

"Why is it lost?"

"Because——" She could go no further. She put her head on my shoulder and wept.

Luella is mighty handy with the needle, so I suggested that she alter some of the gowns and save them—in the face of impending disaster.

"It can't be done," she said. "You can't make short skirts long by cutting them, and you can't lift low waistlines to the elbow level. Oh it's dreadful——"

These fashion factories get my goat. If a woman feels like wearing short dresses, why can't she do it? Especially if she happens to look good in them!

"It's because women won't stick together," cried Luella. "The tall girls do look good in the long dresses, and the smaller girls look better in the short ones. It seems the taller girls are in the majority, or, at least, it's their year and they are ordering the long skirts. So we are doomed."

* * * * *

POOR LUELLA. It almost broke my heart to see the anguish in her eyes. Ordinarily, I would have told her to go out and lay in a supply of dresses, fresh from the countryside—but this recent turmoil in the stock market didn't do me any good at all. So, whether she knows it or not, Luella must wear her short skirts, the while the other lassies bow to the dictates of fashion and ooze along in their long, flowing robes, emblems of their slavery to fashion.

"Why don't you go on strike?" I asked Luella. "Refuse to wear in America what some nit-wit in France says is good form? If some old girls want to hide their legs, let 'em—it'll help make Washington the city beautiful, but you stick to the shorts!" I might as well make her satisfied, since she has to wear the old dresses anyway.

"There's something to that," mused Luella. So I look for an indignation meeting at our house any day. Luella has already gone so far as to call the couturieres of Paris just plain "cooties."

HELP IN ILLITERACY WARFARE OFFERED

Virginia University Division Prepares Circulars on Adult Teaching.

CENSUS WILL BE TAKEN

University, Va., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Aid in reducing illiteracy in Virginia has been offered the State board of education by the extension division of the University of Virginia.

George B. Zehmer, division director, has announced that his office has prepared circulars on ways and means of teaching adult illiterates and already has arranged to distribute package libraries bearing on the subject. Those who are interested in organizing classes of adult illiterates may secure help from Director Zehmer.

According to Harris Hart, superintendent of public instruction, 11 per cent of the total population over 10 years old are classed as illiterates. The total number of adult illiterates, latest figures show, is 195,159, with the total number of persons over 10 years of age set at 1,748,868.

The number of native white illiterates, says Hart, is 70,000, or 5 per cent; the number of foreign born illiterates 2,150, or 7 per cent; and the number of Negro illiterates 122,000, or 23 per cent.

Under a program of the board of education, a census of adult illiteracy is being taken this year through the public schools with the idea of gaining information on every case of illiteracy among mature persons. Following completion of the census, classes are to be organized to wipe out the evil. Regular teachers and other interested individuals are assisting in this step of the program.

Books to lighten the teachers' burdens have been prepared and are to be distributed for the purpose of making the task of bringing the 195,159 persons into the literacy class much simpler than it would appear to be.

This university extension division is aiding in this latter phase of the work.

Farm Tobacco Barns Are Looted by Thieves

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Oct. 25.—Theft of tobacco from the packing barns of farmers is on the increase. Three thefts amounting to several hundred dollars have been reported to the police.

Under cover of night cars are driven to the barns, the leaf loaded onto the machines which usually are driven to some remote market and sold quickly.

DEATH DEMANDED IN ASSAULT TRIAL

Danville Man Fights for His Life Against Charges of Girl, 10.

CHILD PLACED ON STAND

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Oct. 25.—The State of Virginia today asked for the life of Purcell Nester in the event a jury in the corporation court finds him guilty of a criminal attack on Louvena Heffinger, a 10-year-old child, last September. The jury was secured in two hours, an extra venire being necessary on account of the number of scruples against the death penalty or fixed opinions claimed.

Indications this evening were that the case will run well into tomorrow afternoon. Witnesses were being examined slowly and relentlessly and there were fully 30 awaiting call. The prospect of the case going into Sunday was considered by the court, Judge Henry Leigh saying he would adjourn the case over until Monday in that eventuality. The jury tonight was housed at a hotel.

Louvena Heffinger, in a dainty frock and a red tam, sat in the presence of the jury and fifteen other persons permitted in the courtroom this evening and told the story of her alleged mistreatment. She said that George Hammock, indicted as an accessory after the fact, had given her whisky to drink and sent her to Nester's home accompanied by the defendant. She said that on reaching the house she was lifted through a window, and then entered into the story of alleged mistreatment. She was placed in a strategic position, with no one before her but the jury, composed for the most part of fatherly men. She was a witness for three-quarters of an hour, trivial incidents of her life being discussed to build up a courtroom confidence.

The defense is offering the plea that Nester was intoxicated on the night of the affair and knows nothing of what happened. In opening, the defense counsel hinted that there would be evidence disclosing the possibility of some other persons committing the crime.

Cross-examination of the girl drew the admission that the police have been kind to her since recovery and that she has rehearsed the story told the jury today, "lots of times." She was questioned closely on the subject of being given whisky by Hammock. Medical testimony of the grave condition of the child, who for five days was in a hospital, and witnesses in support of the State's claim that Nester planned the alleged deed and immediately afterwards sensed that he would be sought by the law, were heard this evening.

Posible penalities under the law range from death and life imprisonment to five years.
